DAVIS CONFESSES TO DYNAMITING

Arrest Made After Two Years Hard Work by the Government.

ORDERED TO "GET" BURNS

Five Thousand Dollars Was Price on O'Donnell of Indianapolis Trial.

New York, Oct. 2.—Dynamite outrages that rivaled the exploits of the McNamara brothers and Orrie McNamara were confessed today by George E. Davis, a union iron worker.

His arrest and its consequences was the round up work which the Federal government started more than two years ago, when the dynamiting of bridges and steel frame buildings all over the country became a national disgrace.

All the explosions that Davis says he caused were referred to at the dynamiter's trial in Indianapolis, but the fact that Davis caused them remained unrevealed until he himself told of it.

Davis' confession resulted today in the arrest in Indianapolis of Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the Iron Workers' Union.

Some of his revelations concern President Ryan, who is now out on bail pending appeal from a prison sentence of seven years.

Davis says he was first chosen in December, 1911, to kill Walter Drew, attorney for the National Erectors' Association.

Some of his revelations concern President Ryan, who is now out on bail pending appeal from a prison sentence of seven years.

Davis consented to return to Indianapolis without extradition. His bail was fixed at $10,000.

The contract he thought to have been broken up by the conviction of Ryan and others still exists, according to Davis' confession.

With the exception of Harry Jones, the men he mentions in his confession had been arrested, although his confession indicated that the government had not obtained all the evidence against these defendants.

The apprehension of this McNamara of the East was due to Robert Foster, a Louisville detective, who shadowed the iron worker through Eastern cities.

Finally, when Davis was displeased with his treatment by the union, Foster persuaded him to make a full confession.

This was on September 16th. For a week Davis had been working in Pittsburgh for the Thompson-Starratt Company.

He was a member of the entertainment committee whose duty he said was to destroy a new building at Fall River, April 26th, 1908.

Under the name of O'Donnell, Davis was arrested for the Fall River job and served two years in prison.
