

REACHING OUT FOR BUSINESS

Clyde Line Recognizes the Growing Importance of Wilmington Asia Port—New Local Agent Arrives

"If there is any more business in this town, we are going after it, that's all," said Mr. C. J. Becker, of the Clyde Line yesterday, when a Star representative inquired as to the significance of the appointment of a commercial agent at this port.

"I will give Mr. Smallbones larger opportunity to look after business," continued Mr. Becker, "and we desire to get a closer hold on the folks. We want them to know that the Clyde Line is running boats into this port, and we trust that business will increase to the point where we will be justified in putting on more boats. We have had commercial agents in the various other ports—Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore and Charleston—but until now we have not had one here. We've one here now and hope to get a stronger hold on the business of the port."

Mr. Becker very emphatically expressed his pleasure at becoming a citizen of Wilmington, declaring it to be a most delightful city. "I like it better than any town I have been in," was the way he put it. He is not unknown to Wilmington people, having been here a year ago for several weeks, and they will welcome him as a citizen.

Underlying the appointment of a commercial agent here is undoubtedly the fact that Wilmington's growing importance as a port has stirred the Clyde Line to greater activity for business-getting, and it is possible that there will be still further developments along the line noted.

The appointment of Mr. Smallbones and Mr. Becker to their respective positions was effective January 1st and both have already taken up their new duties.

RESOLUTIONS DRAFTED

Local Bar Wants United States Court Room in New Customs House

Resolutions expressing the sentiment of the local bar as strongly in favor of the removal of the United States Court room from the postoffice building to the proposed new customs house building, have been drafted by a special committee and copies of the same have been forwarded to Congressman H. L. Godwin. The committee, appointed at a recent meeting of the bar, was composed of E. S. Martin, Esq., president of the bar association; J. O. Carr and Joseph W. Little, Esqs. It is believed that if the plans for the new customs house include the United States Court room it will be easier to get Congress to grant the additional appropriation of $350,000 for the building. The resolutions as drafted by the committee follow:

"Whereas, the present Federal Court rooms and offices, located on the second floor of the postoffice building, are entirely inadequate for the accommodation of jurors, witnesses and litigants, and others interested in the proceedings of the court, there being no conference rooms for attorneys and others engaged in court, and

"Whereas, the necessary accommodations cannot be provided for in the present postoffice building without complete change of its architecture, which would entail a great expense, and at the same time ruin the architecture of the said building, and

"Whereas, the new customs house is to be erected on a site which will be suitable and convenient for the holding of Federal Court, and ample accommodations can be provided in said building for a Federal Court room, offices, etc., and at a saving of expense to the government;

"Be it resolved by the Bar Association of the County of New Hanover, at its meeting regularly held on the 20th day of December, 1912, that we hereby request our representatives in the Congress of the United States to use their best efforts to secure a sufficient appropriation for the proposed customs house building, the same to include ample court room facilities for the Federal Court."

"E. S. MARTIN, President." "W. N. HARRISS, Clerk Superior Court."

STORM OF MUCH VIOLENCE

Southwest Gale Reached Velocity of Nearly Forty Miles an Hour Here Yesterday—Little Damage, However.

The southwest storm, warnings of which were given by the Weather Bureau the day previous, reached Wilmington on good time in the early hours of yesterday morning, the wind attaining a maximum velocity of 38 miles an hour shortly after 7 o'clock last evening, abating somewhat thereafter with the indications for fair and freezing weather this morning.

The low pressure to the westward Friday developed rapidly into a severe storm which was centered yesterday morning over the Middle Atlantic States with the pressure at Washington 28.9 inches. General rains and high winds and gales appeared to have attended the storm's progress. Early yesterday morning the telegraph companies began to experience trouble with their wires, but in Wilmington means reached the severity that it did in other places, even in this State. On the coast the storm was terrific as is indicated in the telegraphic dispatches to this morning's paper, but a telephone message at 8:30 o'clock last night from Southport stated that while the storm had been quite severe there, the wind reaching a velocity of perhaps 50 miles an hour, no disasters to shipping had been reported and the blow at that hour was apparently moderating to some extent. None of the tug or pilot boats had been able to get out over the bar on account of the storm and there were no reports from either of the life saving stations. The fate of the schooner Savannah, stranded and abandoned by the crew on Friday, Jan. 3, was Sunday, was not known at Southport.

Some anxiety was felt here yesterday morning for the schooners Edith H. Symington and Jennie H. Righter, both inward bound with cargoes, but advices to Messrs. Maffitt & Wood, the marine agents, were that they had made Lookout Light and as the master of the vessels were advised that they did not venture forth. Mr. Oscar Pearsall, to whom the cargo of the Symington is consigned, received an inquiry from the wife of the captain of the Symington, asking to know if the vessel had arrived here and she was advised that the schooner was in safe harbor, probably at Lookout. The Symington has cargo of fertilizers.

According to advices from the Weather Bureau, colder weather is generally following the storm and freezing temperature has spread well to the south and east. Snow was falling yesterday morning in East Tennessee and in Western Carolina.

Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock Castle Heights Methodist church, a mission point at corner of 15th and Castle streets, was torn to pieces by a whirl wind. There was high wind all day, but at that particular point an infant cyclone sprang up and seized the neat little chapel, simply demolishing it in a twinkling. A telephone pole in front of the home of Mr. Arthur Elnstein, No. 401 Dock street, was broken off at the ground by the high wind and fell on the roof of the house. It is stated that no material damage was done to the building.

THE RECORDER'S COURT

H. A. Rau Fined $25 for Cruelty to Animals, but Judgment Suspended.

The cases of chief interest in the Recorder's court yesterday, presided over by Substitute Recorder George Harris, were those against Mr. H. A. Rau, who stood charged with cruelty to animals and with assault with deadly weapons. He was discharged on the latter count, but fined $25 and the costs on the cruelty charge, judgment, however, being suspended upon payment of costs.

Mr. Rau, who lives near Castle Haynes, made a long statement to the court in which he said that he was much pestered by boys hunting on his farm, which he has possession of. He had a dog named Wesley, King and Stanley Janika, he said, appeared at his place with gun and dog and he shot the dog, in the heat of passion. The hunters alleged that he shot in their direction and had threatened them. The defendant was exonerated of the charge of shooting at the young men.

Substitute Recorder Harris held an afternoon session of the court, and at this case of Wesley Boyett, colored, half had not made married life one grand sweet song, and Wesley has started divorce proceedings. Meanwhile, his wife had him arrested for abandonment, and the acting recorder sentenced him to six months, judgment being suspended, however, on payment of the costs and the sum of $2 a week to the woman.

OWNER OF JEWELRY FOUND.

Camden, S. C., Lady May Recover Property From Negro's Loot. Have you lost anything, mysteriously? If so, go to police headquarters and look over the mountain of loot recovered from that magnet which drew all loose things to him—the negro, Wm. Stewart.

A lady in Camden, S. C., may be able to find an entire array of jewelry lost some time ago when and where she knew not; but suspecting it had been stolen while traveling, she fled claim against the A. C. L. and behold, at least some of it has been found in Stewart's collection of odds and ends of everything.

The lady in question is Mrs. W. H. Gardner, of Camden. Her claim was for $580 and a list of her property was made out and given to the railway's secret agents. Yesterday Mr. Edmondson, special agent in charge of this case, took an inventory of the jewelry and found what he believes to be the articles Mrs. Gardner lost. She was so informed yesterday.

Another to discover what he believes to be his property is Mr. J. H. Kuek, of this city, the article in question being a gold pin, but as he was not sure, his wife will visit police headquarters today and look at the pin. Still another to find property is Mr. A. J. Mitchell, who lost a traveling bag and Mrs. J. S. Mitchell, who identified a shawl. In time it may be that not a little of the stuff will find its way back to its owners.

Stewart denies that he stole the jewelry, and says that another negro took it and deposited it with him for safe keeping. His splendid ability to annex all things, however, will not allow a statement to stand. He had a genius for collecting things not nailed down good and fast. He is perhaps the greatest of "ticket scalpers" for the mileage books and tickets stolen in blank by him from the A. C. L. If converted into cash would reach a large amount. In one lot there is nearly $30,000 worth of tickets, provided they had been actually sold by the company.

MISS OLIVIA QUINCE DEAD

Popular Young Lady Passed Away in Baltimore—Funeral

Hundreds of friends in this city and elsewhere, will learn with infinite regret of the death of Miss Olivia Quince, of this city, which occurred last evening in the Union Protestant Hospital, in Baltimore, in which institution she has been preparing for about 18 months for her chosen life work as a trained nurse. The sympathy of the whole community will go out to her family. Stricken about two weeks ago with a malady which for some time has baffled medical experts in attendance, her condition grew alarmingly worse about a week ago and her relatives here were notified for the first time of her illness. Mrs. N. H. Quince, her mother, left on the next train to be with her daughter.

Dr. Thos. S. Burbank was summoned a day or two later and remained there until the end. Meningitis is thought to have been the cause of death.

Miss Quince was 23 years old and prominent socially in Wilmington and elsewhere. She is survived by her mother and a sister, Miss Margaret Quince; also by an aunt, Mrs. Harry Waters, of Jacksonville, Fla., who has been here for several days, and a great aunt, Mrs. Olivia Fitchett, of this city. The tenderest sympathy of hundreds of friends will go out to the bereaved.

The body, accompanied by the grief-stricken mother and Dr. Burbank, will reach the city this evening and will be taken to the funeral home, No. 18 North Seventh street. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

WILL TAKE NEW CENSUS

Health Department Will Ascertain City's Present Population

As it is necessary for the health department in keeping records and statistics, that it have accurate information as to the population of the city, a new census will be taken, beginning the latter part of this month or the first of next. It will take about a month for the sanitary police to complete the task of canvassing each house in the city. The officers have to make the houses anyway, so they will not lose any time from their regular work. It is believed that the new census will show Wilmington to have a population of 30,000. The census taken last year by the health department showed a population of 28,051, divided among the races as follows: Whites, 14,732; colored, 13,309. Aside from the value to the health department of accurate information of the town's population, the census will no doubt be worth much to the city, as it will very likely justify the citizens in claiming that Wilmington has now reached the 30,000 mark.

Will Be Taken Home

Mr. G. H. McClary, who became violently insane at the union station upon arrival here on a Seaboard train a few nights ago and has been in jail here ever since, will be taken back to Laurinburg, his home, this morning by his brother, Mr. J. E. McClary, of Georgetown, S. C., and Mr. H. E. Montgomery, a relative, of Kingstree, S. C., who arrived here yesterday in response to telegrams from Sheriff S. P. Cowan. Mr. G. H. McClary did not recognize either his brother or Mr. Montgomery. In fact, he declared that he had never seen either of them until he was turned over to the Sheriff of Scotland county upon arrival in Laurinburg and no doubt the clerk of the court of that county will hold an inquiry as to his sanity. If found to be insane, application will be made to have him committed to the State Hospital from Scotland county.

DOUBLE SEATING CAPACITY

Extensive Improvements Will be Made at Lumina Before Season Opens—Plans Have Been Decided Upon.

Plans for extensive improvements at Lumina, Wrightsville Beach, including the doubling of the seating capacity of the popular pavilion, before the opening of the 1913 season, were definitely announced yesterday by Mr. A. B. Skelding, general manager of the Tidewater Power Company. Mention was made some time ago that the company contemplated extensive improvements at Lumina, but the plans had not been definitely decided upon at that time. Several days ago Mr. Skelding took up the matter with Mr. H. E. Bonitz, the architect, and it was practically decided then what improvements would be made.

The officers of the company feel that the dancing floor is ample in size for some time to come, but there is a need of increased seating capacity. This is made necessary on account of the growing popularity of the musical seats that are given at the pavilion throughout the season. Lumina at present has a seating capacity of 590. It is planned to provide 600 additional seats by extending the pavilion 45 feet toward the ocean. There will be space sufficient for 830 additional seats, but only 600 will be put in this year. The interior of the pavilion will remain as it is now. The new seats will be arranged in the shape of tiers, so that people occupying the rear seats will have just as good a view of the dancers as those occupying seats in the front. With the benefit of the sounding board or musical shell in the rear of the orchestra, those who occupy the seats on the outside of the pavilion will be enabled to hear even the faintest of the musical instruments quite as well as those who are not so far away. The columns on the west side of the ball room floor will be removed and large trusses of 40 feet in width will span the opening. This will give an unobstructed view from the new tiers of seats. The outdoor seats are especially popular at Lumina. The additional seating capacity will mean that a great deal of congestion on Sunday afternoon and evenings will be relieved. When the addition is completed, Lumina will then have five times the floor space it had when it was erected seven years ago. The crowds that visit the pavilion have grown almost as rapidly.

A number of other improvements of minor importance will be made. The improvements will be completed by the time of the opening of the season.

CONFERENCE LAST NIGHT

Salaries to Be Paid County Officers Discussed—No Decision

The question of salaries to be paid the several county officers when they are put on a salary basis was considered at some length last night at a conference between this county's representatives in the next General Assembly and a committee from the Board of County Commissioners, but it was stated after the meeting that no decision was reached. The Commissioners and the legislators were quite agree on the amounts to be paid, but they hope to get nearer together at future conferences. While nothing was given out as to this, it is believed that the Commissioners do not favor paying as much money as the legislators think the officers should receive. The conference was attended by Senator Marsden Bellamy, Representative Woodus Kellum, Chairman M. S. Willard, Messrs. John Van B. Metts and W. A. McGirt, of the Board of Commissioners.

FIRE LAST-NIGHT

Lumber in Dry Kiln at Wilmington Destroyed by Fire

A fire which is supposed to have originated from a spark from the engine room, damaged a dry kiln on the yards of the Wilmington Cooperage Company, at the foot of Wright street, to the extent of about $100, last night about 11:15. The fire department was called out by an alarm from box 411. Second and Wright streets, and the motor-driven trucks made especially good time in arriving at the scene of the blaze. In a few minutes after the alarm was turned in the firemen had streams of water on the blaze and did not take long to extinguish the fire. Notwithstanding the late hour and the decidedly chilly weather a large number of spectators turned out.

LUTHERANS PLAN LUNCHEON

St. Paul's Christian Association to Celebrate Christmas Anniversary

At a meeting last night in the Lutheran Memorial Building, members of the St. Paul's Christian Association decided to have a luncheon on Monday, January 27th, at which time plans will be made for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the association, which was organized in April, 1888. A committee on arrangements was named for the luncheon and other committees are to be appointed by Mr. A. D. Wessell, who will announce them Sunday. The association voted to receive seven new members and to change the time of the regular meetings from Saturday to a week day, which day will be selected later.

Many Instruments Recorded.

In a county like New Hanover the office of register of deeds contains none of the elements of the "clinch" so much admired by the man possessed of a love of indolence; for during the year just closed, many thousands of instruments were filed for record—more than 7,000 in fact. By no means are deeds the only papers recorded, as the title of the office would seem to signify; but papers of every sort are handled. The weight of this burden is greatly lessened by that friend of man, the typewriter, and a copyist can now record vastly more instruments in a day than formerly when this work was done by hand.

JAMES R. KEENE DEAD.

Veteran Sportsman Passes in Private New York Hospital.

New York, January 3.—The death early today of James R. Keene removes a figure long familiar in financial and sporting circles, not only in this country, but abroad. Mr. Keene died in a private hospital at 2:15 o'clock this morning, after an operation yesterday for abdominal troubles, the end coming somewhat suddenly, although it had been realized that his condition was serious. His removal early this week to the private hospital at the instance of Foxhall Keene, his son, was made against his own wishes. He had ridiculed the assertions of the doctors that he was in a critical condition.

Mr. Keene was 74 years old and was born in London. His early life was spent in California, as a miner, where he made a fortune later in stocks. His later career in Wall Street came to an end with the collapse in January, 1910, of the Columbus and Hocking pool, of which he was manager. Mr. Keene was owned many, and, at the time of his death, still owned, a few of the most prominent race horses in this country and Europe, and his winnings were for many years the largest of any American in the horse racing world.

"Tileston Topics" Out. The December number of "Tileston Topics," a publication of the Wilmington High School, has been issued in the nature of a "football number," and it is quite creditable indeed—the best number of the magazine, perhaps, that has ever been gotten up. Besides other articles, there is one, "How Will We Win the Championship," which celebrates the victory the High School gained during the past season in the interscholastic games. A picture of the victorious team gives added interest to the story. Articles on other subjects than football and several poems are also included in the contents. The editors of the magazine are to be congratulated and the school has reason to be proud of the publication.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW

Optimistic Spirit Prevails On Threshold of the New Year.

New York, January 3.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say: "The new year opens with all the gains and advantages achieved during the last half of 1912. The new year takes over from the old the increased agricultural wealth resulting from the big crops, the great activity in the largest industries, the augmented confidence in branches of domestic trade, the record-breaking foreign commerce and the full employment of labor at high wages, insuring large buying power. With the legacy from 1912, the maintenance of a satisfactory volume of business apparently is assured. Bank clearings during 1912 increased 3 per cent over 1911. Railroad traffic, moreover, is very heavy. In the cotton and woolen trades the outlook is an encouraging one. From all the leading cities, both East and West, the end of the year advices are satisfactory in most of the material points generally an optimistic spirit prevails."

MORE "OIL" LETTERS. Presented to Clapp Committee Investigating Campaign Contributions. Washington, Jan. 3.—More "Standard Oil" letters to members of Congress were presented today to the Clapp committee investigating campaign funds. All have been previously published or appear in the current issue of a monthly magazine. When William R. Hearst was on the stand several weeks ago he told the committee of the letters, but they were not pertinent to the investigation. At the committee's request he sent them today for inclusion in the record. After the Hearst letters were read into the record the committee held an executive session. At its conclusion Chairman Clapp announced that no further hearings could be announced at present, but that the committee would meet at his call.

FIVE SLAIN IN POLITICAL ROW.

Followers of Honduran Factionists Clash in Streets of Comayagua.

Puerto Cortez, Honduras, Jan. 2.—Five men were killed and several wounded in a fight at Comayagua Tuesday, between adherents of Gen. Louis Salanmanca, governor of Comayagua and Portelmo Farrare, a political leader. After a personal encounter between Salanmanca and Farrare, they summoned their friends, who armed themselves and prepared for the fight. The governor escaped injury, but Farrare was badly wounded.

Gen. Andres Lezla, a governor of the department of Corraes, has issued a decree that all foreigners who failed to register in his office within 30 days would be considered citizens of Honduras, and be subject to service in the army.

The decree has caused considerable alarm among Americans and other foreigners, but it was believed that President Bonilla will refuse to uphold the order.
