ADMINISTRATION BILL BECAME LAW LAST NIGHT

President Affixed His Signature at Nine Minutes After Nine

ENGIRLED BY PARTY LEADERS

Two Gold Pens Used in Signing-Name. One Given to Underwood and One to Senator Simmons. Speech by President.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Surrounded by leaders of a united Democracy, President Wilson at 9:09 o'clock tonight signed the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill at the White House.

A happy group of legislators, members of the cabinet, and friends encircled the President as he calmly sat down and slowly affixed his signature with two gold pens.

He presented the pen that had written the word "Woodrow" to Representative Underwood and the one that completed his name to Senator Simmons, both of whom bowed their appreciation.

President Makes Speech. In his small, Presidential rose and delivered in easy natural tones an extemporaneous speech that brought prolonged applause.

Tells of Ambition. "I have had the accomplishment of something like this at heart ever since I was a boy and know men standing around me who can say the same thing, who have been waiting to see the things done which it was necessary to do in the United States; and so it is a solemn moment that brings such a business to a conclusion and I hope I will have the honor of handing to you much of myself and of my colleagues, when I say that this, great as it is, is the accomplishment of only half the journey.

Quotes Shakespeare. "I was quoting to some of my colleagues in the Senate those lines from Shakespeare which have always appealed to me—if it be a sin to covet honor, then am I the most offending alive, and I am happy to say that I do not covet it for myself alone."

Happy and jubilant, the invited guests came to the executive offices. They chatted and jested with the President in an ante-room while waiting for the full group to appear. Vice

President Woodrow Wilson

President Marshall was ushered into the President's office, followed by Speaker Clarke, Representative Underwood, members of the cabinet, members of the Senate Financial and House Ways and Means committees, and their friends.

Speech Impromptu. "I will not say anything about the bill," he added with a smile, "until I have signed it. I don't want it to get away from me."

While the President was surrounded by members of his official family, there was none happier than Joseph R. Wilson, younger brother of the Chief Executive, who came here from Baltimore tonight to witness the signing.

Marshall Signs Bill. The speed with which Congress disposed of the last work on the tariff bill, and sent the measure to the White House demonstrated the anxiety of House and Senate to get through with the burden that has held them in continuous session since April.

BIG FIGHT BEING WAGED IN SENATE

Urgent Deficiency Appropriation Bill Meeting Strong Opposition

ELIMINATES COMMERCE COURT

Many Senators Leaving City—Democratic Party Leaders Make Effort to Keep Quorum in Town—Bill Pushed.

Washington, Oct. 3.—A fight to save the positions of the four remaining judges of the United States Commerce Court, who would be legislated out of office by the Urgent Deficiency Appropriations bill, as it passed the House, held the Senate in a continuous session which began shortly after noon today and ran until near midnight tonight.

Twice friends of the Commerce Court succeeded in carrying amendments that would keep them in office as additional circuit judges, but final action was prevented by parliamentary maneuvering engineered by Senator Hoke Smith.

The Senate upheld the action of the House in legislating the Commerce Court out of existence and fixing the date for its termination as December 31st, but did not agree with the action of the Senate Appropriation Committee in taking away from the Commerce Court judges their status as United States Circuit judges.

Drastic measure were adopted by the Senate leaders to secure a quorum. Senators who went to the White House to witness the signing of the tariff bill, were brought back hurriedly to keep a quorum, but it was found almost impossible to maintain a sufficient membership to do business.
