SCA Rejects Two Changes

Members of the Student Council killed the proposed amendments numbered 1 and 3 below when they met last Tuesday. CHHSers will vote on the remaining four changes sometime in the near future. If the changes are passed (each will be voted upon individually) by a two-thirds majority of the students, they will go into effect immediately.

Signatures of 10 per cent of the CHHS student body were required on petitions supporting the amendments before they could come before the SCA.

The six amendments which the Student Council voted upon are as follows:

1-The clerk of the Honor Council must be a member of the senior class.

2-The monitor system will be enforced by the Honor Council on an optional basis.

3-The head cheerleader, the editor-in-chief of the Hilllife, and the editor of the Proconian will be non-voting members of the Student Council, with the power of recommendation only.

4-The Chief Justice of the Honor Council will have a vote in the Student Council.

5-The Club Committee will consist of a representative, preferably the president, from each of the clubs, in addition to the student council members who are on the committee.

6-The chairman of the elections committee shall be the president of the Student Council.

Dietician Is College Queen

Last July, Mrs. Dorothy VanEgmond began her job as dietician for the Chapel Hill city schools.

She is young, just out of school; her short curly hair is brown, and her complexion, rosy. Mrs. VanEgmond first attended "Ole Miss," where she was a cheerleader and Miss University of Mississippi. Then, after receiving an M.S. degree, she went on to a Baptist college to get her B.S. in home economics.

Daughter is Character

She and her husband, who is a graduate student in English, live in Victory Village, "the new part," and have a daughter two years old. "She's quite a character," Mrs. VanEgmond says, in her soft, southern voice. "She's all boy except for sex."

Mrs. VanEgmond enjoys her job of planning menus and purchasing food. "It's difficult because our budget is so limited. It can get you down. We're always ready for complaints that will help, though, and, once in a while, for a compliment."

Mrs. VanEgmond Wants to Please

"We do want to please, but it's hard to please everyone. So often, when students go through the line, if something looks bad,

Newton, Kaylor Most Naive

If many seniors were seen frantically looking at their classmates pictures in old copies of the Hilllife recently and eagerly consulting with each other about mimeographed sheets of paper which bore signs of multiple erasures, the confusion was due only to their eagerness to select the "Most's" in their class. Senior Superlatives were chosen November 1, and 80-90 of the 140 ballots were returned to the Proconian.

The seniors named Bea Johansson and Kenny Oettinger the Most Carefree in a tribute to their light-hearted spirits, while they labeled Nancy Newton and Joel Kaylor, Most Naive.

The upperclassmen acknowledged the loquaciousness of Lee Milner and Gordon Cleveland by selecting them Most Talkative. Betty K. Hooker and George Costello, on the other hand, were found to be the Quietest.

Seniors recognized pianist Norva McKnight and drummer Mike Bounds as the Most Musical, while they selected Judy Jernigan and Charles House as the Best Dancers.

Neal Ashcraft and Rusty Edmister were praised as the Most Energetic, and creativity won Bev Allen and Dave Straley the title Most Original.

Peggy Sparrow and Robert Oakes are the Cutest seniors, while Andy Beaty and Tom Broadfoot were acknowledged Teachers' Pets. Pranksters Helen Heusner and John Fox were tagged Most Mischievous by their classmates, and agile-minded Joan McAllister and Zan Ritchie received the title Wittiest.

Most Dignified Bet Taylor and George Costello were also cited as the Most Courteous.

Sue Ellen Terrill and Rusty Edmister teamed up to be selected both Helpful and Most

Car Wash Success; Play in Production

DAVID LITTLE and George Thompson work industriously on one of the 100-odd cars which were washed at the Junior Class Car Wash, October 28. In the second picture, David McConnell finds that it's a long way to bend down from 6'7" to a hub cap.

Having pocketed $98.02 from their October 28 carwash, the juniors continue planning projects to raise funds for the Junior-Senior prom in the spring.

Tentatively they have booked a powder-puff football game between the junior and senior girls and a movie, possibly during November, said President John Alcott. Bake sales will continue for approximately three weeks, and the class hopes to sponsor a basketball game between the junior and senior boys.

In answer to duty's call, many juniors have already taken roles in the junior class musical, "The Singing Freshmen," set for December 9.

Wally Shytle will play Gordon, a country boy going to college. Ann Cleveland plays Mary, a co-ed who meets a princess while she is traveling abroad; Tone Lunaas as the princess who comes to college and falls in love with Gordon.

College Boys Portrayed

Gordon Ryan, George Thompson, Charles Jennings, Skip Hudson, David Little, and Henry Turlington portray college boys in the supporting cast.

Richard Ellington is cast as dean of Yalenoa College, and Jock Lauterer, as a soda shop owner whose part-time job is match-making.

McAllister is Quay

Dwight McAllister as Quay, the Princess' advisor, and Johnny Gouger as a robber round out the male cast. Toni Dorfman and Cindy Kouns as co-eds complete the female cast.

The play is under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Culbreath, music teacher, and Mrs. King Kouns, dramatics coach.

Sonny Picked

Congratulations to Sonny McIver, CHHS's all-conference football player! Sonny, a co-captain of the '61 Wildcats, fills the center position in the District Three, Class 3-A, All-Conference team.

Tom Broadfoot, tackle; Gene Williams, halfback; and Don Smith, quarterback, were given honorable mention in the selections made by the Durham Morning Herald.

Students Collect $1104 for UNICEF In UCYM's Annual Halloween Drive

SUSAN PRINCE looks dazed by the large pile of pennies collected in the recent UNICEF drive while Mary Beth Coker gloats over the money which she is bringing in by the fistful.

CHHSers began gathering at the high school gym at 7:00 P.M., October 31, preparatory to canvassing Chapel Hill in the annual United Christian Youth Movement sponsored UNICEF drive. 300-odd students participated in the collection which netted the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund some $1104.

Although the total was slightly short of the $1200 goal, Cynthia Seawell, president of the UCYM, stated that "We felt that the drive was a success even though we didn't reach our goal."

Volunteers were given official tags and milk cartoons for the donations. Under the direction of UNICEF chairman Ellen Mullis, they were divided into groups to cover the various UNICEF areas in Chapel Hill and Carrboro.

Following the drive, UNICEFers met in the planetarium parking lot where they turned in the money which they had collected and relaxed with soft drinks.

SUE ELLEN Terrill and Rusty Edmister energetically try to brighten up the school as they illustrate the two superlatives which they won jointly: Most Helpful and Most Efficient.

Efficient.

Kathy Jenner and Tom Broadfoot were recognized as the Biggest Flirts, and Betty K. Hooker and Larry Kenney's retiring ways earned them the tag Most Bashful. Easy-to-get-along-with Judy Timmons and Rusty Edmister were titled Most Congenial, while Julie Falconer and Sonny McIver were found the Friendliest.

Rec Cards Sold

The honor society, initiated at CHHS last spring, plans regular meetings every six weeks at the homes of members. Programs will be directed by the vice-president.

Recreation cards are now being sold to members of the student body for 50 cents, according to Gordon Cleveland, head of the Recreation Council. They may be purchased from any member of the Recreation Council.

Officers elected at the October 23 meeting include Lyman Riperton, president; Jerri Eller, vice-president; and Norva McKnight, secretary-treasurer.

No one will be admitted to any re-sponsored activity without a membership card. Purchasers must sign the card and promise to follow the rules determined by the council. There are both junior and senior high school divisions. -MLB

Members elected to the honor society must maintain an A average in first-year Spanish and a B average in Spanish II. "Eligible students will be inducted into

Money-making is the main goal of the sophomore class, claim this year's sophomore class officers.

Deedee Whitney, sophomore class secretary and a lover of modern jazz and sports, is interested in making money for all activities which the sophomore class participates in.

President Ann Cotterill states, "We plan to make money by giving a carnival in several months. Later on this year we are planning a movie and maybe a cartoon show."

Bream Treasurer

Johnston Plans Projects
Vice-president Doug Johnston, who is interested in the Hilllife and Student Council activities, went on to say, "We plan to raise money toward making the '63 Junior-Senior the best one we can." Doug believes that "everyone in the sophomore class has some talent we can use."

Treasurer Peter Bream, whose business in the sophomore class is money, claims that making money is secondary while first on his list is "promoting school spirit in our class while we participate in school activities."

Billy Horn, the associate justice, would like to promote a sense of honor and trust in the people with whom he is associated. -HT
