(Special Star Correspondence.) Raleigh, N. C. Feb. 21.-Attorney General Bickett has passed upon a question of no little importance, as it involves the matter of taxation of church property. The case came up from Newbern and the attorney general gives his opinion that real estate owned by a church and rented, the rents being applied exclusively to religious and charitable uses, is exempt from taxation.

The particular case came up on account of a provision of the will of the late E. M. Forbes, of Craven county who devised all his property to the trustees of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of East Carolina. There was
