MADAME STEPHALI

CAPTIVATES LARGE AUDIENCE "The Influence of Music" was the theme of the first of a series of three Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, in co-operation with the National Society for Broader Education, last evening in the Boys' Brigade arm-lory. Assisting Madame Stephali was Miss Bereniece Lathrop, instrumenta-list of international reputation.

The auditorium of the armory was well filled with appreciative people. Madame Stephali was happily introduced by Mr. Chas. Dushan. For the first few moments of the evening Madame Stephali traced the omnipresence of the musical element in the career of all mankind. From the chaotic cry of the caveman to the mumuring melodies of today, the desire for song has remained the same: the inare urged to send their ballots. She is a young woman of singular talents. Her interpretation of the world's favorites will long be remembered by those who heard her. She is in every way a worthy assistant to Madame Stephali and is entitled to her full portion of the credit for the unqualified success of the great educational work in which both are engaged.

The second of the series of concert lectures by Mme. Stephali will be held this afternoon in the armory when she will give "Music and Childhood." All children under 14 years of age will be admitted to this "matinee" for 25 cents, and where parents hold the "season's" or the "patrons'" tickets, they may come unaccompanied by their parents. Tonight the subject will be, "Music and Life."

STOLE THE JUSTICE'S RATIONS.

Thief Cleans Out Judge Geo. Harriss' Refrigerator. Justice George Harriss will likely enjoy a slim breakfast this morning unless the neighbors carry something in, for last night a sneak thief visited the refrigerator at his residence on South Third street, and cleaned it out. Butter, eggs, chicken and a number of other things very good to eat were taken and nothing was left but the ice. Justice Harriss requests The Star man to thank the visitor for this consideration and wishes to assure him that if he will call again he will give him the ice and lend him the ice tongs to carry it away. The theft was evidently committed early in the night, probably not long after supper, while the cook was washing dishes.

Yopp, with reference to the failure of fishermen on the river to provide the sea end of their nets with a suitable red flag for the guidance of vessels using the channel, from which it appeared that the fishermen represented by Mr. Yopp are complying with the regulations, while several other fishermen, using the waters above the dram tree, have totally neglected the warning. It was therefore ordered that the Harbor Master personally warn the fishermen, engaged on the Cape Fear River above the dram tree, not to block the channel with their nets, and also to inform them that a red flag or a buoy, of sufficient size to be seen for several hundred yards, must be used to mark the sea end of their nets. It was further ordered that fishermen neglecting this notice, after such warning, shall be summoned to appear before the Board and shall be subject
