ONE CREDITOR WHO WAS NOT DEMANDING PAYMENT

He was a colored farm tenant. He was in debt to his landlord and certain time merchants. He was a product of the tenant system. He owned his soul, but not his soles. He stood on a hymn. Then a tambourine was held out to him. He ignored it. "Just can't," he said repeatedly. "You owe it to the Lord," he was told. "Yes, I know, but He ain't pushing me like the rest," he said.

The faster a man's pace, the sooner old age overtakes him.

The Bible is to humanity what the compass is to the traveler

YOU DON'T HAVE TO TELL IT—THEY KNOW IT

You don't have to tell how you live each day, You don't have to say if you work or you play; A tried, true barometer serves in the place— However you live, it will show in your face.

The false, the deceit, that you bear in your heart Will not stay inside where it first got its start; For sinew and blood are a thin veil of lace— What you wear in your heart you wear in your face.

If you've gambled and won in the great game of life, If you feel you have conquered the sorrow and strife;

If you've played the game fair and you stand on first base—

You don't have to say so, it shows on your face.

If you dissipate nights till the day is most nigh, There is only one tattler, and one that won't lie; Since your facial barometer is right in its place— You don't have to tell folks, it shows in your face.
