Asheville Gay Men's Chorus To Present Christmas Concert

The Asheville Gay Men's Chorus will hold its annual Christmas Concert on Sunday, December 6 at 7:30 PM at All Souls Church Parish Hall in Asheville. Tickets will be available from chorus members and at Malaprops Bookstore on Haywood St. Admission will be $5.00.

The concert will feature both classical and secular music appropriate to the season. As in last year's concert, there will be some presentations of PDQ Bach's music.

The Asheville Gay Men's Chorus is in its fourth season and has performed in the Asheville area at Warren Wilson College, All Souls Parish, St. James Episcopal Church, the Unitarian Universalist Church, and Asheville Middle School.

The chorus is a member of GALA, which is a national organization of Gay and Lesbian choruses across the nation and which sponsors annual festivals. Charlotte, the only other city in North Carolina to support a similar chorus, has a mixed chorus of men and women.

For more information, call Ron Lambe: 252-0643; 258-8737 (day); or Bruce Cook: 274-9122. ▽

May I Have This Dance?

Asheville was wild with country-western dance the weekend of October 16-18 for Autumn Fest '92, and we hope you all had a chance to take a twirl or two around the floor (if you could find room!)

But if you felt a little left out because you didn't know all the dances, you've got a year to get ready for Autumn Fest '93 and a lot of opportunities to try your feet at country-western dance.

Southern Country Asheville offers free dance lessons--two-step, line dances, fancy couple dances--every Wednesday evening at Scandals, beginning at 8 p.m. And every Saturday evening, beginning about 9:30, western dancing is featured at O. Henry's.

So pull on your boots and get out on the floor. You have no excuse!
