FR. WILLIAM O'BYRNE COUNCIL, JACKSONVILLE: For the third time within the Fraternal year Fr. O'Byrne Council will have exemplification of the First Degree on Monday, Dec. 18 at the Council quarters when a class of approximately 10 candidates will receive the degree. The Council has already passed its quota for the 1967-68 year, and is still rolling towards the largest membership drive in the Council's history. An Open House will be held on Monday, Dec. 11.

Deputy Grand Knight Robert E. Blum has been named General Chairman of the 'Design '69' Program — a membership recruitment campaign announced by our Supreme Knight at the 85th annual Supreme Convention in Montreal, Canada. The goal is set for 200,000 new Knights during the two-year program to end in 1969.

The Jacksonville Council cleared approximately $300.00 towards the Seminarian Fund as a result of its annual Turkey Raffle in which five persons won turkeys, as well as the sellers of the winning tickets. It was the most successful raffle in years.

PIEDMONT COUNCIL 939 GREENSBORO: There was a large attendance at the Annual Memorial Mass held on Thanksgiving Day for deceased Brother Knights at Our Lady of Grace Church at 8 a.m. . . . "A Special 'Thank You' to Paul and 'Tootsie' Nobert for the very fine and enjoyable Pre-Holiday Social Hour that preceded our Columbus Day Dinner Dance." A financial report shows that "a profit of $150.73 was realized for the William B. Gaston Memorial." . . . "The Knights of Columbus News" of Piedmont Council has a new face on the Council Bulletin. It is outstanding, and congratulations are extended to MARIE, wife of Brother ED STERN, who designed the format. . . . "Our Grand Knight announces the acceptance of the Catholic Activity Chairmanship by Past Grand Knight LEO J. KELLEHER, JR. A Speakers Bureau to be available to speak to non-Catholic groups has been started and three invitations already accepted. Nice going Leo."

ADVANCE NOTICE: Worthy State Deputy GEORGE LUND, JR., advises all Grand Knights that the STATE COUNCIL MID-YEAR MEETING will be held in RALEIGH on SUNDAY, JANUARY 21. You can make your preparations now to attend, and bring any other members with you. Your General Program Chairman should have a Progress Report of your Council's activity available for Brother RAY ROHLFS, State Program Chairman.

Cites Study, Act For Students

NEW BERN — Copies of the Holy Bible were presented to a group of students of St. Paul's Parish here from which they will study the scriptures. The ceremony took place in the chapel of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Sisters on Sunday, November 12.

The Young Christians proceeded into the chapel singing "They Will Know We are Christians by Our Love" and placed their Bibles on the altar as a symbol of their commitment to study the words of Christ and to listen to Him and then go and witness to all peoples.

Father Richard Holloman, administrator at William Gaston High School here, blessed the Bibles and gave a homily concerning the importance of hearing the message of Jesus through the study of scripture.

After a few moments of prayer the students recessed into the convent parlor for dialogue. Sister Immaculate Mary, I.H.M. is moderator of the Young Christian Students Organization.

Rev. Thomas P. Hadden, Pastor, has given his blessing upon the activities of these students, as well as other young people who are committed to bear witness to Christ in the world today.

Paul Society and they engage in acts of direct and personal charity. The Charlotte group serves as an auxiliary to Catholic Social Services including care and transportation of foster babies and unwed mothers as well as home visitations to the aged and others confined to their beds.

Mrs. Helen M. Allen, Buried

Lumberton—Requiem Mass of burial was offered here for the late Mrs. Helen Meyer Allen, widow of Edmund A. Allen, Jr. last week in St. Francis de Sales church. The Reverend John Bursis, S.A., officiated.

Mrs. Allen, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Von-Meyer, spent her childhood at Bolton where her father operated a lumber business. She graduated from Sacred Heart Academy at Belmont and was recently employed here by J. C. Nobles, realtor. She is survived by a daughter, Helen Mary Allen, a student at East Carolina University; and one son, Edmund Allen, III, of the home.

Gives Anaconda Invocation

Tarboro—The invocation for the dedication of the new six and a half million dollar Anaconda Company plant here was given recently by the Rev. Justin P. Pechulis, pastor of St. Catherine's church here. Following the ceremony he was entertained at a dinner with the president of the company and the Governor of the state.

The parish Benefit Bazaar is being held in the educational building on December 2, and Catholics of the area are invited to attend.

techniques and designs of the new period of reconstruction. Anything of value was put to use, having been re-fashioned or set aside in a place especially designed to receive it. In the diocese here, many of our small mission churches have been the recipients of furnishings of a "cast-off" nature from the immense churches "of the north."

In this period of transition of church design and furnishing, let us not be too hasty in cleaning out the store-room of items made sacred by long devotional use, and later see our missal stand of three years ago, holding a copy of Webster's Unabridged on a library table in some decorator's studio.

Speculates on Future Changes

Only those universities and seminaries with plenty of resources and highly qualified liturgists, theologians, Scripture men, musicians and experts in other allied fields will be considered if the permission is granted," the archbishop continued.

"This is not to be confused in any way with wild and individualistic campus liturgies done without study, planning or authority. They are a rather obvious fad, satisfying to whims and personal choices, but lacking in the reverence due God and the awareness of the need of the ordinary man," he said.

Arts Need Discipline

"Art, poetry and music can be creative and spontaneous, but also disciplined," he added. "Liturgy too can be creative and spontaneous without being ludicrous. It is our attempt to create channels where prayerful men and women can express themselves in the worship of God," Archbishop Hallinan commented.
