'Marse' Hill Succumbs At 90

As the sun was setting January 11, 1968, a kind messenger came in answer to the long and fervent prayer of Worshipful Brother Millard Filmore Hill and he was transposed from our finite world to God's celestial realm.

Worshipful Brother Hill was born March 10, 1877 in Johnston County. He came to Oxford January 12, 1886 with an older brother and was admitted to Oxford Orphanage. There he received his formal education which included the craftsmanship of shoemaking, and remained until his sixteenth birthday. He returned to Oxford Orphanage September 1, 1899 to accept the position as Manager of the Shoe Department and Instructor in shoemaking. He remained in this capacity for 51 years, until his retirement in 1950. During these years he earned the proud title of "Marse" as his affectionate appellation.

The history of Oxford Orphanage is almost the story of Brother Marse Hill. No stick or stone was turned without his part therein. No child came into the Orphanage family without the imprint of our beloved brother. Through the years Oxford Orphanage was such a major part of his devotion, the Alumni Association referred to him as "Mr. Oxford Orphanage."

Worshipful Brother Hill was initiated in Oxford Lodge No. 122 May 15, passed June 2 and raised June 19, 1902. He served three terms as Master of his lodge and was renowned for his knowledge of Masonic Law. He received the fifty year veteran's award from the Grand Lodge June 30, 1952. The sixty year Diamond Jubilee award was presented November 12, 1962.

Brother Hill stood strong and tall in bearing and in work. He was
