CHURCH WAR WORK.

A limited number of women are being sent to France by the Knights of Columbus committee on war activities. These women will serve in the canteens, hospitals, or wherever needed.

It is stipulated that all applicants for these positions must be over 20 years of age. They must possess energy, and intelligence, and must be capable of taking care of themselves under varying circumstances. It is pointed out that this work will entail a sacrifice of comfort.

Government regulations must be met regarding all applicants for passports for foreign service. Therefore, no woman whose parents were born in an enemy country, or who has a husband, son or brother in military service can be accepted. Already many applications from women in various parts of the country have been received, and several of these applicants have been sent abroad.

The postoffice mission committee of the Alliance of Unitarian and other Christian women sent a request to the churches to notify every man in government service of the name of the chaplain of the camp where he was stationed. The churches were also asked to send a list of the men in camp to the camp chaplains and men.

The churches are assisting the men to locate their friends. Many of them have sent copies of their honor roll, with addresses of the men, to military and naval members. This has enabled Rev. R. P. Walker, pastor.—Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Young People's prayer service at 7 p. m. Public is cordially invited to all services.

of war workers. When Miss Burrall organized the class early in the present year there were six members; today there are 116.

"I try to assist the girls in all their problems," Miss Burrall said. "Each Sunday after class I keep a certain period free, so that my girls may come to me for advice and encouragement. It makes me very happy to realize how many come. Each girl is an active member of the Red Cross. Thrift stamps are on sale in the Sunday school rooms and are freely purchased by members of the class. War service organizations are heartily supported by all the young women."

A collection of 31 of the well known hymns familiar to all denominations is being adapted for band music, suitable as accompaniment for community singing. The Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of the Episcopal cathedral, Washington, D. C., is chairman of the committee supervising this work. A subcommittee to the committee on church co-operation of the District of Columbia, war camp community service.

"Heretofore it has been difficult to sing hymns with a band accompaniment. The instruments are so high in pitch that the human voice is strained in following them. Camps, cantonments, and other interdenominational gatherings will benefit by these new scores," said E. W. Bond, secretary of the committee on church co-operation.

An ambulance, purchased and equipped by the Fordham unit now in France, by the alumnae of the College of St. Elizabeth at Convent Station, N. J., was presented to the Red Cross by the Rev. John A. Muiry, president of Fordham University, at the commencement exercises June 12.

The alumnae association will maintain the ambulance. It has purchased $10,000 worth of Liberty bonds of the second and third issues. Its members are prominent in many fields of endeavor to promote the interests of the government in this war, as stated in a report from Sister Mary Agnes. Assistance has been given by members of this college to the Chaplain's Aid association, to the Knights of Columbus war drive and to other organizations furthering aid to our armies and their allies.

Centrally located churches of Washington are interested in finding work rooms for the Red Cross units recently organized in the various government departments. Several of these churches are planning to open their social rooms at stated times for the use of these units according to E. W. Bond, executive secretary of the commission on church co-operation of the District of Columbia camp community service.

"Interdenominational vesper services are being conducted each Sunday afternoon on the Ellipse having begun early in June," said Mr. Bond. "These services are primarily for soldiers, sailors, marines, and civilian strangers, though anyone desiring to come is welcome. An address is given each week by a prominent speaker, and the marine band furnishes the music."

Sixty-three camp welfare workers of the Christian Science church are employed in the various camps, cantonments, forts, and military stations of the United States. There are 15 welfare room attendants and hundreds of Christian Scientists who are members of local and state camp welfare committees. Forty-two automobiles are in use by the camp workers. These cars, marked "Christian Science Welfare Committee," are used to assist camp postmasters. Letters and telegrams from anxious mothers asking for information about their sons are received and answered. "These messages are always willingly and promptly responded to as part of the welfare work," said Avery Conoley, of the Christian Science committee on publications.

At a reading room in England, maintained for the use of soldiers reports show that in six weeks there was a growth in attendance from 72 to 411 a week.

Homes of clergymen in France have been prepared to provide hospitality for American soldiers on leave or during convalescence. Offers have been received from all parts of the world to extend this movement.

These offers are the outcome of an appeal sent out by the French Protestant committee and published in French newspapers under the heading, "A Duty of Hospitality," urging the reception of American officers and soldiers in French Protestant homes.

Madame de Billy, wife of Colonel de Billy, assistant to the high commissioner of the French republic in Washington, is honorary secretary of the committee on French homes, the subcommittee to the French Protestant committee, and the one that takes care of these offers on behalf of the men of the American army.

Thrift stamp clubs have been organized in every Sunday school in Methodism, according to an announcement made by the Rev. John C. Benson, executive secretary of the national war council of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"The church must be foremost in place and duty," said the Right Rev. John Gardner Murray, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Maryland in a recent address. "Our fighting is not for the material but for the moral and spiritual. Being for the moral and spiritual, it must be waged on a moral and spiritual plane. Christian principles must be proclaimed and practiced."

"The present world crisis is a challenge to universal humanity for a more serious consideration of the possibilities and responsibilities of life in its very relationship. There can be no pity that does not include patriotism."

"For a generation at least, we have been living on a plane of the temporal rather than the eternal, and have been ministering to the material rather than to the spiritual. Now we are halted in our joy ride by the warning signal, Stop, look, listen!"
