MOODY SMITH PRESENTED WITH A GOLD FOOTBALL

Mr. Wessinger, Coaches Spurlock and Johnson, Mr. Jones, and Coach Tebell of State College Are Guests

At a banquet given by "Skinny" Wilson at Wilson's Coffee Shoppe Wednesday, January 23, for the football team, Allen Bailey was elected to captain the 1929 Purple Terrors.

The banquet hall and tables were decorated in purple and gold, the school colors.

Those present besides the football team were Mr. Wessinger, Coaches Spurlock and Johnson, Coach Tebell of State College, "Butch" Slaughter, "Skinny" Wilson, and Mr. Jones. "Skinny" Wilson acted as toastmaster, and short speeches were made by all members of the team, expressing their appreciation for the support of the school and the citizens of Raleigh.

Letters were then awarded to the following men by Coach Spurlock: Neal Paris, Allen Bailey, Arthur Wilson, George Ball, Charley Roberts, Allen Nelms, Willie Duke, Captain Charles Jeffrey, Moody Smith, Jack Murdock, Johnnie Lane, Wilfred Boney, "Red" Wood, and Bill White.

Mr. Wessinger then made a speech commending the team for the record made during the past year. Coach Tebell, in behalf of the school and supporters of the team, awarded Moody Smith a gold football for placing on the all-State team. Coach Tebell made a speech congratulating Allen Bailey, praising last year's team, and telling the graduating members they would be welcomed at State College in the fall.

COUNT VON LUCKNER TALKS AT CHAPEL HILL

Count Felix Von Luckner, German sea raider, Salvation Army worker, bell-hop, Hindu advertiser, navy officer, champion boxer, and adventurer, thrilled his audience for more than two hours at Memorial Hall, Chapel Hill, on Friday night.

With bits of humor the Count told the exciting story of his life adventures during the Great War.

Von Luckner is in this country now as good-will ambassador. He is anxious to bring about a better understanding between his country and America.

He told of beginning his wanderings when he was fourteen because of his desire to see Buffalo Bill. After wandering in Australia for some time he came to America. On reaching Denver he learned his hero was in Germany. He returned to Germany many years later and attended a navigation school. He joined the German Imperial Navy and later became a lieutenant, keeping his promise to his father.

When Germany was blockaded he conceived the idea of running the blockade with an old windjammer. He sailed his ship as a Norwegian sailing boat.

The Count's ship destroyed 100,000 tons of salt-peter, sank a half million tons of enemy shipping, sent many ships to the bottom, cruised over 60,000 miles, but never did he destroy life.

TWO FACULTY MEMBERS RETURN TO POSITIONS

Miss Nellie McClees, member of the math department, has resumed her position as teacher, after having been on a leave of absence for the fall semester.

The Raleigh Student is very glad to have these two members of the faculty return.

Christian Endeavor Party

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the United Christian Church had its regular monthly party in the basement of the church Friday night, January 18, 1929.

About fifty girls and boys enjoyed the exciting games and contests which were played and held.

Refreshments of coffee and sandwiches were served at 10:30.

IN SYMPATHY

The Raleigh Student was very sorry to hear of the death of the father of Mrs. W. A. Couch, the aunt of Miss Margaret Connor, the grandmother of Miss Coffey, and the grandmother of Mrs. W. T. N. Brantley.

We sympathize with these three members of our faculty, and wish to express our sympathy on behalf of the school.

Eleven Girls Compose H.M.H.S. Soccer Team

Star Players Make Team After Many Try-outs; Emily Miller Elected as Manager

"Oh, do you think I will make the team?" "I wonder if she will murder me—I did not appear yesterday." "O-h-h! Look at that tall he-man-looking girl. I know I will not have a chance against her!"—Were among the many remarks the day the soccer team was to be selected.

There were tall girls, thin girls, fat girls, short girls, and even middle-sized girls assembled on the soccer team, trying to make a good impression.

Emily Miller was elected manager of the team.

FEW DIE AND NONE RESIGN, SO WHY NOT FIRE THEM?

"Any honest man in office who cannot accomplish the purpose for which he accepted office should resign. Any man who stays in office charged with a duty and then says he cannot discharge it, is the wrong man in that place and ought to be discharged."—Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas.

Plaster Models Added To Biology Department

Innocent Causes of Much Excitement When Being Brought to H.M.H.S.

Yes, our own business man was pursued by a policeman the other day! If you don't believe it, ask him. And on such a serious charge—abduction! No, even worse—foul murder!

Now, everyone, calm down. It was this way: Mr. Jennerjohn was bringing some models down to the biology department from their store room and a policeman, seeing the half-opened head, and possibly suspicious because of foul deeds committed in other cities, chased him.

The things creating all this excitement have been causing just as much, but of a different kind, at their regular place—the biology laboratory of the Hugh Morson High School.

While the science department has always been considered well equipped, it is now even more so, and equipment is always being added in order to make the course a better one. The latest additions are models of the torso of a man, the eye, the heart, and the ear. All are hand-painted and labeled in greatest detail. They are made by the Denager-Geppert Company of Chicago, makers and importers of anatomical models. For the average course in physiology these models make the science department rank with the science departments of many colleges.

General Albert Cox Talks At Junior High

Tells of Traits of Character and the Achievements of Lee and Jackson

On Friday morning, January 25, General Albert Cox spoke to the students of the Junior High School on the lives of Lee and Jackson, the occasion being the observance of the birthdays of these distinguished southern soldiers. General Cox, in his address, pictured the excellent traits of character of these men, and also their ability as leaders.

Lee and Jackson

General Albert Cox made a talk about Robert Edward Lee and "Stonewall" Jackson in the Junior High auditorium to the 7-B students. "America" was first sung by the pupils, and then the Lord's Prayer was repeated. After that followed the talk, which was a good one.

Robert Edward Lee was born January 19, 1807. "Stonewall" Jackson was born January 21, 1824.

Lee and Jackson fought bravely four years in battle. These men are known to have been very great military leaders. When Jackson was shot dead by one of his own men by mistake, Lee said he had lost his right arm, for Jackson was so important and such a help that he called him his right arm.

General Jackson never faced endeavor unless asking his Creator, the Lord, to give him power.

After the war was over and Jackson was gone, Lee was elected president of Washington College, now Washington and Lee University. He held this office until he died in 1870.

Though we are only boys and girls of today, we are men and women of tomorrow. We hope to keep the brave and wonderful deeds of Lee and the faithfulness of Jackson always.

HOME ROOMS TO HAVE BASKETBALL TOURNEY

Mr. Johnson, the boys' physical education teacher and the basketball coach for the Hugh Morson High School, has planned a new kind of entertainment for the boys of the High School. The plan is as follows: from each home room a captain is chosen, and in turn he selects seven boys whom he thinks will make a good basketball team. A tournament will be held between these teams after school. The admission will be five cents. If a team loses, it is put out of the tournament. The team which stays in the longer will be the champions.

JUNIOR HIGH NOTES

According to Mr. Daniel, principal of Junior High School, the number of new students to enroll at the Junior High School for the spring term is equal to the number sent to Hugh Morson High School.

The Junior High School Parent-Teachers Association met Monday, January 21st, at that school. Dr. C. O. Abernathy, president of the association, presided. The chief feature of the evening was music furnished by the Junior High School orchestra and glee club.

'The Man Who Laughs' Seen At State Theatre

Universal Super-Picture Directed by Levi, Supervisor of 'The Cat and the Canary'

"The Man Who Laughs is a picturization of one of the world's most cherished novels—from the inspired pen of the immortal Victor Hugo. In its lavish settings, brilliant direction, inspired acting, tense dramatic situations, overwhelming beauty, and its sublime love story, this magnificent and spectacular photodrama surpasses in an immeasurable degree anything ever before attempted in cinema production.

Thus critics speak of "The Man Who Laughs," the Universal super-picture which was on at the State Theatre, Friday and Saturday, January 25 and 26. Mary Philbin, the heroine, was a star in "The Phantom of the Opera," as well as other famous pictures. Conrad Veidt, the laughing man, is a noted European actor.

The total cost of the production was more than $1,500,000; $600,000 was spent on scenery.

A thumbnail synopsis follows:

A small boy, his face mutilated into a horrible grin by order of James II because his father is a political enemy, is abandoned on the coast of England by kidnapers. He finds a live baby girl clasped in her mother's cold arms, and with the baby finds shelter in the circus van of Ursus. Years pass, and the girl grows to be Dea, the blind maid, while the boy becomes a famous clown. The boy's claim to a title is discovered by Barkilphedro, attaché of Queen Anne's court, and the Queen sees an opportunity to discipline her half sister, Duchess Josiana, who has incurred her displeasure. She has Gwynplaine related to his wealth and decrees that he shall marry Josiana. Barkilphedro reports to Ursus that Gwynplaine is dead and banishes the little troupe from England. Gwynplaine renounces his title, defies Josiana, and hastens after Ursus and Dea.

He is pursued by Barkilphedro and his henchmen. The chase is exciting, with the London populace cheering for Gwynplaine.

Homo, the trained wolf belonging to Ursus, saves the day by cornering Barkilphedro and sending him to a well-deserved end. Gwynplaine reaches Dea aboard ship as the vessel moves down stream, quitting England forever.

Largest Enrollment In History of School

IN EXPLANATION

Many questions have been asked since the latest number of The Student concerning its next appearance.

The reason for the lapse of six weeks between numbers six and seven is explained by the fact that our adviser, Mrs. Covington, has been very ill. Also, exams interrupted the regular routine.

The Student is very glad to have Mrs. Covington return to school.

R. L. McMillan Makes Talk In Memory of Lee

State and American Flags Given by Johnston-Pettigrew Chapter

The Johnston-Pettigrew Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy sponsored the chapel exercises on January 25, at which R. L. McMillan spoke on Robert E. Lee.

The speaker said that if virtues be the scale by which greatness is measured, Lee was the greatest man America has produced. As a military genius Lee surpassed Charlemagne, Napoleon, and the other great leaders; as a man of peace he was equally unsurpassed. He declined an offer that would bring him wealth to take up the reins of a little college in Virginia. With greater patience and courage than it took to fight the Civil War, the people of the South rose under Lee's leadership to undertake the rebuilding of all that had been destroyed by the war. Lee was a peace-time leader, full of honor, modesty, and virtue.

After the speaker had finished his talk, Mr. Wessinger exhibited the North Carolina flag, which had been given the school by the Johnston-Pettigrew Chapter. An American flag has also been given by this chapter.

Hugh Morson Sextet Defeats Middleburg

Come From Behind in Second Half to Score a 22-to-21 Victory

Hugh Morson sextet trailing by ten points at half-time, fought back in the second half Friday night, to defeat the Middleburg high six 22 to 21.

It was the second game of the season for the Raleigh girls, and they displayed marked improvement over their first event with Garner, earlier in the week, which was lost.

Raleigh girls jumped into the lead at the beginning of the game, but were soon overtaken by Middleburg. Although trailing by ten points at half-time—15-5—they came back strong in the second half. The defense tightened up and Bessie Hiner and Ruth George found the range of the Middleburg basket. Bessie Hiner made 15 of the local's points, with others going to Ruth George. Alice Shepherd, although not scoring proved her worth to the team, while Rebecca Riddle played a well-rounded defensive game.

Middleburg's scoring was fairly equally divided among J. Jackson, Currie, and A. Ellington.

The line-ups:
Raleigh Positions Middleburg
Hiner (15) Forward (8) J. Jackson
Shepherd Center (6) A. Ellington
Riddle Guard Bredlove
Layton (5) Guard B. Jackson
Thomas Guard Kerson

Great noises coming from Room 201 January 14! Great discussion, great arguing, great everything!

What was going on? Was the great Lewis Literary Society trying to decide who should be the great president of the great United States after the great Hoover? No! Far greater discussion of far greater things was in progress. The officers for the spring term were being elected.

The great officers who were elected are:
President—Eugene Spivoy.
Vice-President—Burdette Mayne.
Secretary and Treasurer—Vermont Royster.

Because of much dissension the election of press reporter was deferred until the next meeting.
