mington, prepared by the State press secretary of the organization, will be of interest:

"The Christian Endeavor Convention held in Wilmington June 4-6, was the largest in years, there being 150 delegates present from all over the State. The convention city was rather difficult of access to those living in the western and Piedmont sections of North Carolina, but this drawback was counterbalanced by its widespread reputation for hospitality and by the efforts of Wilmington Endeavorers, 00 who had visited the various Christian Endeavor centers for the purpose of drumming up delegations.

"It was perhaps the warm cordiality and lavish hospitality of the host society and the citizenship of Wilmington, which, more than any other feature, made the 1915 convention the most delightful ever held in the State. Wilmington is interesting because of its location, its important rank as a seaport, and its beauty, for it is in truth a City Beautiful as the Endeavorers discovered while on the auto ride given in their honor.
