GERMAN WAR BRIDE IS BIG SUCCESS; MRS. WEBB HAS GREAT RECORD AT W. F. C.

CHAMBER VICE PRESIDENT

Henry Miller

The Chamber of Commerce is possible for the big and gala air which is coming up this weekend, Friday and Saturday, October 24 and 25. President Jesse Hollowell, all the officers and the Board of Directors have put much work and ingenuity into making this event come off. Past President Ralph Cruser and directors Frank Smith, Leland Jones, Sam Sidenburg, Mrs. Georgeus and Bob Loveless have helped immeasurably in directing the efforts, along with Secretary J. L. Larson, Miller, Hollowell and W. Allen.

Edbourne Is Named Wake Forest Scoutmaster

The Wake Forest Baptist Church its Troop committeemen are happy to announce that Mr. Ed Edbourne, who has been an assistant in Troop 5, has consented to be as Scoutmaster. The sterling qualities of Mr. Edbourne assure the committee that they have an ideal in Mr. Edbourne as Scoutmaster. Edbourne and his family are asked to cooperate in his character building program. Merit badge counselors would be greatly appreciated. Anyone who can contribute to worthwhile programs in helping with the Scout program are requested to volunteer such services from time to time.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB MEETS ON TUESDAY

The Wake Forest Home Demonstration club will meet at the home of Mrs. Ora Leah Gill on Tuesday, Oct. 28. All members are urged to be present.

It's been a long, hard road for a former German war bride but Mrs. Hildegard Webb has made an exceptionally fine record at Wake Forest College.

The story of the Webbs began in Wiesbaden, Germany, in the summer of 1947. Hildegard Buse, daughter of Theodor and Katharina Busse, took a job as a typist in the Air Inspector's Office of the Air Force which was quartered in Wiesbaden. Sergeant Marvin Webb, an American from Fountain, N. C., was stationed there with the troop information education section of the Army. Hildegard and Marvin were attracted to each other immediately and in a few months they became engaged. After months of waiting in which they filled out numerous forms & underwent considerable Army red tape, they were married in April 1948 in the Lutheran Church.

They had passage on an airplane going to the States but the unexpected Berlin airlift put a halt to that. They had to change their plans and Marvin came alone on a boat to New York in August.

He enrolled at Wake Forest College in September to begin on his college education. Marvin hurried back to New York in mid-October to meet Hilda's boat and he brought her back to Wake Forest.

Hildegard enrolled at Wake Forest in January, 1949, and except for the summer of 1949, went straight through and graduated in August, 1952. Marvin finished three months earlier in June. Hilda majored in French & minored in Education while her husband majored in History-Government and minored in Education. She was elected into Phi Beta Kappa, highest scholastic academic fraternity, and graduated Magna Cum Laude. Both were members of Sigma Pi Alpha, national honorary modern languages fraternity.

Worked Way Through College Although Marvin went to school under the GI Bill of Rights it wasn't enough to get them both through College so each had to work part-time. Both worked in the College Cafeteria one year & Hilda served as a student assistant.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK IS OCT. 26 to NOV. 1

Girl Scout week will be celebrated October 26—November 1. On Sunday, Oct. 26, all Girl Scouts will attend the Wake Forest Baptist Church in a group. On Tuesday, October 28, a camp fire will be lighted and all Girl Scouts will join in singing. They have invited their parents and all Boy Scouts to attend. Mrs. Nell Young, executive director of Girl Scouts, will be here to lead the singing. The time is 6:15 p. m. on the grounds of the Community house. In case of rain they will meet inside the Community House and have a fire in the fireplace. Don't miss this camp fire, scouts, because you will have fun!

David Smoot, Jr., a student at the University of N. C., spent the weekend at home.

Cpl. Stallings Is Named 'Soldier of the Week'

Army Cpl. Wilbert C. Stallings, whose wife, Sylvia, lives at 419 E. Juniper Street in Wake Forest, recently was named "Soldier of the Week" for his unit in Korea. A driver in the 512th Engineer Dump Truck Company, he received the honor on the basis of his personal appearance, performance of duty and military bearing. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Stallings, also of Wake Forest, Corporal Stallings has been in the Far East since last October. He entered the Army in May 1951 after attending high school in his hometown.

Wake Forest Fall Festival to Offer Everything for Your Fun & Savings

At last — the gala event has arrived! Friday and Saturday of this week are the Big Days for which you have awaited — the Wake Forest Fall Festival.

So, folks, scrub up the kids and pack them into the family jitney and come on over to Wake Forest for the time of your lives.

It's gonna be bigger than a circus and better than a fair — with bargains galore thrown in for good measure.

Parades and entertainment, and prizes and fun, and buys and bargains will be all thrown together to provide the most excitement since "gran'ma shot the revenoer."

And it's all yours, folks, just for the coming over.

Merchants are offering super buys all day Friday and Saturday.

Come in and shop Friday morning, register at the stores for the big free prizes they are offering, and for the grand prize of a beautiful new bedroom suite — then at 3:30 the mammoth parade is scheduled to start winding its way through the streets of town.

On Saturday morning, visit the stores again, shop to your heart's desire, register again, if you want, and then, after eating dinner in one of the many fine restaurants, be on hand to greet Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. Ballentine as he speaks at 3:00 in front of the Seaboard Railroad station. He is to be introduced by W. W. Holding.

Master of Ceremonies C. D. Matheny will then continue the program, giving away gifts and presents to the oldest couple, the youngest married couple, the oldest man, the oldest woman (if she will admit it), and the biggest family. It will be lots of fun — and you may be one of the lucky winners. Be sure to be there!

And, after your supper, come to the Lions club Street Dance at 8 o'clock. It will be held on South White Street — and the big handsome door prize will be a fine G. E. Television set, installed, and it's absolutely free.

So plan now to have lots of fun, get free gifts and enjoy yourselves at the Wake Forest Fall Festival, Oct. 24 and 25.

Divinity Dames To Meet Friday Night, Oct. 24

All members of the Divinity Dames are reminded that the club will meet Friday night, Oct. 24, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. George Griffin, on South Main Street.

The first meeting was held in the beautiful Colonial home of Mrs. Abner Nash, at which time Mrs. C. B. Earp gave a "Kitchen Chat," which she demonstrated in an interesting manner to 28 guests. For the benefit of those who did not attend the last meeting, the Divinity Dames Club is the same as the former WOC Club.

The Club extends an invitation to all College Ministerial students

Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. Ballentine To Speak Here on Saturday

Be sure to read the advertisements in this issue. The local merchants are really offering you the greatest bargains and values that you have seen in a long time. Come on out and see for yourselves; but be sure to read the ads.

Dr. Binkley Continues His Talk on Christian Home

Dr. O. T. Binkley continued his discussion of the Christian Home on Wednesday night. He spoke to the adults following the weekly Family Night supper in the College Cafeteria.

Mrs. Owen Herring continued the study of the Sermon on the Mount with the Intermediates, and Dr. Marc Lovelace led the Juniors in the study of Old Testament stories.

Mrs. R. E. Lee, Mrs. D. J. Stoner, Mrs. Margaret Maggart, and Miss Ruth Woody had charge of the children.

Mrs. Paul C. Newton spent the weekend with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lanneau Newton of Chapel Hill.

wives who have not attended before.

You can be certain that a good time is in store for all, so mark your calendar now and be sure to come to hear and see Mrs. W. E. Speas talk about various flower arrangements.

The officers of the club are: President — Mrs. Beck McClelland; Secretary — Mrs. Ardie Bumgarner; Treasurer — Mrs. Evelyn Barefoot; Program Chairman — Mrs. Doris Jackson; Publicity Committee — Rachel Mullinax and Mary Summers.

The sponsor this year is Mrs. Owen Herring.

WAKE FOREST GIRL SCOUTS TO SELL COOKIES ON FRIDAY

For all Girl Scouts, the dates October 24 through November 10 are very important. They include a variety of activities.

The annual cookie sale begins with distribution of cookies to all Scouts on October 23 in front of the High School at 3 p. m.

The sale will close on Nov. 10, but all unsold cookies and money must be turned in to the troop cookie chairman, Mrs. Leonard Shearon, by 6 p. m., November 8.

Mrs. Hipps Is To Speak To Wake Forest B&P Club

Mrs. J. B. Hipps of Wake Forest will speak to the Business and Professional Womans Club at its dinner meeting on Thursday at 7:15 o'clock in Bob's College Inn.

Mrs. Hipps will use as her topic "Communism". All the members are urged to attend this meeting.

NICKEL PHONE CALL IS THING OF THE PAST

The nickel telephone call will become a thing of the past in the Wake Forest area this week as the Carolina Telephone & Telegraph Company makes the change from five cents to a dime pay station operation. This announcement was made today by H. N. Kerman, local telephone company manager.

In May, North Carolina Utilities Commission ordered the Carolina Company to increase the charge for local pay station calls from 5c to 10c. Since that time, the Company has been making the change in one telephone exchange at a time. Fayetteville, Rocky Mt., Jacksonville, Wilson, New Bern, and Greenville have already been placed on dime pay telephone operation.

When the change is completed, Wake Forest pay telephone users will have to deposit a dime to complete a local call. Instructions for operation of the pay stations will be posted on every public telephone. Kerman, the Wake Forest telephone manager, pointed out that these instructions call for use of a dime and added that two nickels will not work for local calls.

DR. WILKINSON ATTENDS HEALTH COUNCIL MEET

Dr. C. T. Wilkinson as requested by the president of the Medical Society of North Carolina attended the Rural Health Council meeting in Raleigh.

About three hundred representatives from various organizations interested in health were present.

Dr. Wilkinson said the Medical Society played a leading role and was well represented.

DOWN TO 28 TUES. MORN

We hear that the thermometer went down to 28 degrees on Tuesday morning, Oct. 21. Do not know if this is a "new low" or not — but do know that it was darned cold, after the summer weather we have been having for the past 2 weeks.

Ice on chicken drinking water pans was reported and we can guess that "frost" was on top of more than one set of bed quilts overnight.

Roving Around

Vacations are wonderful things! ... But it sure is hard to catch up on your affairs when you return — at least we found it true!

We still haven't managed to get back to where we were before we took off for the wild north. Thus, we have been rather lax in getting our story about Canada to you.

After we left the Olde Englishe "beanery" we last told you about, we decided to look in Toronto for a place to stay. (Now, we found tourist homes the nicest places for our overnight accommodations; for two reasons — (1) they are easy to find, inexpensive — we're only pore newspaper folk; and (2) I can always find someone to talk to in the friendly environment of a "home."

The gal, a cute red-head who takes her vacation in, you guessed it, North Carolina, at the tourist information booth in Toronto told us that we'd have oodles of nice homes to choose from.

Taking her at her word, we started thru the Capital city, which was now cloaked in its nocturnal nightcap (that means it was dark, I think). We looked and we looked and when we got tired of looking, we looked some more — but no tourist homes were around. They were scarcer than a Republican in No'th Ca'lina (not the Eisenhower Democratic variety, though).

We traversed the entire city limits of the city. We'd see, hopefully, a neon light way up ahead, and as we got toward it, we were sure that we were in sight of one of those "plentiful" tourist homes — but alas, it was only a doctor's sign or a paint sign, or something.

Now, long about this time not only discouragement was upon us, we were getting road weary!

Which wasn't too unusual, because we had been riding, seeing and sighting for about 13 hours.

Well, at last, up loomed a sure thing — just like betting on Umstead to be the next governor of N. C. We stopped, went up tiredly to the door and after waiting for ten minutes for the man of the house to appear, he opened the door and greeted us with, "Oh, I'm so sorry; I meant to take the sign down last week — when we stopped taking in tourists."

We didn't think it could happen to us! but it did.

But he did direct us to a place up the street (it seemed like it was about 25 more miles). And there we stayed — after informing the woman that we just wanted to stay in the room for one night —
