Turks Renew Activity.

Renewed activity of various kinds, noted by the Turkish official communication in the past few days, has presumably been in the nature of preparations for the final act of the Dardanelles tragedy. Tonight's Turkish of in 1913 the Underwood law feduced danelles tragedy. Tollight the period the tariff to 30 per cent. The King Edward VII. represented an investment of nearly $1,600,000 and was one of the finest of the last class of pre-dreadnaughts, comparing in general to the American ships of the New Jersey and Nebraska type, and was only slightly older than the Natal, which was sunk by an internal explosion about a week ago.

No Large Development On the west and east fronts there have been no developments of large importance over the week end. The German communication announces that last night. There will be a full dress debate on the compulsion bill Tuesday with David Lloyd-George, minister of naunitions, and Arthur Henderson, labor member, who has just resigned from the cabinet, as the probable star speakers. Sir Henry Dalziel, who has been one of the most consistent critics of the government, also will give his reasons why he supports the government on this matter.

The labor party will meet early in the week to consider its position. Unless, however, opposition to the bill small likelihood that the government will feel need to appeal to the coun-

War News at a Glance

The complete evacuation of the Galipoli Peninsula by the British and French forces, the withdrawal of the kopf, in the Vosges mountains, and the sinking of the British battleship King Edward VII., after it had come in contact with a mine, are the outstanding features in the war news. A British soldier wounded was the only casualty suffered in leaving the Gallipoli Peninsula and the British and guns, except 17 old ones which were destroyed. There also was no loss of life in the sinking of the King Edward VII., and only two men aboard the pre-dreadnaught were wounded. In the Hierastein, Berlin says, many officers, 1,083 chasseurs and 15 guns were taken. Paris, in admitting the evacuation, says it was due to the capture by the Germans of a hill to the north of Hiersstein. On the western front little activity has been shown by either side, except in te usual bombardments and mining operations. Comparative calm prevails in the Austro-Italian theatre. Considerable fighting is still going on it Czartorysk, on the Russian front, where the Teutons have twice been repulsed with considerable loss in attempting to capture that town from the Russians. Petrograd reports that the Austro-Hungarians have been driven from the eastern bank of the middle Stripa river in east Galicia. Nothing new has come through with regard to the operations of the Austrians against the Montenegrins, except that an Austrian tenegrin positions in Mount Lovces, filed in the court room to announce Congress Much Calmer After a Week of Open Discussion in Both Houses.

BUSY DAYS ARE AHEAD.

Deliberations on National Preparedness Subject Now Well Under Way.

Washington, Jan. 9 .- After a week of open discussion in the Senate and House, congressional excitement over the foreign relations of the United States has been considerably allayed. Administration leaders appear to have succeeded in prevailing upon most of their colleagues to adopt to policy of patient waiting for complete investigation of recent war zone incidents by which American lives were sacrificed.

It is certain, however, that there will be almost daily discussion at the capshows H. Robert ital of the conditions affecting the pean war, now that the bonds of resilent have been broken. In both houses last week conservative and radical members emphatically accepted their views regarding the paramount war issues, and in almost every debate some phase of the foreign fairs of the nation probably will be
