"AMERICA NEVER FORGETS."

Whisper it close in the infant's ear as he croons in his drowsy dream! Shout it aloud in the marts of trade with the range of a siren scream! Write it aloft on the tow-ring heights where the sun in grandeur sets-That our sons may know-and their sons may know-AMERICA NEVER FORGETS!

Tell them the tale of a Belgium raped, all white in terror and pain:

Tell them of pitiful ,noble France and her sons and daughters slain; Tell them of ships of the undersea that leaped and slaughtered and fled; Tell them of Britain's cities strafed and of thousands of unnamed dead!

Tell them of Russian hosts betrayed by the traitorous, knavish Huns; Tell them of famed cathedrals razed in sport by Frau Bertha's guns; Tell them the tale of the women of Lille, dragged to the depths of hell;

tell them, and tell them well! Tell them of forests and fields despoiled, germs spread and poisoned

Tell them of Poland, and Serbia waste-

Tell them of spies in the neutral lands casting their noxious spells; Tell them of treaties torn to bits-or civilized laws ignored-

Tell them of crimes as vile as hell committed for Prussia's lord!

Blazon it forth to the ends of earththat the sons of your sons may Cast it in bronze on the stanchest rocks wherever lives Adam's breed!

Echo it down till the end of time-till the earth's last red sun sets-That the world may know-and the Huns may know-AMERICA NEVER FORGETS!

MRS. A. F. BOWEN DEAD.

Eldest Daughter of Late Col. Woodward Passes in Raleigh.

Many Wilmington friends will be distressed to know of the death of Mrs. A. F. Bowen, eldest daughter of the late Col. W. J. Woodward, of this city, which occurred shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Raleigh, after an illness with pneumonia and complications.

Mrs. Woodward, mother of Mrs. Bowen, and two sisters of the last named, Mrs. J. L. Hazelhurst and Mrs. R. J. Rose, of Wilmington, were with her when she died, having gone to Raleigh a few days ago upon being informed of her critical illness. Chas. W.-Woodward and Eugene Woodward, brothers of Wilmington, will leave this morning for Raleigh to attend the funeral.

Mrs Bowen was greatly beloved by all who knew her and spent her young her husband, there are surviving of the immediate family, six daughters, the oldest being about 20 years of age. NO SERIOUS ACCIDENTS.

Several of Trifling Consequence Were Reported Yesterday.

Regardless of the congested conditions on the streets yesterday and the confusion incident to the peace celebration, there were no accidents of a serious nature reported, and the celebration ended, late last night, in a manner most pleasing to evertyone.
