

Single Men Victors In Second Series Volley Ball Tournament. First Three Games Were Decisive

Second Series Played Tuesday Night at Central Y. M. C. A.

ONLY FOUR GAMES MARRIED WON 4TH But Fourth Game Was a Joke. Singles Rested Two Best Players.

Five games were not necessary, as in the first series, to determine the winners of the second series of Volley Ball games played at the Central Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday night.

The single men took the games in the one, two, three, and so the first three were decisive.

A fourth game was played, but was not indulged in very enthusiastically by either team. In this game the men with "bosses" reached the fifteen point only after the independents were fourteen.

The first game was the best of all, though the benedicts scored but nine points. The married men showed more "pep" in this than any other, and until near the game's end a prediction of its outcome was impossible. This game ended 15-9 in single mens favor.

The second game was an overwhelming victory for the independ lads. In this game the benedicts showed no fight at all. Indeed they made only three points during the entire game.

The third game was likewise a victory for the single lads, and though there was not quite so great a difference in the score as in the second game, the married men had not reached the half way line when the singles made the necessary number of points to win the game, score 15-7.

The best playing on the single men's team was done by Bob Moore and Ofus Slaydon, while J. W. East fought hardest for the benedicts.

ROAD JUBILEE AT GUERRANT SPRINGS A GREAT SUCCESS

Crowd Estimated At Approximately 3,000. Property Not Sold.

DATA CONCERNING THIS HIGHWAY

Gathered Friday at Guerrant Springs in a natural wooded amphitheatre nestling in the hills not far from the border lines of the two states, hundreds of Virginians and North Carolinians celebrated with an appropriate program the completion of the opening of a hard surfaced road linking two neighboring cities—Danville and Reidsville—and two states—Virginia and North Carolina. The crowd was estimated at noon at between 2,500 and 3,000.

Mingling under the branches of the beautiful shade trees that covered the sloping hills and the scenic dell with its bubbling springs, people of two sovereignties and two municipalities—bankers, farmers, business and professional men, their wives and children, became one community in spirit, celebrating the linking up of two cities and two sections, even though the union passed over a state line. The official program, conducted on the slope from the porch of a picturesque white-washed, mud-daubed log cabin, underwent a slight change from the planned routine owing to the absence of Frank Page, state highway commissioner of North Carolina, and Congressman J. M. Hooker. Nevertheless, the remainder of the regular order of events was carried out successfully and pleasantly to the surround-crowd, the high light of the program following an exchange of courtesies by Mayor Harry Wooding, of Danville, and J. M. Sharp, of Reidsville, was the brief address of H. Shirley, state highway commissioner of Virginia. Splendid music for the occasion was furnished by the coast artillery band of Danville.

Ford Motor Company Detroit, Mich.

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—A total of 1,050,185 automotive products were built by the various divisions of the Ford Motor Company during the first six months of the present year, according to figures just compiled.

The output for the half year was as follows: Ford cars and Trucks, domestic and foreign, 941,245; Canada, 46,871; Fordson Tractors, 58,557, and Lincoln cars, 3,512.

A new monthly record for production was established by the domestic assembly plants in June, with a total of 175,040 Ford Cars and Trucks, exceeding the output of May by nearly 5,000.

New production marks have been set up against almost daily since January, but there hasn't been time when manufacture even approximated the demand.

With production increasing in an endeavor to meet the demand, it is expected that the company will finish the year with a total approximating 1,800,000 Ford cars and trucks for domestic use alone.

This is the opinion expressed by officials in view of the present prosperous conditions, the increasing number of orders and the outlook for even better times prevailing during the coming months.

In bringing up production, efforts all along have been devoted to building better. As a result many improvements have been made and though Ford Cars and Trucks are today at the lowest price level in the history of the company they are of higher quality and present a greater value to the purchaser than ever before.

The demand for Ford Trucks and light Delivery Cars is particularly optimistic since it reflects the attitude of business men, as well as farmers, toward expansion and greater efficiency. Sales of Ford Trucks are more than double those of last year, which indicates the extent of the general prosperity.

For months Ford dealers have had no stocks on hand, buyers absorbing the Cars and Trucks as rapidly as they are turned out of assembly plants. With this condition continuing production is certain to remain at capacity to aid dealers in making deliveries as quickly as possible.

Successful advertising and telegraph poles perform the same duties; both help to support messages of good cheer. "Say it with Flowers" is a good example.

H. G. Shirley, state highway commissioner, was the next speaker. His topic was entirely appropriate to the day and bore entirely on the road subject. He paid a graceful compliment to the state of North Carolina by declaring that there was no better state highway commissioner than Frank Page anywhere in the United States. Mr. Shirley said that the

BABSON SOUNDS WARNING AS TO BUSINESS HERE

Statistician Gives Reasons For Not Being Optimistic On Situation.

ISSUES STATEMENT

(Special to The Register)

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., July 26.—Roger W. Babson was today asked why it is that he is not so optimistic on the general business situation when so many of the barometers of business indicate great prosperity. The optimistic forecasts of prominent bankers, manufacturers, and financial advisors were called to Mr. Babson's attention and he was frankly asked why a warning was needed under present stable conditions. His reply was as follows:

"It is true that a number of the barometers of business are distinctly favorable at the present time. In order to be absolutely fair to everyone I even took pains to enumerate these in a published statement only a month ago. The merchants are not over stocked; manufacturers have not been speculating in raw materials; banks have good resources; check transactions are normal; railroad earnings are exceptionally good; and our great industries are apparently on a sound basis. My critics are correct in their statement that surface indications point a wonderful business this fall, and perhaps two or three years of rising prices as well as anyone and it is very hard for me to sound a warning while so many are so optimistic and so contented.

"My reason for sounding a warning is two-fold. First, the Babson chart of business conditions shows clearly that the period of readjustment is only about 60 per cent completed, and that further readjustment is inevitable. Second, that the attitude of the younger generation is distinctly harmful to the present situation. That is to say, my warning is based on statistics and on a study of the spiritual forces underlying business. Of course, in reality, the spiritual or moral forces are by far the more important as they really determine what statistics and the chart will later show. The attitude of the people bears the same relation to the Babson chart and to statistics that the temperature bears to the thermometer, or as carloadings bear to railroad earnings.

"I have offices in twenty-six large cities and correspondents in two hundred other cities. In every locality I find that the average man today is interested only in spending. People not only want to get rich quick but without working. People are buying recklessly without any thought about where the money is coming from with which to pay. Our young people seem to have the idea that dollar bills grow on trees and all they have to do is to pick them off. Almost no one wants to work. Very few want to produce. Earnest and industrious manual laborers, such as we had twenty-five years ago, are almost an unknown quantity. Everyone wants to ride in the car and no one wants to pull. Our percentage of producers is steadily decreasing and the percentage of middlemen is steadily increasing.

"Such conditions cannot continue forever. A dog may live on his tail for awhile, but it cannot continue this process indefinitely. People may for a while get a living doing another's washing, but after the clothes are worn out there will be no washing to do. A certain number of people can exist as middlemen.

COMMUNITY MUSIC

According to Charles H. Smith, formerly local manager for the Burns detective agency and present manager of the Smithsonian Bureau of investigation of Boston, music is the agency which will ally social unrest.

"If there were shrines of music," Mr. Smith declared to a reporter for the Boston Herald, "if there were more music in the cafe's, music in the dining rooms, in the hotels—it would prove to be the greatest spiritual tonic ever known. It would result in the revival and strengthening of human nature.

It would help marvelously in calming the unrest now manifest everywhere and in checking the crime waves which overspread the country."

"I think the compensations of music are very large and the whole psychological state of a people is definitely responsible to its influence. If you can turn the minds of the people to things beautiful in art and music, to things which are Godly and celestial, you will be going a long way toward improving the social state.

"Many poor souls have found new life and consolation in good music. Good music has been responsible for changing the lives of many persons from bad to good."

"Music is the expression of divine aspiration. It cannot but have a lasting and noteworthy effect upon the people."

"In my work as a private detective replied Mr. Smith, "I have seen what might almost be described as miracles performed by music. I have seen the hardest criminals and fallen women practically converted and led to the right road after they had been inspired by hearing sacred or sentimental music, which had penetrated the very heart of their being and won them over. They had been changed from dangerous enemies to citizens to good and useful citizens.

A half hour or more spent in listening to good music after a long day's contact with the friction and asperities of this work-a-day world will act as a balance wheel to restore the jaded soul, the perplexed mind, the tired body.

"I have seen thousands of people in penitentiaries, prisons and reform schools inspired with the keen desire to do good things and to live a right life after leaving these institutions; and music, they have declared to me, has been in great measure responsible for this inspiration."

A man who doesn't advertise is much like the manager of a stranded theatrical troupe—he hasn't much of a show.

Middlemen are a necessity and serve a valuable economic function, but America's great need is producers, especially men and women filled with the desire to produce and with the joy of production. America's great need is a revival of the joy of work. America's great need is a revival of the desire to serve. America's great need is a revival of the habit of saving.

"I am not fearful for America in the long run; but rather I am a great optimist on this country and the people of this country. My love of America causes me to issue the warning that the attitude of the average young person today is not right toward his or her work. A doctor is not friendly to his patient if he blindly shuts his eyes to his patient's disease. One cannot be a true friend of the United States by blindly shutting his eyes to the wrong attitude of the new generation toward industry, service and thrift. It is this wrong attitude which has already caused business—as indicated by the Babson chart—to decline. The chart today stands at 3 per cent below normal compared with 1 per cent below normal at the beginning of the year."

MAN FORMERLY OF SPRAY SAYS HE WILL RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Gilliam Grissom Would Resign as Collector If Party Calls.

BUT HE PREFERS RACE BY MOREHEAD

Raleigh, July 30.—"I shall certainly run for governor if my party wants me to do so," was the declaration with which Gilliam Grissom, United States collector of revenue, yesterday gave a three-cornered slant to the talk of the Republican candidate in 1924, and which heretofore has been confined almost exclusively to United States District Attorney Irvin B. Tucker and Isaac M. Meekins, who has a position with the United States alien property custodian in Washington. The announcement gives promise of a real battle for the position of flag-bearer.

"Would you resign your position as collector to run for governor?" the collector was asked. "I certainly will if my party calls, but I am not so sure about the call, as I have had to make a number of appointments and of course I have offended twenty for every one I have pleased," was the reply.

The collector was frankness itself in discussing the situation and made it clear that if he has anything to do with the campaign next year it will be a red hot one, regardless of who is the candidate.

According to Mr. Grissom, he would prefer to see the race made by John Motley Morehead, former national committeeman and long the dominant factor in the councils of the minority party in this state. But the chances of Morehead running are regarded as remote and the collector, who has always been Morehead's right hand man and who served as secretary of the Republican executive committee until appointed to office, does not regard himself as an unlikely second choice. "With a solidified party because so far he is making no claim of a solidified party.—Reidsville Review.

FIRE PREVENTION

Resolution of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The National loss through the waste of fire mounts upward at a rate which indicates the need of immediate attention in each state and in every city. Within a few years the amount in property values destroyed in the United States by fire has increased until it is annually in excess of the entire cost of the Panama Canal. In large part this figure represents waste which can be prevented by effective action by states and cities. Personal liability for damages accruing to others through fire caused by gross negligence should be enforced in ways which will bring home to individuals their responsibility.

"The most effective medium of publicity is, and will continue to be the public press," says Philip H. Gadsden, president of the Eastern States Gas Conference and vice-president of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia, in advocating larger expenditures by gas companies for advertising in newspapers.

Information of Value Concerning Safe-Guard of Health Against Diphtheria and Typhoid Fever

(By Miss Helen Hancock)

Just recently the public through the local physicians in co-operation with the N. S. State Board of Health has been given a just opportunity to safe-guard their health against Diphtheria and Typhoid fever.

These treatments were offered for a very small fee, and many people took advantage of them. A good number however either deliberately or otherwise failed to do so, but now that the opportunity has passed, some of them realizing their mistake, are seeking for information as to how they might yet grasp it.

Some questions regarding the matter have come to my hearing, and for the special benefit of those who asked, I will repeat them, and answer as satisfactorily as I can.

1st Question. Do the visiting nurses vaccinate for other diseases than Typhoid fever?

Answer. No. Except under direction of a physician.

2nd Question. Do the nurses give the Typhoid treatment to any one except those who work in the mill?

Answer. Yes. We give this treatment to any person desiring it, because we believe it to be the means Plans Being Made For Best Picnic Ever Held.

WILL HAVE BIG BRUNSWICK STEW

But There Will Be Many Other Attractions—Contests, Music, Etc.

The Picnic of the Carolina Co-operative Council will be held at the County Playground, Saturday, August 11th. Plans are now being made for the best picnic that has ever been held. A big brunswick stew will be the biggest attraction. However, there will be plenty of red lemonade, watermelon and smokes.

John Allen Hopper, who is one of the best men in the county on "Stews," has been engaged to prepare the pots for us, an his helper, who will be in charge of general arrangements will be George Chatham. With that pair at work you can certainly count on things being in good shape.

Fieldale has been written and asked for a match baseball game between their foremen and the team from our own group of members. This ought to be a fine game with plenty of fun and interest. There has been some rumor to the effect that we will have a contest for the ugliest man on the grounds at the picnic. Pick out your winner right now and get ready to vote.

Band music will be on hand and a good time for every person who is a member of the Council. Nothing will be spared to make this the finest picnic ever held.

He was running a small hardware store in a newly developed district, and the wholesale dealers found him backward in payment of his account. They sent letter after letter, all of them polite, but each more threatening than the last. Finally they sent their representative down to give him a sporting chance.

"Now," said the caller, "we must have a settlement. Why haven't you sent us anything?"

"Are things going badly?" "No, everything's going fine. My bankers will guarantee me all right."

"Then why haven't you paid up?" "Well, you see, those threatening letters of yours were so well gotten up that I've been copying them and sending them out to some customers of mine who won't pay up, and I've collected nearly all outstanding debts. by which typhoid fever can be eliminated, knowing that for every single case of typhoid it is possible for several other persons to become infected. So as health promoters, we do all in our power to prevent it.

Our only conditions in giving it are: 1st. That people make a previous appointment as to where and when it can be most conveniently given. Our reason for this being, that we do not carry the vaccine around only as we need it for immediate use, since it is required to be kept a certain temperature.

2nd. That families wishing to take the treatment, have each member start at the same time, thus saving time and inconvenience.

3rd. That no person start the treatment unless they intend to finish it. Needless to say by so doing, they would be wasting time, energy, and the cost of the vaccine.
