BULGARS' VICTORY LIKELY ENDS WAR

Battle in Thrace Ends With Complete Defeat of Great Turkish Army.

CONSTANTINOPLE HELPLESS

Ottoman Capital Is At the Mercy of Invading Hosts and Turkey Is Preparing to Sue for Peace

London, Oct. 31.—A four-days battle in Thrace has ended in the triumph of the Bulgarian commander-in-chief, General Savoff, whose skillful strategy has probably brought to a close one of the shortest and most remarkable wars on record.

The great Turkish army, estimated at over 200,000 men, has been defeated and is retreating. Constantinople is believed to be at the mercy of the victorious Bulgarian army and a council, sitting at the Porte, is discussing the advisability of suing for peace.

Such is the news which comes from Constantinople. It is only a fortnight since Turkey declared war. The first week of the campaign closed with the dramatic fall of Kirk-Kilisseh, fully revealing for the first time the disorganization, bad morale and inefficient commissariat of the Turkish army.

Today that army is defeated, routed within 50 miles from Constantinople and possibly its retreat within the capital's life of defenses is cut off.

Only the briefest and vaguest accounts of the great battle have yet been received, but the war has been especially remarkable, in that not a single war correspondent has been allowed at the front except in the case of the little Montenegrin campaign against Scutari.

Thus no independent personal narratives of the absorbing events have been possible, and the world has had to depend on biased official accounts provided by the respective governments or confused details supplied by wounded soldiers.

Apparently Nazim Pasha has been completely outmaneuvered by Savoff's skill. The Bulgarian turning movement along the Black Sea coast now appears to have been a feint, which induced the Turkish commander to throw his main army to the eastward, to such effect that the Bulgarian forces on this side had the greatest difficulty in holding the Turks in check. In fact, this point seems a little in doubt. The Bulgarians gave away and thus enabled Nazim Pasha to report to Constantinople some success in this direction.

In the meantime, however, General Savoff hurled his great strength against the Turkish weakness in the west, which he crushed in Luleburgaz. The fighting along the whole front, which evidently has been of the most stubborn and determined character, was carried on day and night, without intermission, and both sides lost heavily.

The capture of Nazim Pasha's headquarters at Teheriu, to which town the defeated Turks retreated, has not as yet been reported, but is hourly expected at Sofia. In this event, the Turks will be forced within the defensive lines of Tchatalja, the only remaining fortified position protecting Constantinople. It lies 25 miles to the northwest of the capital. Adrianople still holds out, but has lost its importance now that the Turks have met their Sedan at Luleburgaz.

It is believed that the settlement will be arranged either by the Porte suing for peace, or through intervention. An interesting question involving difficult diplomatic problems, will immediately arise as to the division of the spoils of war—a question concerning not only the victorious allies, but also Russia, Austria, Roumania, and possibly other powers.

The campaign of the other Balkan States continues with the success which throughout has attended them. Scutari has not yet been captured, but Ipeka has fallen to the Montenegrins. The Servians have taken Prirend, and Greece is occupying the islands in the Aegean, in addition to various towns in Macedonia.

The powers, fearing disorders and massacres in Turkey, are hurrying warships to the various ports of the country to protect foreign residents. A noticeable feature of the war is the insignificant parts played by the Turkish and Greek fleets.

Turkish Ministers Discuss Peace Constantinople, Nov. 1, 1 A. M.—Serious news has been received from the front. The Council of Ministers is still sitting at the Porte. It is believed that the ministers are discussing the question of concluding peace with the Balkan States.

A NATION MOURNS LOSS OF SHERMAN

Funeral of Late Vice-President Will be Held Saturday at 2 P. M.

CEREMONIES WILL BE SIMPLE

President Taft, Senate and Many Dignitaries Will Attend—Business to be Suspended—Political Activity Ceases.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Arrangements for the funeral of Vice President James S. Sherman were completed today. The services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church and will be attended by President Taft and members of his cabinet, Senators and Representatives, foreign diplomats and Governors.

It was at first announced that the obsequies would be held in Christ Church, of which Mr. Sherman was a member, but as this edifice seats only about 700 persons and it was realized it would be too small to hold the throng that would desire to pay tribute of respect to the dead, the plans were changed when the Rev. Ralph W. Brokaw offered the use of the Presbyterian church, which has a seating capacity of more than 3,000.

The Rev. Louis H. Holden, Mr. Sherman's pastor, will conduct the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. M. W. Stryker, president of Hamilton College and the Rev. Dr. Brokaw, pastor of the Presbyterian church. An hour before the services there will be a private service for members of the family at the Sherman residence.

The body of the Vice President will lie in state from 3 P. M. to 9 P. M. tomorrow in the rotunda of the county building to permit the citizens of Utica to take a last look at their distinguished fellow townsman. With an escort of citizens, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations with which Mr. Sherman was identified, the body will be taken to the Sherman home tomorrow afternoon and conveyed to the county building where it will rest upon a catafalque. The local military companies will furnish a guard of honor while the body is lying in state.

At 9 o'clock a cortege will form and the body will be returned to the Sherman home.

The county building has been draped in emblems of mourning and flags, as have many of the business houses of the city. Business practically will be suspended during the funeral services Saturday.

A tender of troops from Fort Ontario at Oswego for the funeral was received today from Washington, but it is believed the family will decline as they are known to be averse to display and wish the ceremonies to be as simple and unpretentious as possible.

Seats in the church were set apart for the Sherman family, President Taft and other dignitaries, who are expected, as well as for the business associates and intimate friends of the late Vice President. Admission to the church will be by ticket, as the auditorium will be hopelessly inadequate to hold the many who wish to attend. In the close of the services the body will be taken to Forest Hill cemetery, where it will be placed in the beautiful Babcock mausoleum, which was completed but recently and where Mr. Sherman's other rests.

Mrs. Sherman's body, which will be put in a plain but massive casket tomorrow, is said to show but few traces of the long illness through which the Vice President has passed. Flowers in profusion are in the room where the body lies and there has been an almost uninterrupted procession of messengers to the house during the day, bearing messages of sympathy to the bereaved household from every quarter of the country and from abroad.

Mrs. Sherman is bearing her loss with fortitude. She was kneeling at the bedside of her husband when the final summons came and remained in the room the greater part of last night. Before he died Mr. Sherman (Continued on Page Two.)

NEW YORK VOTERS HEAR GOV. WILSON

Tremendous Outpouring of Citizens Greet the Democratic Nominee.

ANSWERS TALK OF OPPONENTS

Governor Calls Attention to Betting Odds and Says They Show People Are Not Afraid—Pleads for Support.

New York, Oct. 31.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, speaking tonight before an audience that filled every corner of Madison Square Garden, received the greatest ovation of his campaign for the Presidency. Entering the hall at 9:11 o'clock, after speaking before an enthusiastic audience in the Bronx, the Democratic candidate stood for an hour and three minutes at the railing of the speaker's platform waiting for the demonstration to end. "No man could fail to be moved by a demonstration such as we have witnessed tonight," he said with every evidence of deep feeling, as he finally made himself heard, "yet I am more thrilled because I realize it is a demonstration for a cause and not for a man."

Starting with the first shouts from the doorway when Governor Wilson arrived by automobile from the Bronx meeting, the Madison Square outbreak defied his utmost efforts to quell it. The Governor's motion for quiet brought only renewed cheers. Chants of "We want Wilson" shook the hall and twice when the cheering had slightly subsided it was started with renewed vigor by young women who forced their way to the front of the speaker's stand and inspired the crowd to fresh efforts.

Governor Wilson spoke extemporaneously, but adhered closely in his Madison Square garden speech to the one he had made earlier at the Bronx meeting. He had spoken but a few minutes and was declaring that the Progressive party, "wherever it could capture the regular Republican organization was regular, and wherever it could not was irregular," when a man in the middle aisle of the hall directly beneath the speaker's stand shouted: "Governor talk about the Baltimore platform."

Cries of "put him out" came from all parts of the hall, and three policemen grabbed the disturber and rushed him to a doorway.

Governor Wilson leaned over the railing and called to the police: "Don't put anybody out," but the man was ejected. "It is inconvenient to have more than one man speak at a time, but this is a free country," added Governor Wilson, amidst cheers from the crowd.

Mrs. Wilson and her daughters, in a box near the speaker's platform, were apparently greatly moved by the demonstration for the Governor and exchanged smiles with him as he tried to obtain order. Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, who had been Governor Wilson's opponent for the Democratic nomination, and Congressman William Sulzer, candidate for Governor of New York, preceded Governor Wilson at Madison Square Garden. Mr. Underwood had continued but a few minutes when Governor Wilson arrived and he gave way before the demonstration for the Governor.

"Government is an enterprise of mankind not of parties," said Governor Wilson. As election day approaches, I have a greater and greater feeling of satisfaction because I know the American people are making one of the most vital choices of their lives. From one ocean to the other, men are becoming aware that in less than a week the common people of America will come into their own.

"I know from the reports coming from all parts of the country that the new party has not come from the Democrats. Therefore, it must be made up of those Republicans who are dissatisfied with the regular organization." (Continued on Page Eight)

PLOTTED TO "GET" BURNS AND DREW

John J. McNamara Planned Against Them Since His Imprisonment.

IS TOLD ON WITNESS STAND

Hockin Confessed That Prisoner Expressed Wish to "Get" Detective and Man Who Worked Up Evidence Against Him.

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—That John J. McNamara, the dynamite maker, since his imprisonment in the State penitentiary at San Quentin, Cal., has plotted to "get" William J. Burns, a detective, and also to "get" Walter Drew, who worked up evidence against him, was the substance of testimony at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

The story as related on the witness stand was that Herbert S. Hockin went to San Quentin last Spring and that McNamara, while in conversation with him through the bars of a cell, said, "I'd like to see them get Burns and Drew."

It was further related that Hockin confessed to the incident and charged he heard labor leaders in San Francisco repeat McNamara's wishes.

As tending to sustain the story, a package was produced in court and identified as having been taken from the check room of the union station at Indianapolis May 8th, last. When opened by the jury the package was found to contain a foot of fuse, a parcel of dynamite caps and alarm clock. The package was wrapped in a San Francisco newspaper of April 13, 1912.

Edward J. Brennan, an agent of the Department of Justice, testified the alleged plotting was related to him by Hockin. Brennan said that, on May 22nd, last, he was called into the District Attorney's office in Indianapolis and there Hockin had confessed to him in substance as follows:

Hockin had gone to San Quentin and had talked with McNamara. McNamara said "I'd like to see them get Burns and Drew." Hockin then went to San Francisco and met Olaf A. Tveitmo, a prominent labor leader, Tveitmo urged Hockin to remain in San Francisco until Anton Johannsen, another labor leader, could be called from Los Angeles. This Hockin consented to. When he was going to the station to return to Indianapolis, Tveitmo, Johannsen, a man named Lewis and Theodore Yoel, accompanied him, Johannsen saying on the way, "I'd like to see them get Burns and Drew." Johannsen then added to Hockin, "after you return to Indianapolis a strange man will appear on the scene. You will know him when you see him. He is a man named Arrow, not Darrow. When he says 'these fellows won't know he is the right man.'"

"Hockin did return to Indianapolis and a short time later he was called on the telephone by a man who said 'I am Arrow, not Darrow.' Later he met the stranger and procured a good sounding committee were compelled to have their own house of worship. It is situated most romantically on a bay or sound of the Atlantic. The great live oaks of this Southern land with their drapery of beautiful moss lend dignity and beauty to the surroundings. The interior of the chapel was entirely covered with Southern smilax with clusters of white chrysanthemums. The altar was profusely decorated with Easter lilies, also tall standards of Easter lilies on each pew. The rear pews were occupied by the old family servants, negroes who have always lived on the place, who have been devoted to the lovely bride since her birth.

The bride entered the beautiful little church on the arm of her father, preceded by her two dames of honor, Mrs. James Whigham, of New York, and Mrs. Gordon Wilson, of Baltimore. The bride wore a handsome costume of rich ivory satin with long court train trimmed with quantities of rare old Point de France lace, which hung well over the train. The bridal veil was of tulle and a very simple wreath of orange blossoms worn low on the brow completed the costume. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The only jewel worn was a string of pearls, or, if her wedding gifts, The dames of honor wore pale pink chiffon with large picture hats of chiffon and brown fur and they carried bouquets of roses.

The groom entered from the vestry room, attended by his best man, Mr. Phoenix Ingraham, of New York, a son of Judge Ingraham, of New York, and the ushers were Mr. Lyman Delano, of Wilmington, and Mr. Pembroke Jones, Jr., brother of the bride. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Robt. Stranesh, Bishop of the Diocese of East Carolina, who had also officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents.

The music was furnished by the Conrad Orchestra, of New York, consisting of an organ and six stringed instruments. The programme included

LEADING SOCIETY FOLK WED NEAR WILMINGTON

Only Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones is Led to Altar by Prominent Young Architect of New York City—Brilliant Reception to Large Number of Friends—Honeymoon Trip South.

Of wide social interest in society circles both in the North and South was the wedding yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock of Miss Sadie Green Jones, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, of New York, Newport and Wilmington, and Mr. John Russell Pope, of New York City. The event was celebrated at the Lebanon Chapel on the magnificent Jones estate, Airle-on-the-Sound, and was attended by society folk from Wilmington, Baltimore, New York and other cities. The reception immediately following was one of the most elaborate and brilliant affairs ever given in North Carolina.

Interest in local social circles has centered for some weeks in the wedding and Baltimore, New York and Newport society was also agog over the event. Both the bride and groom are widely known in the cities mentioned and are exceedingly popular in the most fashionable social circles. Owing to the size of the little church the ceremony was not witnessed by a large number, the building probably not having capacity for more than 100. The church is a relic of ante-bellum days when the old and wealthy aristocratic planters of the South, living in isolated communities were compelled to have their own house of worship.

It is situated most romantically on a bay or sound of the Atlantic. The great live oaks of this Southern land with their drapery of beautiful moss lend dignity and beauty to the surroundings. The interior of the chapel was entirely covered with Southern smilax with clusters of white chrysanthemums. The altar was profusely decorated with Easter lilies, also tall standards of Easter lilies on each pew. The rear pews were occupied by the old family servants, negroes who have always lived on the place, who have been devoted to the lovely bride since her birth.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Robt. Stranesh, Bishop of the Diocese of East Carolina, who had also officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents.

The music was furnished by the Conrad Orchestra, of New York, consisting of an organ and six stringed instruments. The programme included of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, selections from Mendelssohn, Grieg and other great composers. Immediately following the ceremony a large reception was held at the residence. Four or five hundred invitations to the reception had been issued locally and the brilliant affair was largely attended. It was spoken of by all as one of the most elaborate and brilliant receptions ever held in this part of the State. The bride and groom received under a bower of white roses in a large dining hall and greeted their guests. The house was decorated throughout with palms and chrysanthemums. Refreshments were served by Sherry, the well known New York caterer, in the great enclosed tennis court, which was decorated with garlands of Southern smilax.

There were present a number of visitors from Baltimore, New York and other places. Among those from New York were Mrs. Arthur Burden, Mr. J. W. Harriman, Mr. J. B. Harriman, Mr. Elisha Deyer, Mr. H. F. Eldridge, Lloyd Warren, Mr. David Barnes, Mr. Clinton Gray, Mr. L. Duryea, the latter a brother-in-law of the groom, of New York city; Mr. Henry Walters and Mr. Jenkins, of Baltimore, and others.

A special train arrived yesterday morning from New York city bringing the musicians who composed the orchestra, the caterer and his assistants and the large supply of refreshments used at the reception. No guests came on the special train. Those who came on the special train returned last night to New York city.

The reception that followed the ceremony in Lebanon Chapel—a reception which will be remembered by the society folk of this city as one of the most brilliant and successful ever attended by them.

Accompanied by several members of the bridal party the bride and groom came to the city late in the afternoon and at 6:30 departed on a special train going South, and it is reported that they expect to spend their honeymoon at a shooting preserve of a friend in the mountains of this State, both being experts with the rifle. They would not tell their friends of their destination. Mr. and Mrs. Pope will return to New York city soon after December 1st.

The bride and groom received many beautiful and costly wedding presents, coming from friends in this city, New York and elsewhere throughout the country.

The bride is a beautiful, attractive and highly accomplished young lady and is a social favorite not only in Wilmington, where the family is spending the season here, but everywhere she is known. She has been very popular in New York and Newport society. She has been unsolicited by social honors and has endeared herself to the hearts of her friends by her sweetness and gentleness of her amiable character.

She is a gifted and accomplished young woman and has decided stage talent. She appeared in a number of amateur productions in Wilmington in the last few years and she displayed such talent in this direction that many of her friends urged her to adopt a stage career. In the several productions in which she appeared, she took

"No City in America Has Been More Generous," Says Mr. Daniels

THE WILSON CAMPAIGN FUND

No Backward Step Now—Goal Can and Must be Reached—Have You Subscribed?—Now is Accepted Time.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 31, 1912. Hugh MacRae, Wilmington, North Carolina. No city in America of its population has contributed so generously to the Wilson campaign fund as Wilmington. Your people have given more per capita than any of the people of any city. All honor to the Cape Fear capital! Wire me as soon as canvass is completed. JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Chairman Publicity Committee, National Democratic Executive Committee.

The above telegram, dated New York, was received last evening by Mr. Hugh MacRae, secretary of the State Finance Committee and one of the leaders in the movement for a $10,000 contribution to the Wilson-Marshall campaign fund from Wilmington, which movement has every reasonable prospect of success and which will be concluded tomorrow night with a general celebration in Wilson headquarters at Front and Princess streets.

Less than a thousand dollars is now needed to complete the Wilmington fund and leaders of the campaign are working with might and main to reach the coveted goal. Wilmington is rising majestically to this appeal to her public spirit and yesterday a number of voluntary subscriptions and guarantees were received from loyal citizens who will not see the effort go by default. As is seen by the present pledges, every cent of money that can be raised is needed and needed badly and already loans have been negotiated, upon the confidence of the National Committee in the American people. There must be no cessation of the effort; already Wilmington has attained a distinction that is worth while. Just a little way now and the coveted goal of $10,000 is certain. Every patriotic Wilmingtonian should want a part and parcel in the great victory that will be achieved in this city Saturday night and in the United States of America when the battle of ballots is closed on next Tuesday evening. A dollar, five dollars or ten dollars, even more, will be appreciated now more than ever before. If you have not been waited upon and asked for a contribution, please consider this invitation here and now. The Star will be glad to receive any amount, acknowledge it and turn it to the credit of any team or set of teams that you will designate. It is now or never.

Arrangements are going on enthusiastically at Wilson headquarters for the Woodrow Wilson Day exercises Saturday night when W. P. Stacy, Esq., of the Wilmington bar, will deliver the Woodrow Wilson message to the people of Wilmington. The headquarters have been very attractively fitted up and the windows are presenting some entirely new pictures of the candidates and striking statements in connection with the campaign. The public will be welcomed there at any time and especially will everybody be welcomed Saturday night when the result of the $10,000 campaign will be made known.

The boys are at work for the handsome watch to be given as a prize by Saturday evening at 6 o'clock for the largest amount turned in between now and then for the fund. Several lads are at work and while their totals do not show up in the list of acknowledgments, a sensational finish to the race is promised. Adrain Rourke, the pioneer in the boys' work, turned in only $1 yesterday, while H. G. Gouveneur turned in $4. Still another contestant is said to have secured a goodly list yesterday, and will figure in the contest later. It is not too late even now for some bright boy or girl to jump in the race and win the watch by tomorrow night. A $35 watch would be indeed very handsome compensation for a couple of days' energetic work.

The following were the contributions acknowledged yesterday: Boys' Committee, Adrain Rourke, Witte Fruit Co. $1.00 W. M. Cumming, Chairman, Democrat $5.00 C. C. Loughlin, Chairman, R. H. Pickett Co. $4.00 D. H. Hoves, Jr., Chairman, Donald Parsley $5.00 J. H. Durham $1.00 B. J. Jacobs $1.00 Mrs. S. A. Matthews $1.00 Total $28.00

Boys' Committee, H. Gouveneur, Mrs. Curry $2.00 Wilson Democrat $2.00 Total $4.00 (Continued on Page Six.)

WILMINGTON CAN — WILMINGTON WILL

Do YOU know that Wilmington is only $990 from the $10,000 goal? The total contributions acknowledged to date, plus the conditional pledges amount to $9,010. The necessary amount can be raised, for surely Wilmington still has:

- 9 Men who will contribute $25.00 each
18 Men who will contribute 10.00 each
120 Men who will contribute 2.00 each
345 Men who will contribute 1.00 each
492 Men to contribute ONLY $990.00
This would complete the $10,000 Fund.

With over 3,000 voters in Wilmington and less than 700 contributors to the Wilson Fund, there is every reason for success; provided, there are enough PUBLIC-SPIRITED MEN in Wilmington who will back up their vote with a contribution. Some of our public-spirited men have already doubled their original subscription, because they realize that when this Fund is raised Wilmington will have the distinction of leading all other cities of its size in the UNITED STATES. The election is near. Will YOU do your part? The Finance Committee believes that you will.

OUTLINES

Supplemental reports of campaign contributions and expenditures filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives yesterday show that the Democratic fund to date amounts to $815,052 and the Republican $744,688.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the funeral services of the late Vice President Sherman and they will be held at Utica Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. President Taft, the Senate, justices of the Supreme Court and other dignitaries will attend.

The four-days' battle in Thrace ended yesterday with the complete defeat of the Turkish army of 200,000 men. When they retreated and Constantinople is believed to be at the mercy of the invading forces. The Turkish ministers are about ready to sue for peace and it is thought the victory of the allied forces practically ends the Balkan war.

Gov. Wilson addressed a Democratic rally in the Bronx last night and spoke to thousands of voters at Madison Square Garden, where he was given a great reception. He answered the charges of his opponents in regard to fearing a discontinuance of prosperity during his administration to the betting odds in Wall Street.

The Conways, wanted in connection with the murder of Miss Sophia Singer in Chicago, were apprehended yesterday at Lima, Ohio. Both claim they knew nothing of the murder till they read the papers at Rochester, Ind.

John J. McNamara plotted to "get" W. J. Burns and Walter Drew, since he has been in prison, according to evidence offered at the "dynamite trial" yesterday.
