The Children's Photograph.

Some of the Sunday-schools have requested us to send them the photographs of the children that they are supporting, and some ask for an enlarged one to hang up in the Sunday-school room. They to bear the expense.

We are always glad to comply with this request. It costs seventy-five cents to have the pictures taken, and some three dollars to have it enlarged and framed, or three dollars and a half to have the picture taken, enlarged and framed. Those schools that have tried it, like it.

We have some promised out, which we will fulfill soon.

Our Orphanage School.

Our school opened Monday, March 2nd inst. Miss Lucy was on hand in good time and took the reins with "prenticed hand," and things are moving along nicely. The children are taking to her naturally. Heretofore they have been attending the city graded schools. But it was so far off our little boys and girls to walk, and so hard to get them to school in time. Professor Moses, the Superintendent, and the Lady Principals and teachers, were all uniformly good and kind to our fatherless ones, and the children made good progress. The Superintendent dropped a note to the Lady Principal of the Wiley School informing her of the proposed change, expressing his appreciation of the work done for us in the Wiley School. The following note was received from her, which we hope she will pardon us for inserting here. We were so grateful for it.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 27, 1903.

Mr. J. W. Jenkins—

Dear Sir:—I thank you for your kind note, and the good will expressed in it.

It has been a real pleasure to have the children. They are well behaved and diligent. All their teachers speak well of them and are sorry to give them up. It is better to have them taught at the Orphanage for many reasons. I am glad we will keep George.

Please say to Miss Reeks that we will be glad to have her visit the school and talk with the teachers about the children's work. We will be glad to have her attend our teachers' meetings also. We find that Mr. Moses gives us many good suggestions.

I am very much interested in the children, and promise myself the pleasure of making them a visit soon.

With best wishes,

E. A. POOL.

Punctuality is the soul of business as brevity is of wit.

The grace of courtesy is not the least of life's charms. Nowhere should it grow richer than in the Church of Christ. A smile a handshake, a kindly spoken greeting, the sharing of a hymn book, invitation to a seat, such little things as these have often gladdened an overburdened heart, led a life nearer to Christ and been the "cup of cold water" delighting the heart of the master, brightening the life of the recipient and making the soul of the giver glow with a consciousness of having helped the Christ in His ministry of love to men.—Charles H. Moss.
