that of wool, silk and flax combined and that the American people pay annually about $200,000,000 for their cotton goods by reason of the present tariff rates.

They contend that no actual loss in revenue will result from the proposed legislation, which is identical with the cotton bills the Democrats sought to enact in 1911 and 1912, and that the revision would reduce the annual cost of cotton clothing by more than $80,000,000. The estimated duties under the proposed revised schedule would aggregate $10,539,000, against $13,677,801 in 1910, and $12,359,032 in 1911, the latest available statistics.

Democratic members of the committee believe that the rates provided in the tentative schedule, the bill of last year, and the year before, are more fairly competitive than have been proposed in any other tariff measure and that they would offer a substantial economy in the cost of living. The Republican minority deny these contentions.

John H. Fedden, of New York, a cotton glove manufacturer, advocated a greater differential in the duties between cotton cloth and the finished gloves product.

R. M. Miller, Jr., of Charlotte, for the American Cotton Manufacturing Association, favored specific duties and submitted recommendations for rates substantially lower than in the present law.

Stuart W. Cramer, of Charlotte, N. C., a yarn manufacturer, agreed that from the standpoint of a tariff for revenue the rates on cotton yarn were too high. He submitted a schedule of lower duties. Representative Hill brought out that the duties recommended by Mr. Cramer were higher than the suggestive basis of the tariff board's report. Mr. Cramer said he spoke for the American Cotton Manufacturing Association with members in both the South and North, and added that the cotton manufacturing business in many cases lately had been on a basis below cost.

Lewis W. Parker, of Greenville, S. C., a cotton mill owner, suggested as a manufacturer, a schedule of rates with a minimum of 10 per cent on the cheaper cotton cloths and running in many cases below last season's Underwood bill. The schedule suggested, he said, was on the basis that so far as the classes of goods appealing to the greater part of the public were concerned, "we must expect to make reductions to a considerable amount."

The industry of manufacturing men's and boys' cotton gloves could not exist if the tariff were radically reduced, according to A. V. Victorious, of New York, who urged as a compromise, a specific rate of 40 cents a dozen pairs and 35 per cent ad valorem with five per cent less ad valorem duty each year for three years. The present tariff is 50 cents a dozen and 46 per cent ad valorem.

Representatives of the shirt manufacturing industry asserted that no material change be made in the present duty of 50 per cent ad valorem.

H. J. Lyall, of Passaic, N. J., opposed any material reduction in the rates on the fabrics, but after he had been given the figures of consumption and importation, Chairman Underwood said the rate now is not competitive and would be cut. He suggested the feasibility of 30 per cent.

The examination of L. W. Parker, of Greenville, S. C., ranged over the whole cotton industry. He contended that the greater part that labor plays in any particular fabric, the less able the manufacturers were to meet foreign competition. He says that 15 years ago when he went into business there were about 4,000,000 spindles, while today there were 12,000,000, which Republican members of the committee insisted was due to the high protective tariff.

Mr. Parker said that he had 16 mills aggregating 525,000 spindles, and that of his employees 500-700 were women and one-sixth children above 12 years of age, the legal minimum age. The English mills, he said, today were making money with a wide market with from 10 to 100 per cent dividends, while the American mills were making very little profit and he did not regard the cotton business here today as prosperous.

Mr. Parker suggested revision on this basis: From 10 to 30 per cent ad valorem according to the fineness of the component yarns, on plain cloth in the grey; 5 to 40 per cent in the finished state; 15 to 40 on fancy cloths in the grey and 20 and 45 on fancy cloths finished; 25 to 45 on Jacquard cloths in the grey and 30 to 50 in Jacquard cloths finished.

GUILFORD COUNTY SALARIES
Some Changes Asked of Legislature—Wedding—Real Estate

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Greensboro, N. C., January 22.—The County Commissioners of Guilford in conference with the county attorney, have decided to recommend to the General Assembly changes in the salary act and the road law. The board, through its county attorney, will recommend to the Legislature that the salary law be so changed as to allow $2,000 for clerk hire in the office of the clerk of the Superior court, which is an increase of $500. The recommendation will also be made that $2,500 be allowed for clerk hire in the office of the register of deeds instead of the $1,500 now paid; and that hereafter the county pay for the execution of all bonds of county officials, including sheriff, tax collector and treasurer.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. John H. Russell, on Mendham street, when Miss Jesse Park Allen became the bride of Robert Lee Warren. Owing to a recent bereavement in the family of the bride the wedding was without the least ostentation, only relatives attending.

Two deeds involving a consideration of $60,000 were filed for registration in Register Deeds Rankin's office here yesterday afternoon. The largest deed was from the Globe Home Furnishing Company to Charles M. Hauser, trustee of the Dalton syndicate, etc., at a consideration of $48,000.

WILL OF POWERS

houses, notwithstanding the close relationship. The Greeks hope to be able to retain Saloniki with the consent of the allies and the assistance of the powers, since the town of Adrianople and most of the vilayet will go to Bulgaria.

One ambassador has remarked that if the question of Saloniki were to be solved according to the principle of nationality, the town should be allotted to Spain, because it contains 75,000 Spaniards, which is half the population. At their meeting today the ambassadors scarcely broached the question of the frontiers of Albania. The meeting adjourned early, as the German ambassador had an engagement to dine with the King at Windsor. It is understood that the opinion prevails among the ambassadors that they should find a middle course between the delimitations proposed by Serbia and those proposed by Austria.

The Serbian delegation has notified the powers that they reported Serbian massacres of Albanians in territory occupied by Serbian troops are without foundation in fact, and that the reports have been spread simply to impell the powers to enlarge the boundaries of the new State on the pretext that it was free. Albanians from alleged persecutions.

Decision Unanimous
Constantinople, January 22.—Turkey today submitted to the will of the powers. The Grand Council of the Ottoman Empire decided in favor of accepting the proposal of settlement between Turkey and the Balkan allies.

As formerly announced, the Grand Council approved the government's point of view, declared its confidence in the sentiments of equity voiced by the great powers and expressed the wish to see their promises and proposed assistance effectively realized.

It also expected the government "to exert all its efforts to insure in the future the safety of the country and the development of its economic interests."

The question submitted by the Turkish government to the Grand Council today was:

"Should the recommendations contained in the note of the European powers be accepted or rejected?"

The government frankly confessed itself in favor of agreement to the subject made by the powers and after a slight discussion the assembly decided almost unanimously in agreement with the view of the government.

Tomorrow about noon, therefore, the Marquis Jahan D. Pallavicini, Austro-Hungarian ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps at Constantinople, will be handed a note in which the Ottoman government agrees to the proposals embodied in the joint note with regard to the cession of the fortress of Adrianople and the future disposition of the Aegean islands and places itself in the hands of the powers.

A meeting of the Council of Ministers will be held tomorrow morning before the final step is taken.

The joint note of the powers advised Turkey to cede Adrianople to the allies and to leave the fate of the Aegean islands to the powers for future determination. In return, the powers promised their benevolent support as long as Turkey deferred to their counsel.

The meeting of the Grand Council, which was fraught with such grave importance, was of brief duration and its decision in favor of accepting the views of the powers was almost unanimous. The Sultan gave an audience to the assemblage collectively with the grand vizier and the Sheikh-ul-Islam. The members of the council were grouped according to their professions, the military officers, civil officials, Senators and Ulema forming distinct groups.

The note of the powers was read, after which Nazim Pasha, the minister of war, explained the military situation and the minister of foreign affairs made a statement on the foreign situation.

At the conclusion of the statement regarding the attitude of the government the Grand Council registered its decision.

Nazim Pasha declared that the army was eager to continue the war. Turkey might even hope for a measure of success, he said, but there was little chance of relieving Adrianople.

Moreover, continued the War Minister, aside from the purely military question, there were other matters strongly militating against the continuation of hostilities.

The finance minister explained the dependency of the treasury upon the foreign markets.

The most curious fact, however, devolved upon Noradungian Effendi, the Foreign Minister, who set forth the international situation. He dwelt especially upon the attitude of Russia, which, he said, on two recent occasions had warned the Porte that a continuation of the hostilities might oblige Russia to depart from an attitude of neutrality.

Throughout his speech, Noradungian Effendi made it clear that there was little hope that any advantage could be derived from European complications.

INVITE WILSON TO ASHEVILLE.
Delegation Will Ask Him to Make Home in Land of the Sky.

Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 22.—A delegation from Asheville, N. C., is to-night journeying to Princeton, N. J., where tomorrow they will present to Mrs. Wilson and daughters an invitation to make Asheville their Summer home. From Princeton, where the delegation will be informally received by Mrs. Wilson, the party will go by motor to Trenton to present the claims and charms of Western North Carolina for the Summer capital. The North Carolinians will be presented to Governor Wilson by Josephus Daniels, National committeeman. At Washington Senator Overman and Congressman Gudger will join the party.

REPUBLICANS WILL VISIT GOV. WILSON brought the Governor information about the political situation in Georgia with respect to appointments. Governor Wilson today made his second move toward obtaining reform of the corporation laws of New Jersey. Having caused the bills to be drafted and introduced in the Legislature, the Governor today asked the legislative leaders to call a conference of members of both houses for next Tuesday, when he will explain his programme and urge particularly the passage of the corporation bills.

The Governor does not expect any opposition among the Democrats who have a majority in both houses and is hopeful that the bill may be enacted before he leaves here to assume the Presidency.

Many letters have come to the Governor commending the bills and Chancellor Edward R. Walker, who drafted them, is, as a consequence, being suggested for Attorney General in the Wilson cabinet.

Governor Wilson also read the reports alleging that some members of the Legislature intended to block the passage of the corporation bills by holding public hearings of indefinite length.

"There's nothing to hold public hearings about," commented the Governor.

"These are perfectly business-like bills. They do not affect any special interest. If hearings were to be held we would have to hear everybody in the United States. There is nothing sensational or novel about the bills. They simply make an effort to apply in business-like way the principle that the whole country has agreed upon."

PROGRESSIVE WILSON.
Advanced Steps Taken at Mass Meeting—Banking Change—Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Wilson, N. C., Jan. 22.—The advanced steps taken by Wilson as the result of the mass meeting held Monday night marks a decided stand for a bigger, better town. On the streets the proposed amendments to the charter are the topic of conversation and there is little doubt of the election which will follow. There will doubtless be opposition to the proposed enlargement of the electric light plant, but it is not thought that it will be sufficient to defeat the measure.

The Carolina Power Company, the owners of the Yadkin river hydroelectric plant, is making an effort to persuade the town to abandon the municipal ownership idea, but from the street comment it seems that they will receive little support.

The proposed municipal telephone system is entirely new and the idea seems to be growing with the people. At present, Wilson has a telephone exchange operated by the Carolina Telephone & Telegraph Company, a corporation with home offices in Tarboro. Until recently this company has been in good fellowship with the people of the town, but the enforcement of the rule requiring all telephone users to pay in advance started the talk for a municipal system.

Miss Lizzie Lamm and Mr. Robert Bass were married this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Lamm.

The directors of the Branch Banking Company held a special meeting yesterday and elected Selby Anderson, president, and George W. Connor, vice president and trust officer. Mr. Anderson succeeds to the position held for a number of years by Mr. J. C. Hales, who died recently. Mr. Connor, the newly elected vice president, is the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and it is generally understood that he will be a candidate for Congress from this district two years hence.

witness as president of the corporation.

Mr. Ferrall, he said, had made trips abroad to discuss the matter with the foreign manufacturers.

Mr. Corey testified to the existence of a steel rail pool among American manufacturers as late as 1904, under which prices of rails were kept on an even keel and business divided. In this the Steel Corporation participated, he said, and was represented at meetings by Judge Elbert H. Gary, Charles M. Schwab or himself.

Mr. Corey testified further that one of the reasons the Union Steel Company was taken over by the corporation was that "it was getting customers from the Carnegie Company." The Union Company, he said, had built 12 plants for the manufacture of steel by the open hearth process, at that time a new method. As soon as the corporation got control, blast furnaces belonging to the Sharon Company, a subsidiary of the Union, had been dismantled, he said.
