bration to a resoundingly successful conclusion. Throughout the long stages of conception and reality, the two of you and all other Olin participants continued at your regular jobs. This was done in the tradition of those who two centuries ago also struggled against adversity to bring to reality their concept of a free and independent democracy.

I am proud of the Olin employees who contributed wholeheartedly and effectively to the overall success of the Transylvania County Bicentennial celebration. My congratulations and thanks go to all for a great job well done. I am also pleased that Olin had a small part to play in it.

Sincerely,
 Garza Baldwin, Jr.
