Miss Alexa Sterling, of Atlanta, Southern champion, survived the second round handily, defeating Laurie Kaiser, champion of Chicago, 6 and 5. Mrs. W. A. Gavin, the British contender, and Miss Eleanor Allen, now England's sole hope for the title, both won easily.

The action is in this county and the cause represents the defendant. Mr. Collins is a well-to-do lumberman. Edwards came to the State selling a patented automobile device. The answer sets up that this is not the first time Edwards and his wife have brought such an action, a similar case said to have been brought in Baltimore. THEATRICAL

"Extravagance" is the significant title of a great three-reel Gold Seal feature which occupies top position on the Bijou's all-star six-reel bill of movies for today. Featured in this great master-drama are those two great co-stars, Cleo Madison and Hobart Henley. It tells a stirring story of a mother and daughter who live far beyond their means and are made to pay the penalties for their extravagance. The story opens with an allegorical picture of

BEAUTIFUL CLEO MADISON

In "Extravagance" as the Bijou Today debt in its worst phases, and goes on to tell one of the most interesting three-reel photoplay stories ever filmed.

In the play Cleo and Hobart were happily married—or married and living happily—until her mother led her into extravagances that made her dissatisfied with Hobart's modest income. Cleo was tempted, but a brief separation from Hobart and a lucky turn in his fortunes brings about a climax and an ending that gives you the very best that these two capable stars can produce.

"Billy's Love Making" is a cracker-jack single reel comedy, featuring those two great favorites, Violet Mercereau and William Garwood, in the leading roles. You don't want to miss this.

There will also be two great Pathe productions, "Father's Brilliant Idea," a routing comedy, and "Picturesque French Guinea," another great Pathe scenic film.

Victoria's theatrical season will be officially opened Monday night at the Victoria when Manager Marx S. Nathan will offer to theatre-goers a gorgeous production of the late Mr. Charles Klein's dramatic masterpiece, "The Lion and the Mouse," which will hold the boards at the Victoria for the first three days of the week.

The last half of the week the great American drama, "Paid in Full," by Eugene Walter, will be the offering. These are the two most successful dramas produced on the American stage within the past decade, both products of America's leading dramatists.

Mr. Klein, who lost his life on the Lusitania, has given to the stage a dozen or more successes, which have won for him the title of the foremost dramatist of the day, while Eugene Walter won instant success from his "Paid in Full."

The policy of the Victoria will be two high class royalty plays a week. The plays will be changed each Monday and Thursday with ladies' and children's matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Stage Director Guy G. Harper and Scenic Artist Scott Williams, the advance guards of "The Harm's Associate Players," have arrived in the city and are very much pleased with the Victoria stage, which they say ranks favorably with stages in the stock theatres of the larger cities, and many fine productions are promised by them.

Mr. Harper has directed such well known stock companies as Woodward Stock, of Kansas City and Omaha; Virginia Pearson Stock, of Louisville; Lyric Theatre Stock, of Chattanooga, and promises to give Wilmington theatre-goers many a treat during the run of the Harm's Associate Players. Mr. Williams, the scenic artist, has been connected with a great many of the stocks of the West, and was last winter with the Academy Stock, at Raleigh, and while there won praise from the local press for his beautiful productions.

"Damaged Goods," at the Academy. On next Tuesday, September 14, the Academy of Music will offer Eugene Brelux's interesting sociological play, "Damaged Goods," as presented by Richard Bennett's co-workers, who scored so emphatic a success the past season.

"Damaged Goods," from the viewpoint of men and women high in national and civic life, is one of the foremost stage contributions in a decade. It is a distinct novelty in that it presents a subject long held to be sacred only to the medical fraternity or within the confines of one's inmost thoughts yet has been given life and impetus by Brelux and his collaborators who displayed neither fear nor prejudice in its rendition. It is a powerful sermon which is interestingly absorbed by its auditors and one which has done more for the uplift of humanity than is accorded hundreds of stage presentations in a score of years. The ticket sale will open Saturday morning at Plummer's.

Musical Treat—Grand Today. If the movie fans of Wilmington only knew the great treat that is in store for them at the Grand theatre tonight, it would be necessary, says the management, that they call out the entire police force to keep the crowd in line, to allow the streets cars to pass. This is really no jest, but pure facts. Prof. G. L. Johnson has been engaged to play the greatest musical instrument in the world, "The Wurliitzer," now installed in the Grand theatre. To hear this wonderful instrument with the human voice, in the hands of such a capable musician as Prof. Johnson, is in itself an added feature that the Grand management is justly proud to announce. As previously announced, "The Girl of the Golden West," which, in its picturized form is presented by Jessi I. Easky, associated with David Eilaaco, is to be the attraction at the Grand today; it is said to be one of the most tensely exciting films ever staged. Produced in the very country where the incidents are supposed to take place this drama of California mining camps of the days of '49 is realistic in the ultimate degree, and the extraordinary love story of the "road agent" and the honest girl of Cloudy Mountain becomes more fascinating than ever just in proportion as it is more fully unfolded before the eyes. The three principal roles of the girl, the sheriff and the road agent are played respectively by Mabel Van Buren, Theodore Roberts and House Peters. The photodrama has been produced by Cecil E. DeMille. And it is the result of some months work in California near the actual scenes of the story. The production is purely extraordinary, and the management takes justifiable pride in assuring all photography patrons that in this instance their expectations will surely be realized in the highest degree.
