

Methodist Orphanage

A. S. BARNES, Superintendent.
MRS. MATTIE JENKINS, Matron.

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post-office, or Express Money Order, or Registered Letter.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

I give and bequeath to the Methodist Orphanage situated at Raleigh, N. C., (Here designate the bequest.).....

Our friends are beginning to respond to our crockery appeal. Three individuals have very kindly sent me their checks to help on this worthy object. The last to send check for five dollars was Sister S. J. Hunter Manly, N. C. We are in the receptive mood, and we are looking to YOU kind friend for your assistance. Send me your check and let me give you credit in next week's Advocate. The Missionary Societies, Sunday-schools and Epworth Leagues will be heard from by the time I secure two more individual subscriptions.

On the third Sunday I had the privilege of spending the day with my Orphanage family. At the eleven o'clock hour I preached to the graduating class of twenty-two fine young men and ladies. Most of these young folks are going to try to go through college. That was an unselfish, Christ-like deed for one of the best families in Wilson to write me that they would give one hundred dollars toward paying the expenses of one of our orphan girls at college next fall. This is not the first time Brother C. E. Kersey has shown his interest in our Orphanage.

Soon after assuming the duties of Superintendent of the Orphanage I fully realized that I could not meet the demands as Conference Missionary Secretary with the additional responsibility of the Orphanage. In March I resigned as Missionary Secretary and Bishop Kilgo has put a man in my place who is in every way peculiarly fitted for this responsible position. Under the wise and enthusiastic leadership of Rev. N. H. D. Wilson I confidently expect to see the great missionary interest of our church make great strides forward.

Looking over the list of donations for last summer I noticed that friends had sent several crates of chickens to the Orphanage. Our children are getting very hungry to gnaw a few chicken bones. In our country churches we have some good men and women who could speak to several neighbors about giving us a chicken or two. It would not take long to secure a box or crate in this way, and they would be so much appreciated by us. Suppose YOU take this suggestion, and we will enjoy that fine crate or box of chickens some of these Sundays while you are eating yours at home.

The Presiding Elder of the Raleigh District is making full proof of his ministry. He is on the go most of the time. Last Sunday he preached four times and rode thirty or forty miles. His sermon Sunday night at the Orphanage was of high order. He has impressed the preachers and laymen of the Raleigh District as a wise, progressive leader. Sometime ago I was present at one of his quarterly conferences, and there was not a dull minute during the entire session. I have said to several friends that it was the best planned and conducted quarterly conference I ever attended, and I have been present at some mighty interesting ones.

If any one remains modest under blame, be assured he is so.—Jean Paul.

The moral law is not a code which God might have made other than what it is, it is His own moral nature thrown into a shape which makes it applicable and intelligible to us His creatures; and therefore in violating it we are opposing not something which He has made, but might have made otherwise, but Himself.—Selected.

Wesleyan College

Macon, Georgia

Founded in 1836. Graduated its First Class in 1840 Seventy-nine Years of Eminent Success. Ranks Easily With the Best Colleges in the Country.

THE WESLEYAN, an 'A' grade college in the truest sense offers courses in the languages, literature, mathematics, the sciences, philosophy, education, history and economics, household arts and sciences, the Bible and religious education. The full four years of college work are credited by the best universities. Excellent equipment and a large faculty afford ample opportunity for election of preferred branches of study.

While supreme emphasis is laid upon the courses leading to the Bachelor's degree, the strongest possible departments of music, art and expression are maintained.

Fourteen eminent American artists and teachers are employed in the Conservatory of Music. The three men at the head of the department of piano, voice and pipe organ respectively, are unsurpassed on the continent, while the violin teacher is easily the South's greatest.

The departments of expression, painting and drawing and china painting are in charge of several teachers of rare qualifications.

The situation of Wesleyan is ideal, its health record practically perfect, its social and moral atmosphere delightful.

The Wesleyan diploma is the highest academic honor. The thousands of alumnae are leaders everywhere and in every realm of woman's influence.
