

Larry H. Staples, extreme left, vice president and general manager of the Ecusta Paper Division, was host to the Rauville plant employees at Camp Straus. In foreground are Clayton Winge, Rod Zemlicka, Bob Grewing and Ernie Lord. Others left to right at rear include David Robertson, Fletcher Roberts, Robert Hillmann, Robert Masengill and Dr. Vasant D. Chapnerkar.

Rauville Plant Sets Record TRIP TO MOUNTAINS FOR THREE IS REWARD FOR PRODUCTION GAIN

From the ranges of North Carolina mountains to the halls of famed Biltmore House, three men from the Ecusta Paper Division's flax processing plant near Watertown were vacationing on company time recently while visiting headquarters at Pisgah Forest.

Bob Grewing, Clayton Winge and Rod Zemlicka were winners of the trip promised by Ecusta's Director of Production, Frank McGibboney, if each of the three shifts met his challenge of a new production goal. Each shift did so, and chose its representative by a drawing of names. The three men were accompanied to Pisgah Forest by Ernie Lord, plant superintendent.

Marshall W. Dawson, Jr., operations manager of the facility at Rauville, said that a new plant production record was established during the month of the challenge goal.

"They really loved their trip to Pisgah Forest, and were impressed by the friendliness of all the people they met," Dawson said.

High light of their trip was a

Helen Merrell, secretary to Ecusta's Director of Production, escorted the visitors from the Rauville flax decorticating plant on their trip to Biltmore House constructed by the late

George Vanderbilt. Pictured at the entrance to the mansion with Mrs. Merrell are, left to right, Clayton Winge, Rod Zemlicka and Bob Grewing.

