

With Wilmington Shipbuilders

Arriving in the city early yesterday afternoon. Governor Bickett, who came to Wilmington to deliver last night that patriotic address which he has been promising the colored citizenry as well as the white folks in this neck of the woods since last July, spent the greater part of the afternoon on a tour of inspection to Wilmington's shipyards. At the Liberty yard the governor was greeted with enthusiastic applause by the employees, to whom he delivered an address, urging that they continue to give their loyal support to Uncle Sam in carrying out the nation's shipbuilding program. He also urged that the shipbuilders should continue to invest their savings in war savings and thrift stamps in order to help the government shoulder its heavy war debt. From the Liberty shipyard Governor Bickett went to the Carolina yard, where he was shown over the plant by President L. C. Dilks and other officials of the company.

The Liberty shipyard will commence today an intensive campaign in the interest of united war work. J. F. Head, of the industrial division of the united war work organization, addressed the foremen of the Liberty yard at their meeting yesterday afternoon, and received from them a promise of their full co-operation in the drive. The campaign among the concrete shipbuilders will be formally opened today at the noon hour. James H. Cowan, secretary of the chamber of commerce, Roger Moore, president of the chamber, and State Director Zack Dunlap have been invited to speak to the workmen at the Liberty yard at that time, and after the addresses the shipbuilders will be canvassed for subscriptions to the fund. The Carolina shipyard has already subscribed $4,000 to the united war work drive, and judging by the enthusiasm of the concrete shipbuilders, they will do as well as the steel builders or go them one better.

The following verses written by an employee of the Fore River plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation fittingly expresses the sentiment of the shipbuilders. The poem is entitled "Yon Yohnson on the Job."

My name ban Yohn Yohnson, And I drive the rivets true, In building ships to make the world More safe for me and you.

I drive up 'round the foc's'le, I drive down 'round de keel, For but those rivets all ban tight When the pilot takes the wheel. Now I don't fight in the trenches, to this yard and gradually the facilities of the yard are being increased. Just outside the yard fence there is a small army of carpenters, brick masons and others just as busy as they can be building the 100-room hotel that is going to mean so much in the solution of the housing problem. The frame work for the first floor has been placed in position and the structure "going on up." The Victory Home company is letting no grass grow under its feet. With the completion of 10 or 12 houses in the southern part of the city near the Liberty yard the company is now gradually moving its forces of builders to Sunset Park where some houses have already been built. Material is being placed on the ground as fast as it can be secured and transported. There are at present about seven or eight carloads of brick on the ground and much lumber. There are still rumors about the government taking a hand and building a few houses for the shipyard workers.

FLORA MACDONALD GIRLS CELEBRATED PEACE NEWS

Red Springs, Nov. 13.—Red Springs and Flora MacDonald college celebrated the coming of peace in a most enthusiastic manner and in a fashion which left no doubt of their joy in the fact that Germany had signed the armistice. Early in the morning the church bells were rung and the whistles were blown, while flag decked cars were driven through the streets. The most colorful note, perhaps, was furnished by the college, when at 11:30 they marched down the street led by Dr. Vardell carrying a huge United States flag, A. F. Jones with the equally large Union Jack with the distinctive emblem of Canada, Miss Anny, Burt Stainback with the tri-color of France, and Miss Eloise McGill, bearing the lion of Scotland. Following the leaders came the drummers, horn blowers, tin pan beaters, bell ringers, and shouters galore, with the gayest possible array of American and French flags, among which was conspicuously displayed the pennant of the U. S. marines. After parading the main streets of the town, cheered to the echo by the delighted throngs of spectators, the girls grouped themselves around Miss Mary Pat Livingston, who led in 15 'rahs for President Wilson, Marshal Foch, the army, the navy, the flag, Rev. King, and all the boys.

The crowd demanded a speech from Dr. Vardell, and he expressed the joy that was in the hearts of all, saying that the past Sunday had been the dawn of the greatest peace that had come to the world since the angels sang of the Peace whose companion is good will to men. He referred to the friendly juxtaposition of the French and English flags, the British and American standards, and the new and stronger ties between the United States and Canada, cementing the peace of a hundred years between these two great North American countries, and an indication of the relations henceforth to be entered into and maintained in the League of Nations in their respect for the rights of others, even to the smallest and weakest nation of the earth. He also sounded two notes of warning, saying that at no time and in no place must we so far forget the magnificent fighting and heroism and sacrifice of our allies as to aver claim that the United States has done it all in winning the war. The second serious consideration is in the fact that the real work of the war is just ahead of us, the work of reconstruction; for war is the activity of destruction, while peace is the activity of construction, in which we shall all have our part and in which we have the great privilege of sowing such seeds as shall bring again to the world good will to men and the peace of which the angels sang more than nineteen hundred years ago. Rev. H. M. Dixon was also called to the speakers' stand and spoke very briefly, saying that he was not in the humor for making a speech, because as a Presbyterian he was constitutionally opposed to shouting and if he allowed himself to say much he was afraid he would do the very thing he was opposed to.

SCHOOL DAY IS TUESDAY AT SAMPSON COUNTY FAIR

Superintendent Uley Urges All Schools to Take Part. (Special Star Correspondence.) Clinton, Nov. 13.—Tuesday is school day at the third annual fair which will be held here the 19th and Supt. R. W. Uley of the county schools has addressed the following to his school teachers:

The third annual fair of Sampson county will begin at Clinton Tuesday, November 18. All Sampson teachers are urged to have their schools well represented, and if possible, every pupil present. I am authorized by Manager Boyd to announce that on the first day, Tuesday, all Sampson teachers and pupils that come as a school unit may enter without cost. To enter the float cost teachers are to lead their schools and vouch for the pupils. Schools that attend the fair may have holiday the first day. Tuesday is school day. Teachers are asked to have their schools bring a nice float. The committees will help arrange the wagons, trucks or cars for the pupils and the float.

The float should represent any industry characteristic of the community, and if possible, every pupil should have as many flags as possible representing as many nations as possible except the enemy nations. The float should show the amount of Liberty bonds bought, the number of boys gone into service, the amount of thrift stamps bought, Red Cross work in the community bringing it.

The float should show something concerning the war as Red Cross work of agriculture, home economics, etc. "A Bond Slacker is a Kaiser Backer," "Thrift, Conservation—Patriotism," "Make, Save, Serve," "If Democracy Lives, Who Lives?" "If Democracy Lives, Who Dies?" Such as the above expressions would look good on the school pennant or float.

The schools are asked to meet at the high school building here at 9:30 o'clock and form line for the parade there. The colored schools are to meet at the colored school house at same time. Schools will not walk in the parade. The plan for the parade will be given when the schools arrive at the school house.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 229-E Marcellus Ave., Manassas, Va. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.
