

Girls' Glee Club Presents Musical Program To Clubs

"Music, when soft voices die,
Vibrates in the memory—
Odors, when sweet violets sicken,
Live within the sense they quicken."
—Shelley

The girls' glee club presented an interesting musical program to the Woman's Club at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, February 7, and at 7 o'clock they presented another program before the Kiwanis Club. Roxboro High feels justly proud of the girls' glee club and wishes them success. Come on, boys, you have a long road to travel, but we haven't given up hope.

The program for the Woman's Club was as follows:

Amaryllis—Henri Ghys; Waltz in A—Brahms; Music When Soft Voices Die—W. Kramer; Glee Club.

Lullaby—Noble Cain; trio (Margaret Mills, Annie Laurie Day, Eloise Newell).

Largo—Handel; soprano soloist, Annie Laurie Day.

My Song—Ira B. Wilson; Glee Club.

Program for Kiwanis Club:
Amaryllis—Henri Ghys; Waltz in A—Brahms; All Through the Night—Welsh Folk Song; Glee Club.

Trio, Lullaby—Noble Cain; Margaret Mills, Annie L. Day, Eloise Newell.

Prayer—Humperdinck; Largo—Handel; Music When Soft Voices Die—Kramer; My Song—Ira B. Wilson; Glee Club.

Magistrate: "What is this man charged with?"

Officer: "Bigotry, your honor, he's got three wives."

"Your father is an old crank," said the youth who had been told by her father that it was time to go. Her father overheard the remark. "A crank is necessary in case of the lack of a self-starter," he retorted.

Grade Mothers Entertain At Banquet

The grade mothers of the senior class acting as hostesses, entertained the senior class, Miss Bowers, Mrs. A. F. Nichols, and Mr. J. W. Gaddy, Mr. Donald Dunlop, the Kinston basketball team and their coach, at a banquet Saturday night in the community house. A three course dinner was served, with the scheme of George Washington's birthday being carried out. Marion Bradsher, Louise Walker, Jessie Mary Wilson, Helen Hall, and Peggy Brooks, dressed in Martha Washington costumes, served the dinner.

We were glad to have the Kinston basketball team with us, although they did defeat us by one point. After the dinner was served, all enjoyed a social hour, with games directed by Miss Ruth Newton, and to pass an examination without doing any mental work at all.

Other high schools have student government, and have made it a success. Roxboro high school can do the same, but we must have the cooperation of every pupil and every teacher to make it a success.

Student government does not have as its aim, to establish a group of people to tattle on others, neither does it promote a "bossy" spirit. Its purpose is for all to show disapproval of anything that isn't what it should be on every class, throughout the building, and on the campus.

Every student should be proud of his school and want to see it appear then departed, expressing a most enjoyable time.

Roxboro Cotton Mills

Established in 1899. Among the first few businesses now functioning in Roxboro. Our effort has been directed towards fostering the right spirit between employer and employee and encouraging the best things of the community.

The Roxboro Courier

Established 1881—Under Same Management 54 Years

If we have had any success it has been due to the fact that we have tried to publish a newspaper which could be read in any home, which gave the news of the County without bias or prejudice. In short, we have tried to publish a real newspaper, which meant something to each individual reader, the County, the Town, and the State.

This policy shall continue to rule in this shop, and when we have to deviate from such a policy The Courier will be for sale. Help us to make it a better paper that it may serve in a larger way.

Coca-Cola Bottling Works

O. B. McBroom, Owner

The above business was begun in January, 1910, by W. E. Osteen, under the name of Roxboro Bottling Works. The present owner assumed management February of the same year, and has managed the business for the past 28 years. At that time Lemon, Orange, Cherry, Strawberry, Root Beer, and Ginger Ale were being bottled. In August, 1911, a contract was secured to bottle Coca-Cola, in addition to the above flavors.

The business was done mostly on credit and without deposit on case and bottles until 1916, when it went on a cash basis, and in 1919 the name was changed to the Coca-Cola Bottling Works. In 1927 all flavors were discontinued with the exception of Coca-Cola, which has been bottled exclusively since then.

For the past 20 years the business has been conducted strictly on a cash basis with a deposit on case and bottles, and all customers, both big and little, are treated as nearly alike as possible.

Industrial Arts Has A Definite Place In School Curriculum

It is an incidental part of the course being taught. There are two classes taught a day, each lasting three hours.

Problems made in the shop range from what-nots to garages. Some of the problems made this year are book shelves, magazine racks, foot stools, plant stands, tool boxes, and tables, as a leader of high schools.

Miss Bowers has started student government in her sixth period study hall, and although a small seed planted, we hope to see it grow into an organization that will mean a great deal to our school.

The members of the Council are as follows: Ann Brewer, Helen Hall, Earl Wade, Evelyn Long, Lewis Adams, Clyde Whitt, Merritt Foushee, Nellie Pleasants, Nancy Broks.

We are asking for your cooperation and hope that every teacher and every pupil of the Roxboro High will gladly and willingly help us to make student government a great success.

The Peoples Bank was organized by James A. Long, Sr., Alex R. Foushee, W. P. Yancey, Joe Younger, C. B. Brooks, Lee H. Battle, M. S. Jones, J. S. Carr, R. Taylor Gleaves, James Shanks Merritt, George M. Jones.

All sound business men who had an ambition to give the people of this section a bank that would meet the needs and requirements of the people.

All of these men have passed on, but this bank stands ready now as in days gone by to offer to all the proper banking facilities. It is anxious to serve you and offers you everything that you need consistent with sound banking principles.

ROXBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

An orphan, at the age of 14 years, I came to Roxboro in 1888, from Wooddale, my old home, a village seven miles north of Roxboro, named for my grandfather, who settled there something over 100 years ago.

During the first ten years of my life in Roxboro, I attended school and worked for the firms of C. H. Hunter and W. J. Johnson & Company, both of whom were in the grocery business.

In 1901 I went into the grocery business for myself, in a small building where the First National Bank building now stands. I later moved to the Merritt building, now occupied by Pender's store, and operated there until the growing need for more space caused me to erect the building I now occupy, in 1921.

For the last 47 years I have served the people of Roxboro and Person County in the capacity of Grocer and Seed Merchant, and for the past 37 years have operated my own business, under the policy of "Square dealings to my fellow man, regardless of race, or creed," and I am deeply grateful to those of the past and present who gave, and are giving me, their patronage and support. I believe that "Courtesy" pays the highest dividends, and costs nothing, and you are always assured of a courteous reception by me and my sons when you visit this establishment.

Prior to the opening of the Princess Theatre on January 28, 1918, Roxboro had been without a theatre for about eighteen months. The Princess was located in the building now occupied by the Carolina Power and Light Company, and boasted 250 seats—quite a large theatre for Roxboro in those days, with its population of approximately 1,600.

On October 24, 1924, the new Palace Theatre opened in its present location. The seating capacity of this theatre more than doubled that of the old Princess. It also had a balcony, which was later divided to provide a place for colored patrons.

On April 9, 1935, the Dolly Madison, with a seating capacity of 335, was opened in order to accommodate the rapidly increasing population of Roxboro. Already it has become necessary to increase the seating capacity of the Dolly Madison, and plans have been completed by the architect for a balcony to be added in the near future.

During the twenty years that we have been in the theatre business, it has been our aim to give theatre-goers of Roxboro the very best in entertainment. From time to time, welcome and helpful suggestions have been made by our patrons, which have proven valuable to us in our effort to improve the courteous and efficient service it has always been our policy to render.

Roxboro Senior Injured In Motor Glide Crash

Louise Dickens, one of our attractive senior girls, was leisurely riding down the road after school, when she found herself near a team of frightened mules.

Thinking it safer to go to the edge of the road, she turned her bike in that direction, but the shoulder of the road was soft causing her to be thrown to pavement. She received several cuts about her face that necessitated the attention of a doctor.
