

Glen Royal News

By PAULINE HARDING

"It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas all around the town!" Isn't it wonderful? Our town looks so pretty, and the parade will be today! Then we know its nearly here. The Christmas Tea always ushers in the season so nicely . . . and the people of Glen Royal Baptist and the Church of God are busy practicing for that magical Christmas Eve, when the old-fashioned "entertainment" finds both churches filled with happy people.

Glen Royal Baptist Church had a large Fellowship Dinner at the Seminary Cafeteria last Thursday night. There were over 100 people there, enjoying good food and fellowship. The after-dinner speaker was Rev. Harold White and he was enjoyed by everyone.

"Sonny" Woodlief has written Mrs. Mattie Alford that he has been wounded in Viet Nam, but that it was not bad, and she was not to worry. We're all so happy that it is not bad and trust we'll soon hear he's fine.

The Church of God is having a guest speaker for the weekend. Rev. L. O. Henry, who is superintendent of the Children's Home in Concord, will speak at both services on Sunday. He will remain for the Monday night services, which will be Raleigh District Fellowship Meeting night here at the local church, with seven towns being represented. Everyone is invited to attend all these services.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woodlief are real thrilled! Their son, Tommy Lee, is arriving in Norfolk, Va. next Monday, Dec. 13 when his ship U. S. S. Independence arrives from its tour of duty. Mr. and Mrs. Woodlief expect to attend exercises at the ship and will be going to Williamsburg on Saturday to be with the Al Sabols until Monday. It seems pretty certain one serviceman will "be home for Christmas."

Miss Rhea Ballard of East Carolina College brought her roommate to Wake Forest for a visit this week-end and the girls enjoyed their visit with Mrs. Louise Cole and Mrs. B. C. Dixon.

Mrs. Maxine Lentz returned home, following a week's stay in Duke Hospital. We do hope she will soon be fit and well.

Mrs. Louise Moore has been in Wake Forest Hospital. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

LOCAL BOY WOUNDED IN VIET NAM

A Wake Forest boy serving with the Army in Viet Nam was wounded Nov. 24.

PFC. Eugene W. Woodlief, 18 year old soldier wrote his mother, Mrs. Mattie Alford that a mortar exploded about 40 feet from him and shrapnel hit his left arm.

While he is being treated at a hospital near Saigon, he is not believed seriously hurt.

He wrote Mrs. Alford that he would be out of jungle fighting ten weeks or so.

Woodlief entered the service last Jan. 12 and landed in Viet Nam home following his recent surgery, but he is recuperating nicely.

Miss Joe Edwards has had a birthday! She had grandma and grandpas and aunts and uncles and little boys and girls helping her celebrate last Sunday. She got lots of pretty presents and everyone had a nice time.

Miss Rhonda O'Neal is 3 years old! She had a birthday party Saturday. Her friends helping her celebrate were Debby and Andy Davis, Terry Lee Bobbitt, Denise Garner, Pam Hicks, Teresa Caudle and sister Sonja. They had lots of fun.

Wake Forest had some former Wake Foresters visiting on Sunday. Mrs. Jim Clark and Margaret visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitley and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harding. They now live in Kinston.

on Oct. 9. His address is:

Club Takes Members

The Christmas meeting of the Wake Forest Woman's Club was held during the week, presided over by the President Mrs. C. C. Hilderand. During the business session Mrs. John D. Lyon, Projects chairman, reported on two recently held Rummage Sales, stating that some unsold material was donated to a local organization which was donated to the Salvation Army.

In line with the procedure of the local organization, new members are taken into the organization only twice during the year. During the evening the following new members were voted into the organization: Mrs. Donald Cook, Mrs. Carlton Chappell, Mrs. John T. Wayland, Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Arlos Tarn, and Mrs. J. R. Jackson.

Following the business meeting Mrs. W. C. Strickland took charge of the program, introducing Mrs. James Blackmore who gave several readings on the spirit of Christmas; the Choral Group of the club rendered several Christmas carols with Mrs. A. C. Reid assisting at the piano; and Mrs. J. L. Baum, dressed as Mrs. Santa Claus, did a humorous skit, which included a phone conversation done on an old-fashioned hand cranked phone. During the social hour the exchange of gifts added to the merriment of the occasion.

Flattery is the art of telling another person exactly what he thinks of himself.

Wake Forest's First and Finest

"During the four years I served in the U. S. Navy, I was involved in a number of crises: Cuba, Panama, Cypress, Santo Domingo. These were important events in my life because during each I believed very strongly in what I was doing. I believed that the preventative solution we were offering was in some small way preventing the spread of Communism. This was particularly true in the case of the Cuban Crisis. Since I had access to classified information I was able to realize the seriousness of what we were doing before you at home. It was particularly hard on that occasion to say goodbye to my family when I wasn't really sure that I would be coming back . . . or that there would be anything to come back to. This may seem overly dramatic in 1965, but, believe me, in 1962 it was quite real. I can remember thinking during that period, "Does anyone really care that I am out here putting my life on the line?" And I had cause to think this during each close scrape in which I was involved.

A particularly demoralizing event occurred during the Santo Domingo crisis. I had spent a very tense and nerve-racking 48 hours without sleep. The tenseness was only increased by the fact that we were one of the first ships off the coast and we really weren't too sure in what direction the fighting would go. Just before I came off watch at 4:00 am I heard a news broadcast from the states. To my dismay it told of nothing but rioting and bloodshed caused by racial conflicts. At that point, only one thought came to mind: "Let's go home; no one really cares."

This long and possibly irrelevant introduction leads me to real purpose behind this letter. I feel there is a very worthy cause to which you can put your efforts. I am daily sickened by the "anti-war" demonstrations that are being carried out "for the sake of peace." Can you imagine how our men in Viet Nam feel when they hear of this? They are giving their lives so we may be free. And don't think for one minute that the War in Viet Nam is unnecessary. The Communists are not fooling. They have but one purpose and that is WORLD DOMINATION. The minute we forget this, the second we let our guard down, they will move one step further towards that goal. Viet Nam is that one step I do not want them to take.

I feel that the DAR with their dedication to patriotism and preservation of tradition can do a lot in the way of educating the public to what our boys are facing. Should you need literature I refer you to The Green Berets by Robin Moore. It is not a book for the squeamish . . . but then, neither is war. This book graphically describes the situation in Viet Nam far better than I could ever hope to.

I realize that I have only hit the surface and there is much more that I could say. But this I will leave to another time. Please, ladies, give serious thought to what our boys are doing. Think about a cold foxhole the next time you cut the heat on in your house. Think of the food our boys will be getting when you sit down to a Thanksgiving feast. Think how you would feel if YOUR son was over there fighting.

I have a very close and dear friend who is laying his life on the line every day over there. He has a wife and 2 sons waiting for him at home. I had the chance to talk to her several weeks ago. Her attitude and stamina are truly amazing. She doesn't want him there, but she realized the need for his being there. My hat is off to her and people like her.

My gracious thanks for your time. I hope it has done some good."

Sincerely,
Chester Wilkinson
