

initiation a banquet was held by the members. The old members of the organization are: Miss Fannie Vann, of Clinton, N. C.; Miss Janie Couch, of Farmville, Va. Miss Willietta Evans, of Tyner, N. C.

Mr. A. R. Anderson, of Statesville, N. C., has recently been elected captain of the Senior Class basketball team. Practice in this form of athletics has begun and the season promises to be an interesting one in the popular game.

Dr. William H. Glasson, of the department of economics and political science, delivered a lecture before the members of the Commonwealth Club of Durham last Friday evening. The subject was: "The Commission Form of Government." This formed the second of a series of addresses which the club has arranged for the winter. The first was delivered by Dr. W. T. Laprade, of the department of history, in September.

Arrangements have been made for the first handicap track meet ever held here, Friday afternoon, on the new athletic field. The purpose of it is to lend interest to the form of athletics and to encourage effort in track work. It promises to be an interesting event.

The first number of the Archive, Trinity's monthly magazine, is from the press and its table of contents shows an interesting and creditable issue. The publication, now in its twenty-eighth year, is edited by Mr. William I. Wooten, of Raleigh, N. C., and managed by Mr. W. H. Morgan, of Washington, N. C. Other members of the staff are: John W. Carr, Jr., Associate Editor-in-chief; E. R. Sikes and Miss Fannie Vann, Literary editors; S. L. Gullede, Alumni Editor; B. F. Few, Wayside Wares; and A. R. Anderson, Editor's Table.

The table of contents for the October number is: "Rosa Dulcissima," (poem), D. L. Edwards; Monsieur Beaupot, (story), L. W. Powell; The Shield of Calixtus (story), E. W. McCullers; An Allegory, (Poem), E. Lester Culbreth; America and Evangelism (oration), E. C. Durham; Beneath the Surface (story), Mary A. Berry; A Sonnet, F. A. R.; Anne's Career (story), Lucile Bullard; The Spirit of Fellowship at Trinity College, W. K. Carr; My Rosary (poem), B. D. McCubbins; Wild Noises I Have Known, R. A. Stamey; La Tomb dit a la Rose (translation), J. W. Carr, Jr.; The Lion of Janina, (translation from Modern Greek), Theogenis Kaikdjoghlu.

In a brief, informal, but very forceful talk to the students at the regular chapel exercises at Trinity College recently President William P. Few urged members of all classes not yet members "to consider with great care and earnestness" the importance of actively identifying with one of the three literary organizations of the institution. "Education, cultivation, and culture," he declared, "are not matters of mere acquisition. Self expression, through effective public speaking, or through the high and fine art of writing," or in some other way is the thing to develop and to cultivate. "To speak or to write with distinction is an art that each and every one of you should seek to acquire." President Few predicted that students who neglect the excellent opportunities which Trinity students have to develop themselves in these ways would have regret at this point.

The remarks of President Few were particularly timely and appropriate. There are three literary organizations in the College, the Columbian and Hesperian for men, and the Athena for the women students. The Columbian and Hesperian societies hold weekly meetings, and two meetings a month are held by the other organizations. Membership in these societies is purely voluntary; but most of the students belong to one of them. They have splendidly arranged halls in the East Duke Building, modeled after the chambers of Congress in the National Capitol. The societies have records of creditable achievement and serve a very valuable purpose in the life of the College.

AN ACT TO PROHIBIT THE POSSESSION AND DELIVERY OF INTOICATING LIQUORS.

Whereas exact scientific research has demonstrated that alcohol is a narcotic poison, destructive and degenerating to the human organism, and that its distribution as a beverage lays a staggering economic burden upon the shoulders of the people, lowers to an appalling degree the average standard of character of our citizenship, thereby undermining the public morals and the foundation of free institutions, produces wide-spread crime, pauperism, and insanity, inflicts disease and untimely death upon hundreds of thousands of citizens and blights with degeneracy their children unborn, threatening the future integrity and the very life of the State: Therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section I. That, except as otherwise provided in this act, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, or any agent, officer, or employe thereof, to receive or be in possession of any spirituous, vinous, fermented or malt liquors or intoxicating bitters, within the State of North Carolina, for his, hers, theirs or its own use, or for the use of any other person, firm, or corporation. Provided, that this shall not apply to a person in possession of liquor obtained on a physician's prescription for medicinal purposes.

Section II. That, except as otherwise provided in this act, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, or any agent, officer, or employe thereof, to ship, transport, carry or deliver, in any manner or by any means whatsoever, for hire or otherwise, any spirituous, vinous, fermented or malt liquors or intoxicating bitters, from a point within or without this State, to any person, firm, or corporation, or any agent, or employe, thereof, in this State.,

Section III. That legalized medical depositories, licensed and registered pharmacists, and hospitals may obtain and keep in stock spirituous, vinous, fermented or malt liquors, or intoxicating bitters, in the manner and in the quantities hereinafter prescribed, for sale or supply upon the written prescription of a regularly licensed and actively practicing physician or surgeon, as now provided by law.

Section IV. That any legalized medical depository, pharmacist or hospital, through the owner, managing agent or superintendent thereof, may make written application to the Register of Deeds of the county in which such depository, pharmacy or hospital is situated for a permit to obtain and receive by transportation and delivery by common carrier at such depository, pharmacy or hospital an amount not exceeding twenty gallons of spirituous, twenty-five gallons of vinous, and fifty gallons of malt liquors. Such application shall be in the form of an affidavit, containing the name and address of the depository, pharmacy, or hospital, by or for which the application is made and to which the shipment is to be transported and delivered; the name of the person, firm or corporation from whom said shipment is to be ordered; the place from which said shipment is to be made; and shall also state that the applicant has no more in stock at the time of making the application than ten per cent of the above stated amounts, and that no owner, part owner, officer, stockholder, agent or employe of such depository, or hospital has been convicted or confessed guilt of any violation of the laws of this or of any other State relating to intoxicating liquors.

Section V. That upon the filing of such an application, duly verified before any officer authorized by the laws of North Carolina to administer oaths, the Register of Deeds shall issue a permit for the shipment and transportation of the liquor in the kinds and quantities stated in the application, which permit shall be either printed or plainly written or typewritten on stout paper, in the following form:

State of North Carolina, County of.....
.....(name of depository, pharmacy or hospital), of.....
(give full address, with street and number, if such), is hereby permitted to receive by common carrier, shipped from..... (name and address of shipper), intoxicating liquor, to-wit:(insert kinds and quantities not exceeding the quantity or quantities stated in the application.)

This permit is void and no delivery can be made thereunder after thirty days from date of issue.

Dated thisday of.....
19....

Register of Deeds.

Not more than one such permit shall be issued to the same applicant for the same place of business or institution within one calendar month.

Section VI. A permit, issued as above, when attached to and plainly affixed in a conspicuous place to any package or parcel containing intoxicating liquor transported with this State, shall authorize any common carrier within the State to transport the package or parcel to which such permit is attached or affixed, containing only the liquor or liquors mentioned in said permit, and to deliver the same to the depository, pharmacy, or hospital to which such permit was issued.

Section VII. That the Register of Deeds, in a book to be furnished by the County Commissioners, shall copy all such applications in the order in which they are filed in his office, and shall make an entry immediately following each application showing the date of the permit issued thereon and the person to whom permit was delivered, which said book shall be open for inspection to any officer or citizen of the State any time during business hours of the office of the Register of Deeds, and said book shall constitute prima facie evidence of the facts therein and will be admissible in any of the courts of this State. And for his services in recording an application and issuing a permit, the Register of Deeds shall be entitled to a fee of two dollars, to be paid by the applicant.

Section VIII. That any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section IX. That all laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Section X. That this act shall take effect on the first day of April, 1915.

OCTOBER SOUTH ATLANTIC QUARTERLY.

The October number of the South Atlantic Quarterly possesses an element of timeliness in its two articles on the topic of war. The leading article is by Dr. Roland Hugins, of Cornell University, who writes on the subject: "The Eugenic Judgment of War." This article is a very interesting discussion of the effect of war upon the breed of men. Particular attention is given to the charge of the advocates of peace that war has been in the past the greatest cause of physical and mental deterioration to the human race. Professor William Thomas Laprade, of Trinity College, contributes an able historical review of the causes that have led up to the present European war. His article deals with both the fundamental causes and the immediate causes and the immediate occasion of the great conflict.

Max J. Herzberg, of Columbia University, and the Newark High School, contributes a well written study of "Thomas Jefferson as a Man of Letters." George A. Wood, of the Graduate College of Princeton University, contributes the results of some of his studies in the history of Reconstruction in a paper on "The Black Code of Alabama." The second installment of Professor W. K. Boyd's study of the "Finances of the North Carolina Literary Fund" appears in this number. This article will be of much interest to those who are interested in the financial and educational history of the State. The history of education in the South is the subject of a valuable paper by Dr. Edgar W. Knight, of the Trinity College School of Education. The title of his article is "Some Fallacies Concerning the History of Public Education in the South." Dr. Knight shows that much more progress has been made in common school education in the South before the Civil War than has been generally recognized in writings on the subject. The last article entitled "Is American Literature Read and Respected in Europe?" is by Mr. H. Houston Peckham, of Purdue University. Mr. Peckham shows that some of the leading American writers have enjoyed a considerable popularity in Europe.
