Explanation of Ruling Affecting Rural Schools.

The compulsory attendance law requires that all children in each district between the ages of 8 and 12 attend school for a term of four months, beginning with the regular session. This will be construed to mean to begin with the public school term, which is the regular five months' term in the county. Such public school term will begin on the fourth Monday in October, the first, second, or third Monday in November. It is left with the local committee to say on which of these dates the school shall open. In local tax districts, in which the school has already opened, or will open before the fourth Monday in October, the compulsory term will begin on any of the above dates which the committee deem advisable.

North Carolinian Charged With Murder in New York.

A New York Dispatch of the 15th, to Raleigh News and Observer says that Gordon C. Johnson, 30 years old, salesman from Wilmington, N. C., is under arrest in New York, accused of throwing a large stone at Peter Foy, watchman of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, causing his death.

Foy ordered Johnson off the cathedral grounds early in the morning and hearing a noise at 2:30 a. m. went to investigate and was struck on the head by a large stone, falling unconscious. Johnson was later found in the shrubbery. When arrested he declared his innocence, but when brought before Foy in the hospital to be identified, Foy said, "That's the man that threw the stone." He then lapsed into unconsciousness and died.

AN OFFER TO BRYAN.

Secretary of State Disgraces New York World—Will Pay Him to Stay On the Job.

The New York World has full account of the appearance of Hon. W. J. Bryan at Staunton, Va., last week, when he spoke to a big crowd at a Chautauqua gathering raking off something like $400 for the one speech. The Secretary of State made his appearance as a "filler in," coming between a vaudeville troupe and some "movies," the whole performance so disgusting that the World printed alongside the news story the following offer:

"William J. Bryan's salary as Secretary of State is $12,000 a year. He has justified his activities as a lecturer by the statement that to meet his ordinary expenses without encroaching upon his personal fortune he must have an income of not less than $20,000 a year. He is willing to forego accumulation during his period of public service, but he resents the idea that there should be any sacrifice on his part while he is honored by high official preferment.

To meet the increase in the school this year two new boardings, halls have been opened, and another will be opened at Christmas. Students are allowed to enter here the first of each month, and new classes are formed to suit their needs, hence, the school is increasing all the time during the year.

In addition to all parts of North Carolina students are here from South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Cuba, &c.

Good Roads for the Good Crops.

Mr. R. N. Looper of Granite Falls gave us a call last Thursday. He was on his way home from Statesville, where he had been to sell a load of tobacco. He tells us that his load of about 1,000 pounds sold at an average of 21 cents a pound. He also tells us that his corn and tobacco crops are all good and that he will average 75 bushels of corn to the acre. He says that all Alexander needs is good roads to bring her to the front with the surrounding counties.—Taylorsville Scout.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look Mother! If Tongue is Coated, cleanse Little Bowels With "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, has bad sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, they give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Priest and Murderer.

The life of the Catholic priest Hans Schmidt, as revealed since his self-conviction of murder constitutes an example of double personality as perhaps the world has ever known. Here is a Jekyll and Hyde in the flesh, by a day a minister of God and by night a street libertine and potential murderer whose extraordinary contradictions of character outdo the original of Robert Louis Stevenson's fancy.

How did such a man get into the Church, and once there, how did he remain undetected? The question confronted the Protestant ministry in Richeson rears anew and with added emphasis in the case of Schmidt, who celebrated mass, heard confessions and performed marriages all the while his soul was steeped in guilt that was to culminate in a worst of crimes.

The false priest, it now develops, had a bad record previous to and after his arrival in this country. The bishop of Mainz has suspended him. He had been tried on charges of fraud in Munich, and Bishop McPaul three years ago summarily banished him from the Trent diocese. Yet he continued to exercise his sacred calling until exposed by the crime that put the city's whole detective force on his trail.

Bishop E. E. Hoss Sees No Sin in Tobacco.

Bishop E. E. Hoss of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, sent a letter to the Rev. C. H. Hawkins, presiding elder of the St. Louis district, explaining his views on the use of tobacco. The letter was brought forth by published excerpts from an address by the Bishop at the Missouri conference last week, in which he was quoted as saying that no minister who was a gentleman would use tobacco. The letter to Mr. Hawkins says in part: "I did not bring up the subject of tobacco myself, but it came before the conference in a memorial to the approaching general conference, asking it to make the non-use of tobacco a condition of entrance into our ministry. Personally, I am not in favor of such legislation, and I took occasion to say: "To make the use of tobacco a sin is to grade down the general conception of sin until people lose sight of its enormity. Smoking a cigar is a question of expediency. Ministers are very frequently entertained in houses where tobacco is offensive, and under such circumstances no gentleman will use it."

Southern Mills Now Consume Most Cotton.

Henry Grady's prediction of 50 years ago that the south would some day be the world's center of cotton manufacturing, as it always was at cotton production, is being fulfilled. In 1893 the northern mills took 1,687,286 bales, the Southern factories less than half as much, 743,848. In the twelve months ending September 1 last the Southern mills took 2,969,579 bales to the northern mills' 2,488,377. North Carolina leads in number of factories, South Carolina in output. While most of the finer goods are still manufactured in New England, there is a steady movement of the cotton factories toward the cotton fields.—Baltimore Sun.

A WOMAN'S WORK sometimes reduces her strength to the depths of weakness—her devotion to household cares prevents sufficient rest and recreation. Thousands of women in this condition find Scott's Emulsion exactly what they need; it is a predigested body-food so medically perfected that every drop yields direct energy in strengthening the organs and tissues and in making healthy, invigorating blood. Scott's Emulsion is the best evidence he says, he has yet had that the real nature of his services to the county is becoming better understood. He tells us that 185 bushels of crimson clover have been bought the last few weeks by Catawba farmers for sowing and ten carloads of lime have already been shipped to the county for use on farm lands.—Newton Enterprise.
