

"OH THESE HEAVY BOOKS!" moans Sandra Carver as Eddie Gentry, Randy Knott, Mickey Clayton, and Johnny Clayton seem to be appreciating her efforts. This will be a common complaint to be heard among all the RHS girls as Twirp Week arrives March 24 through 29.

Drama Club Production; A Little More Than Glamour

"There's no business like show business." That's what the song says, but there's a lot more to opening night than glitter and glamour. The Curtain Callers of RHS are presenting the play "Death Takes A Holiday" March 26 and 27.

Mr. John Bell, art teacher at RHS, is the director of the production with Connie Crowder, president of the Drama Club, as his assistant.

Debra Clark is taking on the job of stage manager. There are other jobs—which require crews as well as department heads. Head of the make-up committee is Sarah Garrard. Eddie Oakley works as head of the props committee. For the costume committee, Joan Warren

Two to Attend Tri-Hi-Y Convention in April

The Tri-Hi-Y's and the Hi-Y's of North Carolina and South Carolina will hold their first convention in Montreat, North Carolina, April 19 and 20.

During those two days the members will have panel discussions and group discussions where a small group of members discuss their role in the Tri-Hi-Y or Hi-Y.

They also will attend leadership classes, where the various groups will exchange their ideas and what they do as projects.

Carolyn Hall, president of the RHS Tri-Hi-Y said that two rising senior members and possibly an adult will attend this convention.

Herd In the Halls

Randy Long being expelled for improper mufflers in the halls . . . Those free-loaders, Bob Slaughter and Charles Bowes, hopping from table to table taking food from friends (and enemies) . . . Carl Jones being locked in the bathroom and almost having to stay until the rest of the basketball team returned at 12:00. Carl reported to Mrs. Cannon, "It was such a horrible incident I haven't been able to do my English for a week!" . . . Seniors Joan Hawkins and Celeste Montague still complaining about the color of the cap and gowns, Royal Blue???. As for the Seniors, Mrs. F. Johnston heard saying, "If this Senior Class doesn't graduate, it will be the worst thing that could happen to this school!" Any Comment Seniors???

is in charge. The technical director is Richard Dickerson. Each of these department heads work with a crew of 3-5 people.

The actors for this presentation are Cora, Janie Carver; Fedele, Robert Carver; Duke Lamber, Harold Perry; Alda, Betsy Both; Duchess Stephanie, Vivian Scott; Princess of San Luca, Edith Whitfield; Baron Cesarea, Hayden Newell; Eric Fenton, John Garrard; Rhoda Fenton, Shirley Carver; Corrado, Steve Teague; Grazia, Sarah Garrard; Major Whitread, John Harris.

Mr. Bell, one of the sponsors of the Curtain Callers sums up the job of the actors as this, "They are on the stage for two purposes. One, for the audience to see them. Second, for the audience to hear them."

RHS Track Season To Open In March; Lettermen Return

The Rocket track team will officially open their 1969 track season with a meet at Reidsville on March 21.

Coach Larry Dixon will be looking for a good number of boys when practice starts. Five lettermen head the list of returnees. They are shot puter, discus thrower Christ Teague; quarter-milers Rob Fitzgerald and Rod Lattie; miler Jimmy Wilkens; and sprinter Eddie Gentry.

Heading the list of returning non-lettermen are 880 men, John Garrard and Tom Fitzgerald; shot puter, Rike Hunt and Mac Blanks; discus throwers, Gene Thomas and Randy Broach; and pole vaulter, Hayden Newell. New prospects are sprinter Tony Satterfield and miler Lee Lawson.

RHS Library Club to Attend Annual Meeting in Durham

The Roxboro High School Library Club is making plans to attend the twenty-second annual convention of the North Carolina High School Library Association April 11 through 12. RHS will send at least five delegates to this convention.

This year for the 1969 Convention, the largest high school association in the state, Durham High School Library Club will be the official host. The theme for this year's convention will be "A Closer Look At Libraries." The convention will be held at the Jack Tar Hotel in Durham, North Carolina.

Roxboro High School Library Club will be just one of the many high schools to attend. Durham High School is asking each club to contribute two prizes to be given away during the convention. There are expected to be around eight hundred people at the convention.

Each club in the district is asked to be responsible for certain duties during the convention. For Friday's session RHS is responsible for the stage decorations.

RHS Students Show Promise Of Becoming Fine Teachers

Six RHS students are presently displaying promise of being fine future teachers of America. These students, Helen James, Janet Gravitte, Shelby Wiley, Gail Blalock, Gary Green, and Donna Garrett carry out the traditional project of the FTA (Future Teachers of America) as being student teachers.

They began their student teaching in January and will continue till the end of the year.

In student teaching you pick the room you would like to teach with the assistance of Mr. Douglas Gray, principal of Morgan Street School, and continue in that room till the end of the year. You also have a choice of what subjects you would like to teach.

Presently these 5 girls and 1 boy are teaching from one to three days a week.

Qualifications for the becoming a student teacher are that you have to be a junior or senior, you have to have a study hall and have to be a member of the FTA. Any student can become a member of the FTA.

The only problem these students seem to have found is learning the names of all the students in their classes and keeping them straight.

When asked what the most important trait a teacher should have Donna Garrett responded with patience above all, Gail Blalock with a good personality and ability to get along with others and Gary Green with courage.

Twirp Week Turns Tables Girls Slave for Boys

Twirp Week is coming to Roxboro High School the last week in March. Etiquette book manners will be abandoned at this time, and girls will perform the common courtesies which are generally expected of boys.

All during this week the girls at RHS will become the slaves of RHS boys who may force them to carry books, open doors, carry lunch trays, pull out chairs, help them off and on with their coats, and walk them to class.

Those girls not complying with such wishes of the boys, their names will go into the traditional complaint box. It is in this box that boys can deposit any complaint they have against any girl who doesn't meet their demands.

These girls will then be tried and punished at Kangaroo Court on Friday night. Kangaroo Court will be just one of the several events which will climax a week of change for RHS students.

Ginger Dunkley, who is in charge of this project, says that this year's Twirp Week should be the best ever.

Junior is High Scorer In National Contest

Joan Ashley, a junior at Roxboro High School, is a high scorer among 2,500,000 participants in the Time Magazine National 1969 Current Affairs Contest.

The Current Affairs Test is based on significant news stories in Time and is comprised of 100 questions on national and foreign affairs, as well as business, sports, entertainment, science, religion, literature, and the arts.

Other RHS students scoring high on the test are Tim Sergeant, Emmett Wilkerson, Tom Fitzgerald, Janet Gravitte, and Mac Wagstaff.

All top scorers will be awarded certificates of excellence and merit from James R. Shepley, Publisher of Time, The Weekly Magazine.

Key Club to Attend Two State Meeting

Fifteen RHS Key Clubbers will attend a two-state convention in March. The Key Club is planning to charter a bus to go to the Carolina's District Convention which is being held in Charleston, South Carolina, March 14-16. The meetings will be held in Convention Hall in downtown Charleston.

Boys attending are Martin Vernon, Tommy Rogers, Tommy Humphries, Brooks Langston, Chris Teague, Randy Knott, David Norwood, John Hall, Scott Pollock, Rick Hunt, Jimmy Wilkins, Pat Riley, Neal Hanlett, Dan Lawrence and Emmett Wilkerson. Mr. and Mrs. Earle Johnson will accompany the group.

Four RHS Students to Attend SIPA Convention in Lexington

Four RHS students, Eleanor Hill, Edith Whitfield, and Sharon Dickerson will attend the 40th annual convention of the Southern Interscholastic Press Association, April 1-2 at Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia.

The Southern Interscholastic Press Association, founded in 1925, is sponsored by the Lee Memorial Journalism Foundation of Washington and Lee University for the purpose of uniting, in a common organization, scholastic journalists from the southern states.

Delegates to SIPA have an opportunity to hear men nationally known in their profession, to increase their practical knowledge of journalistic work, and to share their publishing experiences with scholastic journalists from other parts of the South.

Any student or faculty advisor associated with any publication in a high school in the South is invited to the annual convention of SIPA. Those especially invited are editors, business managers, faculty advisors, staff writers, artists, photographers, and radio personnel.

The size of each delegation is determined by the number of publications represented at the convention. RHS, represented by two publications, will be limited to five student delegates and two advisors.

"YEOOW!" yells Joanne Riley, workroom secretary, as she runs off one of Mr. Shelley's English tests on her arm.
