REACTION IN COTTON MARKET

Rumors of War and Labor Troubles Tended to Inspire Selling on a Declining prices were 3 or 4 points up from the lowtone was barely steady. The net change for the day was a decline of 3 points to an advance of 2 points, with the active months unchanged to 3 points low-

The market opened firm at an advance of 369 points, and active opposition 6610 points above the closing figures of last night, immediately following the call on overnight buying orders, many of which were supposed to reflect fresh business attracted by the strength of yesterday, continued support from leading spot people, and covering of shorts. The firm showing of the Livernool street market people. of the Liverpool spot market probably en-couraged the initial advance which car-ried prices approximately sixty points above the low records of last month, but around 9.10 for January and 9.38 for May, offerings became very heavy. There was offerings became very heavy. There was not only realizing by recent buyers for a turn, but there seemed to be a renewal of Southern selling, while there was also re-selling by local bears who had recently taken profits, and although offerings were pretty well absorbed on a scale down, the market worked gradually lower. Private cables from Liverpool, reporting that the consultation between master spinners and Laucashire operations had been adjourned without results, advices from Italy claim ing that the war was seriously interfering with export business, rumors of bearish ginning figures, and reports of freer spot offerings in the interior, all tended to inspire selling on the decline, and the market at one time during the afternoon showed a net loss of from 4 to 6 points. Renewed support from leading bull interests checked the break around 8.07 for January and 9.24 for May, with last prices a shade up from the lowest on covering. Memphis wires reported that returns to the National Ginners' Association indicated 14.370,000 bales of cotton ginned to January 1. This, it was said, suggested a ing that the war was seriously interfering mary 1. This, it was said, suggested bigger ginning for the last period than the average for the past six years, and in con nection with the talk of increased spot of ferings, probably accounted largely for ferings, probably accounted largely for the afternoon decline.

The man who rocks the boat never does mean to drown the people who are in it. More often than not, however, he does. The young man in Florence county who undertook to amuse himself the other day by taking the shot out of loaded shells and firing the powder from a shotgun at some little children to frighten them did not mean-to kill the baby who was struck by one of the pieces of wadding, but he did kill it. He was in Florence jail yesterday, and that is precisely where he deserved to be. No doubt, he is overcome with horror and remorse for what he has done, he should be, certainly; but his grief cannot mend mat-ters and if the facts are as they have been represented it should not beget for him now or later any sickly sympathy. The man who imperils the lives of others by trifling with that which he should know to be dangerous ought to be made to suffer more than mental anguish,—Charleston News and Courier.
