

GREENFIELD OPENING FOR JULY 4TH ASSURED

Contractors Making Rapid Progress in Getting Things Ready.

Practically All Concessions Have Been Contracted—Eighteen Piece Band for Concerts and Dancing—Monkeys Arrive.

The opening of Greenfield Park to the public, announced for July 4, seems to be assured, despite doubts entertained that the undertaking was too great to be carried through in the brief time since the park was leased by the Howard-Wells Amusement company.

The entire lake front, north of the mill race, will be reserved for amusements that will be free to the public. The features or which charges are to be made will be on the boardwalk covering the low ground south of the stream, and lying between the boulevard and the lake side.

South of the mill race will be placed all of the concessions for which charges will be made to the public. These will include roller coasters, chute-the-chutes, merry-go-rounds, and other features, including band stand for the 15-piece concert band, which will give daily concerts and at night play for the dancing, which will also be without charge. The bath house will be at the extreme northern end of the lake front.

Work on the bath house is already under way, and a pile driver was yesterday laying the foundation for the boathouse. Board walks extending out over the lake among the moss hung cypress trees are being built. Tomorrow morning work will begin on the flooring-in of the low ground south of the mill. A wall will be built of stone along the southern edge of the stream.

ALL VESSELS TO BE RECORDED.

Owners Must Apply to Collector of Customs for Forms.

On June 7, 1918, the president signed the act to require the numbering and recording of undocumented vessels. The purpose of this law is to give the government closer supervision over the use of these small vessels on navigable waters of the United States and make it possible to identify the owners of such boats.

While the penalty for failure to carry these numbers does not apply until six months after the passage of the act the numbers will be awarded at once on application of the owners.

DEATH OF MRS. PITTMAN.

Greatly Beloved Christian Woman Passed Away Yesterday Afternoon.

Many friends will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Georgianna Pittman, who passed away yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her son, Roland L. Pittman, at Seagate. She was 64 years old and a woman of devout Christian character, having been for many years a member of Southside Baptist church. Funeral services will be held from the residence this morning at 10 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. R. P. Walker, her pastor.

WILMINGTON FAIR PRICE LIST

The Wilmington price interpreting board for the United States food administration yesterday issued a fair price list on staple articles. The lowest quoted, which the consumer should pay, is the maximum for "cash and carry" stores; the highest price quoted is the maximum for stores giving their customers "credit and delivery" service.

Table with 3 columns: Articles, Retailer pays, Consumer pays. Lists various food items like wheat flour, corn meal, rice, etc.

Uphold the food administration by patronizing merchants who display the administration posters and live up to them. Don't make the merchants send home little parcels. Carry everything that is not too heavy for you to manage.

BAPTIST SEASIDE ASSEMBLY SPEAKERS

A Few of the Celebrities Who Will Be Here.

People Are Already Making Reservations for the Great Annual Baptist Affair at Wrightsville Beach.

"People are already making reservations at the hotels and boarding houses," says Dr. John Jeter Hurt, speaking of the coming session of the great Baptist Seaside Assembly which opens June 27 and closes July 4. "They are coming this year in goodly numbers."

"We have the finest meeting place on the south Atlantic coast," Dr. Hurt declares. "Thirteen different conventions are meeting at Wrightsville Beach this summer. The State Bar association adjourns at 5 o'clock in order to make way for our first meeting in the same building at 8:30 o'clock. When we adjourn at noon on July 4 we will be followed 30 minutes later by a big Masonic convocation. So get your summer together, drop a line to somebody ordering a sleeping place, and be happy in anticipation as well as in realization later."

Notables on the Program. Introducing assembly speakers, Dr. Hurt presents the following: Professor William J. McGlothlin, M. A., D. D., Ph. D., LL. D., is one of the foremost scholars of America. He has been for a number of years professor of church history in the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, Ky. He is also the author of several books which have attracted wide attention. He has a style that is simple, chaste, earnest and impressive. Those who make opportunity to engage him in conversation soon forget that he has won so many high degrees from leading institutions of learning. With all his learning there is no admixture of suspicious interrogation marks, for his allegiance to the "Old Book" is as pronounced as when he was a lad in Sunday school. Dr. McGlothlin will lecture once a day during the entire period of the assembly.

We present next Rev. Curtis Lee Daws, D. D., of New York and America. He is editor of "The Watchman-Examiner," a weekly journal which many consider to be the strongest Baptist paper in all the land. Dr. Daws is a native of Virginia, but most of his ministerial career has been spent in the north. He was for some years pastor of the First Baptist church of Baltimore, and later pastor of Greene Avenue church, Brooklyn. During the years of his pastorate he won the hearts of men and women easily, for he loves people and they soon find it out. He has carried the freshness of every day life into the columns of his paper, and therefore people read it. He understands the times in which he lives, and he knows the needs of the times. He writes faithfully and fearlessly. His friends have never decided whether he is better editor or preacher. He is probably better at both.

Dr. McDaniel of Richmond. Rev. George W. McDaniel, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, Richmond, Va., is a prince among southern gentlemen and preachers. One would be tempted to comment on his handsome appearance in the pulpit or on platform, did not second thought of him crowd out that which is his most important asset, his preaching. Original in composition, natural in delivery, practical and helpful and earnest in every utterance. As a platform speaker he addresses himself always to important issues of the day, and in style combines the best elements of a successful preacher at the bar, a warm-hearted evangelist, a senatorial debater and a first-class stump speaker. He is sure to be at his best in "Our Gains from the War," and "Following the Flag."

Dr. R. F. Y. Pierce, D. D. Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, D. D., is pastor of one of our churches in Brooklyn, and preaches sermons through pictures. He has a remarkably happy faculty of gathering up essential truth and throwing it upon the blackboard. Grown people do not get tired of his sermons in pictures, and the children simply revel in them. Dr. Pierce has been with us two seasons before and because of his great popularity and helpfulness we have engaged him for the third season. He speaks on the first two nights of the assembly. Come early to hear him. And now here is something original and unique. "This wonder to me is that the people of America who clamor for sure enough history do not torment the life out of our speaker who comes to address us on "A Chapter of Unwritten History." I could listen to him a whole day on this theme. But I have changed the name of his lecture, for it ought to be called "The Capture and Death of John Wilkes Booth as I Saw It." Dr. R. B. Garrett, of Portsmouth, tells of how Booth came to his father's house just after the awful incident at Washington, of how he disguised himself while there, of how he talked about the freside, and of how, at last, his pursuers found him, and of the man's death in the front yard of Dr. Garrett's old home. The story is told in simple, conversational style but every sentence of it thrills.

Dr. Victor I. Masters. Victor I. Masters, D. D., is editor of the home mission board publications, and lives in Atlanta. He is already an author of distinguished ability on southern church life. But when he writes or speaks on problems connected with the country church everybody who has a mind follows him closely. Dr. Masters is perhaps the leading authority in America on the country church problem. He will deliver a series of lectures at the University of Virginia, the University of North Carolina, and before other notable groups of southerners on this theme—and his books are quoted by perhaps half the men and women who speak or write on this general theme. He is to be here the entire week.

A new Sunday school expert comes to us this year. He is Prof. W. H. Higgins, of Tennessee, who has been serving as state secretary for several years. Those who have heard him, speak in terms of highest praise of his lectures. He, too, will be with us the entire week. Miss Margaret Frost. And, then, there is another Sunday school specialist whose name sends a thrill through all Southern Baptist hearts. It is "Frost"—Miss Margaret Frost—of Nashville, daughter of him who lately went to rest after having founded and built up Sunday school boards of the Southern Baptist convention. She has been hearing about Sunday school work from the cradle on up. And, now, out of her rich experience and careful investigations she will speak especially to those interested in primary problems.

"Wolslagel." Music will have in abundance. "Wolslagel" will be in charge, and he can get more music out of an untrained congregation than anybody else can get out of a trained one. And therein lies the charm of his work; he thinks first of getting the people to sing and only incidentally of singing himself. The people enjoy hearing themselves sing far more than they do hearing specialists sing. Wolslagel studies crowds and he has observed the fact just stated. But there will be all sorts—for the assembly brings together many musicians. And so we will have solos, duet, quartets, double quartets, choruses and many instruments of music besides. And the "Orphanage Quartette" will be there, for the entire time. That is one reason why I know heaven will not be far from the big auditorium during assembly week. I would be willing to get down and crawl to that spot right now just to hear these angel voices sing. "Tread Softly Here." There would be a new note in my preaching tomorrow.

Other Notes. I need not take space to introduce to our people those who are among us and of us, but merely mention the names that charm, such as W. R. Cullom of Wake Forest, Rev. W. F. Kincheol of Rocky Mount, Rev. A. A. Walker of New Bern, Secretary J. D. Moore of Raleigh, Secretary Odis B. Hinnant of Wilmington, Mrs. Jones and Miss Carroll of Raleigh, Mrs. Pope, Miss Froctor and Miss Caldwell, of Lumberton, and others will be pressed into service.

TAR HEEL IS NAMED TO HEAD ASSOCIATION

(Continued from Page Five.) admirable way in which their reports have handled our proceedings, and to our untiring convention secretary, W. F. Steitz, to whose zeal and efficiency the success of our conventions is, and has always been due." The place of meeting was next discussed and quickly decided. Mr. Sproles, after extending a personal and cordial invitation to visit the town of Greenwood as their next assembling place, read a telegram addressed to the convention from the mayor of Greenwood which read: "City of Greenwood hopes your convention will meet in Greenwood. Greenwood having been chosen as the next place of meeting the following telegram was sent to his home town by Mr. Sproles: "Had great convention. Have adjourned to meet next year in Greenwood with W. E. Vest, of Charlotte as president." Following the appointment of several sets of committees to look after the business of the association between sessions, and get the crowd together for the next convention, President J. E. Gullford thanked the convention for the honor of having served in the capacity of president, and declared the meeting adjourned. Practically all members returned to their homes yesterday afternoon.

A list of those attending the convention follows: W. C. Bridges, Columbus, Ga.; G. H. White, Columbia, S. C.; A. J. Sproles, Greenwood, S. C.; F. C. Wyse, Columbia, S. C.; H. C. McNeil, Maxton; W.
