

L. A. Woodliefs Host Couples Club Party

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Woodlief entertained their Couple's Bridge Club with a Christmas party at their home on Saturday, Dec. 18. There were four tables in play.

Upon arrival, guests enjoyed a dessert course of pecan pie and coffee. The tables were laid with cut-work linen cloths and centered with a single lighted red taper encircled with holly.

Following two progressions of bridge, high score prize for ladies was awarded to Mrs. Dewey Wiggins. High score prize for men was awarded to H. H. Reddick.

The home was beautifully decorated for Christmas with a traditional Christmas tree. The mantle in the living room was graced with a garland of running cedar caught with large red bows. Above the mantle was a small silver tree with red satin ornaments. Three red stockings were "hung by the chimney with care" for the three Woodlief children.

At the conclusion of play, guests were invited to a buffet table laid with mid-night refreshments and snacks. Refreshments included holiday fruit punch, fancy open-face sandwiches in tree and bell shapes, potato chips and dip, fancy chocolate rolls, assorted crackers and sandwiches.

Members in attendance were special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wiggins, and members Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Brown, Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Corpening, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cheatham, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reddick and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fleming.

Never Under Estimate Your Next Door Neighbor

You never can tell who your neighbors will turn out to be. Saturday, Wake Sheriff's Deputy B. G. Munn picked up a man wanted on a fugitive warrant who had been living next door to a police officer.

Munn said Danny Little McKenzie was wanted in Fairfax, Va. where he jumped bond. A warrant for his arrest was received by the county sheriff's office in March. Munn said a chain of events led to his arrest Saturday. He was returned to Virginia.

PASTORS OFFERED SEMINARY COURSE

Seventeen pastors recently have concluded an advanced course in theology at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. With an equal number of seminary students, these pastors met for two hours on Monday afternoons. The class was taught by Dr. James E. Tull.

Another course on the Doctrine of the Holy Spirit will be taught in the spring semester, beginning January 24, 1966. This class will be taught by Dr. John W. Eddins, Jr., and also is opened to pastors who are seminary graduates.

The offering of these courses to pastors is another effort of the seminary to encourage continuing theological education.

Divinity Professor Had His Doubts About Famous Poem

"Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house, Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse."

With these lines begins the familiar poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas." Today, this poem is a treasured part of the lore of Christmas, often quoted and published at the Yuletide season.

Surprisingly, the poet who created it was far from proud of his work.

A distinguished Biblical scholar and professor of divinity, Dr. Clement Clark Moore wrote the poem for the amusement of his children at Christmas in 1822. A visitor in the home at the time copied it and had it published a year later in the Troy, N. Y., Sentinel.

The poem appeared anonymously, because Dr. Moore felt that he, as a professor of divinity, should not be associated with such "undignified" work.

For more than 20 years, he refused to take credit for the poem, and for the first time credited to In 1844 the poem was published its creator, Clement Clark Moore.
