Diocesanwide Good Bread

The Trappists Monks of the Order of Strict Observance have a is the main staple in their diet.

Housewives in North Carolina will have an opportunity to buy the next few weeks.

The Monks have given permis- lations through the years. sion to various bakers around the

to make their famous bread in Phillipine Islands after his ordinareturn for royalties on each loaf sold. So the monks are making dough both ways . .

Fort Bragg-Mission

The Catholic Mission, scheduled for 5 to 17 March 1961 at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, will have several score years of experience in missionary work represented in the four Oblate Fathers who will conduct the mission. Their experience represents many years abroad and at home including both missionary activities and retreats.

Father James V. Clancy, O.M.I., attended the Cathedral and Canisius College and Catholic University, and has spent many years since history for baking delicious bread. his ordination preaching missions Their order does not permit them in this country. He was in the to eat meat, fish or eggs so bread service from 1944 to 1946 and during this period was on duty abroad. Father Thomas Morrin, O.M.I., is a native of Boston Mass., and this famous bread called Monk's was ordained at Catholic Universi-Bread from their local stores in ty in Washington, D.C. tion in 1941. During the war he was interned in the prison camp at St. Thomas and after his release continued his activities at Cotabato. He has conducted missions in all parts of the country since 1951.

Father Nelson Hamilton, O.M.I., like Father Clancy, has conducted missions in the Phillipine Islands during 1948 and 1949. Ordained in 1941 he was at one time editor of the "Oblate World." Since the time in the Phillipines he has preached missions in all parts of the country.

The mission schedule for the women will be from the 5th to the 11th of March and from the 12th to the 17th for the men. Four daily masses will be held with the solemn benediction at the close of each mission.

Baby sitting services will be available without charge for the people attending the missions. Special missions will be held for the children on the 11th of March and for High School Students on the 12th.
