

Lockers At Last For Raleigh High Schools

Parent-Teachers of Senior High Succeed in Getting Lockers Promised by Board

The Junior and Senior High Schools are at last going to have lockers. Each student keeps his coat, hat, etc., in them, and he is to have a key. They will be removed to the new High School when it is completed. This suggestion was made at the recent Parent-Teachers meeting and was submitted to the school board with this result.

A motion picture machine is being installed in the new Wiley School and moving pictures will be shown every Friday night.

Thompson School has already started having pictures and the admission is only ten cents. The pictures are just as good as you get up town for fifty cents. The public is invited to attend these shows.

Children's Book Week To Be Observed Soon

Raleigh Will Through the Olivia Raney Library Devote a Week to Young People's Reading

Book Week in Raleigh will be observed from November 10 to 15. This week is being observed in this way in order that children may learn to select good books for reading. The plan was advanced and worked out five years ago by the National Association of Book Publishers, the American Library Association, and the Boy Scouts. This week has been observed in other cities during the five years preceding this, and now Raleigh is to have its first real Book Week.

A program has been made for the entire time. Monday is Girls' Day. There will be a talk by Miss Jennie Trapier on Books for Girls. An exhibit of girls' books is to be displayed at the library on Monday. Tuesday is Boys' Day. At the library that day there will be an exhibit of books suitable for boys. Wednesday is Fathers' and Sons' Day. A play will be presented by the children of Raleigh. The name of the play is "Trial on Brook Hill." The theme of this play is the proper care of books. Robert Louis Stevenson Day will be observed on Thursday, November 13, as it is this author's birthday. A special exhibit of his books will be displayed. On Friday there will be a luncheon at the Woman's Club in charge of Mrs. R. W. Green, who is at the head of the Home Economics Department of the Woman's Club. After the luncheon the play, "Trial on Brook Hill" will be presented again. Miss Breed will speak at the Woman's Club and at the Parent-Teachers Association meetings at the various schools on Juvenile Books. Afterwards slides about the care of books will be shown at the library. Saturday, the last day, there will be a talk by Miss Breed on Friends in Books.

This week is observed not only for small children but for any one who is interested in the work that is to be done for the Children's Library. Several department stores and organizations, namely, Boylan-Pierce Company, Hudson-Belk Company, Thompson Electrical Company, Young Women's Christian Association and the Young Men's Christian Association, will help make this week a success. At the next Girl Reserve meeting there will be a discussion of books. The Junior Girl Reserves are to have a book party to help advertise Book Week. The various churches of Raleigh are taking up the subject of Books on Sunday. Essays will be written in the high schools and posters will be made in the grammar grades.
Book Week was observed last year, but this year it has been planned more elaborately and Raleigh is going to make a success of it.

Girl Reserves Doing Good Work in Schools

Future Programs of Interest to be Carried Out by the Organization

The Girl Reserves is an organization for high school girls, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the Girl Reserves is to develop the ideals of high school girls, to make them the best kind of women, and to give them a chance for self-expression through activities that it plans. The Girl Reserves purpose, as expressed by the movement, is to find and give the best. The slogan is to face life squarely.

The local Girl Reserves Club is the Girl Reserves Club of the High School. A club meeting is held every other Monday; a cabinet meeting one Monday and a business meeting one Monday.

The Girl Reserves try to have two hikes a month—one all-day hike and one afternoon hike.

The Girl Reserves are divided into four groups: (1) Social, (2) Program, (3) Service, and (4) Membership. Each group has a chairman. One part of these meetings are given over to business and the report of the committees.

The next program of the Girl Reserves will be "Personal Habits." The next will be "World Fellowship Vesper," and the next "Thanksgiving."

Piece of Famous Elm Tree Comes to Raleigh

Colonel Fred Olds Gets Part of Washington Elm Tree for Hall of History

Col. Fred Olds has received a section of the historic Washington elm from Cambridge, Mass., which is sending sections of the tree to each of the thirteen colonies. The tree was wrecked in a storm some time ago.

Under this tree, July 3, 1775, George Washington took his oath as commander of the armies of the United States, then United Colonies.

The section may be seen in the west wing of the Hall of History.

Among the other new additions to the Hall of History is a set of photographs from the Cherokee reservation in Swain and Jackson counties. These show the Indians and their homes. The Cherokees are now citizens of North Carolina and can vote.
