Music Department Concludes Busy Year

BELMONT—The Music Department of Sacred Heart College has concluded a successful year under the direction of Sister Mary Cecilia. This summer also promises to be an active one.

Three students, Dennis Stabler, Charles Austen and Karen Leatherman won national honors in organ solos.

Dennis Stabler enters Furman University in the fall to major in church music. He was awarded a four-year music scholarship from Furman to attend that college on the basis of performance, musical background, musical potential and scholastic standing.

Charles Austin is the recipient of a Lineberger Foundation scholarship and will enter UNC-G in the fall to major in organ.

TYRONE MOORE won the "King of Music Contest" for the Southern District of the North Carolina Music Teachers Association and later placed first in the state for this honor.

He was awarded the Robert J. Gurney Scholarship of $100 for his achievement. He will work for a Bachelor of Music degree in piano at St. Andrew's College in Laurinburg. Tyrone also won a scholarship of $1000 offered by the Gastonia Music Education Foundation scholarship competition.

Sacred Heart students participated in the annual auditions sponsored by the Charlotte Piano

Teachers Forum. Winning honors in this event this year were Chappy Stowe on the junior level and Tyrone Moore on the senior level. Tyrone won the $100 scholarship given each year to the graduating senior who achieves a superior rating in the auditions. All students are tested in theory and must make an honor grade to win recognition. Tyrone appeared on the Kilgo television show and played with Chappy in the honors' recital at the Forum meeting in May.

STUDENTS FROM Sacred Heart also entered in the Mint Museum "Young Artist" auditions. The auditions with a concert and study award grants as prizes, are offered through the Harold C. and Mary Myers Dwelle Educational Foundation.

Cardinal Leger Suggests Rules For Ecumenism

MONTREAL, Que. — (NC) — The ecumenical movement needs action rather than just words, Paul Emile Cardinal Leger told the 18th biennial congress of North and South America here.

The Montreal prelate suggested three rules for activating "noble sentiments."

The first, he labelled "The Principle of Self-Discipline." Under this rule, he said, a person should "say nothing and do nothing that will be contrary to the ecumenical ideal and the eager search for Christian unity."

The second rule, he suggested, would require Christians to act "together every time we can." Paraphrasing President Kennedy, he explained this rule by saying, "Let us not ask ourselves what the other churches should do to encourage Christian unity, let us rather ask what God expects us to do ourselves."

The third rule would require prayer to accompany all efforts toward unity. It will be prayer, the cardinal said, that finally "keeps us united and confident in our efforts."
