

WAR. ARMS SPREADING HUN PROPAGANDA

Tried to Stop Munitions Manufacturers With Advertising.

Hammerling, However, Who Formerly Aided Republican Campaigns, Declared He Thought Germany Was Getting Munitions.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Organization in 1915 of a $200,000 advertising campaign by which it was hoped to stop the manufacture in the United States of munitions for the allies was admitted by Louis N. Hammerling, president of the American association of foreign language newspapers, in testifying today before the senate committee investigating activities of brewers and German propagandists.

Edward A. Rumely, recently owner of the New York Evening Mail, and Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, a German propagandist, were connected with the campaign by the witnesses, who declared that the money for the insertion of the advertisements in practically all of the 619 newspapers of the association of which he is president was contributed largely by Rumely. He said his dealings with Albert consisted in the collection of the high German propaganda of a proportion of the $200,000 which Rumely contributed.

Hammerling denied upon questioning any connection or acquaintance with former German Ambassador Bernstorff and sought to justify his part in the advertising campaign with the statement that he believed the munitions being manufactured in this country were being shipped to Germany.

"Was it for the almighty dollar, or to help Germany, or to help Munitions?" asked Senator Nelson of Minnesota.

"It was a help to humanity," replied Hammerling. "and I also was glad to get the advertising. If I had any idea that it was in the interests of the German government I would not have done it. I thought the munitions were being sent to Germany."

Other activities of Hammerling, including his connection with the republican national committee in 1908, in an advertising capacity and his embarkment in the advertising business in New York in 1904 at the solicitation of the republican national committee and Senator Fenwick of Pennsylvania, also were brought out at today's hearing. The committee also inquired into a possible connection between the foreign language newspaper association and the United States Brewers association. The brewers' subsidy, Hammerling admitted, paid his organization $31,640 in 1916 for translating articles on "personal liberty" appearing in the foreign language newspapers.

NEW YORK STATE YOUTHS TO HAVE MILITARY TRAINING

New York, Dec. 3.—Boys in New York state between the ages of 16 and 19 are registered today for military training under the military training law. It is estimated that the number of registrants will total 290,000. About 75,000 boys have already been enrolled under the training law. They must also register, so that complete data may be obtained. School boys are called upon to answer only three questions, but those who have left school to work must fill out a long and detailed questionnaire.

Every boy will get a certificate assigning him to an armory or school, where drill will take place without such a card a boy can not work out of school, and if he is decided to do nothing he will be arrested as a vagrant on the anti-loitering law. The training will take up 1-2 hours a week.

ALLEGED SOLDIER-SPY TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Ayer, Mass., Dec. 3.—Presley H. Stringfellow, of Culpesper, Va., a private in a field signal battalion at Camp Devens, who has been on trial as a spy, took the stand in his own defense today. When approached by two men who, he said, had offered to get him out of the army in return for certain information he had matched his wits against theirs in apparently yielding to their wishes while he gave them information or no value whatever and which was available to anyone.

Stringfellow was charged specifically with tapping a telegraph wire from headquarters and with giving confidential code books to men supposed to be enemy agents. His statement brought the trial to a dramatic conclusion. The findings will be announced later.

May Name Destroyer "Parrott"

Kinston, Nov. 3.—A new torpedo boat destroyer may be named Parrott in honor of the late Lieut.-Com. G. Fountain Parrott, of this city, according to friends here who understand that a movement to that end has been started in naval circles. Commander Parrott was killed when the liner Aquitania, 901 feet of passenger steamer, cut his destroyer in two in the English channel a few weeks ago. Parrott was one of the best known younger officers in the navy. At Vera Cruz, where he served with distinction, he was delegated to return personal effects of the Mexican General Obregon. He received and prized a warm letter of thanks from Obregon.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, Dec. 3.—Announcement is made by the Fayetteville chamber of commerce of the retirement of President Frederick T. Hale from that position and the election of Charles Rankin as his successor by the board of directors of the chamber. Mr. Hale has served as president of the chamber during one of the most crucial periods of the city's business history, and has had a large share in the accomplishments which have been wrought during that time. Mr. Rankin, a lumber manufacturer, is one of the soundest and most successful business men of Fayetteville. He is progressive, liberal, public-spirited, energetic, and possesses marked executive ability, and the directors of the chamber in choosing him feel confident that in the difficult position to which he is called in the construction of affairs in the change from war to peace, he will head the organization successfully and safely.

"It was announced at the executive offices today," said the statement, "that United States Fuel Administrator Garfield had tendered his resignation to take effect at the pleasure of the president, and that the president had accepted the resignation, although it was made clear that the needs of domestic consumers will continue to receive the attention of the fuel administration until the winter is passed."

The correspondence between the president and Dr. Garfield was not made public, nor was there any information as to when the resignation becomes effective or whether a successor to Dr. Garfield will be named.

EISNER LOSING PRESTIGE AMONG PEOPLE OF BAVARIA

London, Dec. 3.—Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian premier, is losing prestige, according to a Munich dispatch received here by way of Amsterdam, Copenhagen and Berne. A Copenhagen dispatch says that Eisner was besieged by his own partisans at a Munich street celebration in honor of returning soldiers. Later a supporter of Eisner was not allowed to make a speech at the celebration, but fled from an angry crowd, which threw red flags along the streets and stormed the ministry of the interior.

CONNECT FOREST PARKS BY MODERN HIGHWAYS

Congressman Weaver Seeks Improvement in Government Properties in the Mountains.

By S. R. WINTERS.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Representative Zebulon Weaver is negotiating with the United States forest reserve looking to the establishment of a system of highways linking together the government lands at the head of the Cullasaja river, the Vanderbilt boundary, the Mitchell reservations, and the lands at the head of the Big Ivy creek in Buncombe county.

A congressional act makes it optional with the forest service whether lands shall be contributed for such purposes. Representative Weaver will ask for sufficient appropriations to establish this chain of improved highways. He is already holding one conference with the forest service, and this will be followed up with a series of conferences next week.

The chambers of commerce of Henderson and Asheville have applied to Senator Simmons requesting that he make requisition on the war department for some of the captured German guns. The North Carolina towns would gladly accept them as permanent exhibits in their parks, as an ever-present testimony of complete subjugation of the German empire.

G. D. Whitfield, postmaster at Henderson, is a visitor to the national capital this week. While in Washington, the postoffice department granted his office an additional allowance for clerk hire.

Hobgood, Jr., lawyer of Greensboro, held a conference with Senator Simmons relative to the feature in the senate revenue bill that would levy excess profits on individuals and corporations.

Attorney-General James S. Manning, of Raleigh, thinks that young men now enlisted in the air service and that have attended training schools should be given a visitor to their homes. He would thus compensate their daring spirit and bravery in the war. He has written a letter to Senator Simmons, and the latter shares the view with him.

Garland Daniel, secretary of the Greensboro chamber of commerce, has written Senator Simmons a letter requesting him to bring his influence in having a naval radio station established at the Gate City. He refers to a recent monster wireless station established by the United States at Norfolk. The chamber of commerce of the United States has designated C. F. Tomlinson, of High Point, as chairman of the furniture section group of American business men that will participate in the industrial convention at Atlantic City on December 3, 4, 5 and 6. He will represent North Carolina and the furniture industry at the national gathering.

FIRST FLEET OF FOOD SHIPS HAS ARRIVED AT GIBRALTAR

Washington, Dec. 3.—The first of the fleet of ships carrying 270,000 tons of food for the relief of European peoples has arrived at Gibraltar and has been ordered to proceed with its cargo to the Mediterranean. Information was contained in a cablegram received by the food administration today from Herbert Hoover, who is in Europe, making a study of the food situation. An official report of the conference was made several days ago of the sailing of the fleet of food ships. It was stated that the ships would go to Gibraltar and there received further orders. It is presumed that these orders will be based on the results of the food survey being made by Administrator Hoover and the allied food controllers.

ALLIES WILL DEMAND THAT HOLLAND GIVE UP EX-KAISER

London, Dec. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—It is understood that the representatives of the allied conference at the foreign ministry today were unanimously in favor of demanding that Holland hand over to the allies the former German emperor and former crown prince.

No official report of the conference was issued beyond a mere recital of the names of those attending it and a statement to the effect that Col. E. M. House of the American peace delegation was prevented by illness from attending.

EX-CROWN PRINCE IS STILL CLAIMING TITLE

Such a nation cannot be crushed. "The armistice terms are very severe and almost impossible of execution, as the entente powers are taking away a large portion of the means of transport. Asked whether Germany, if victorious, would not have imposed even more severe terms, he expressed the belief that such would not have been the case.

When the Brest-Litovsk treaty was mentioned, he said its terms were hard because in Russia the Germans were confronted by the bolsheviks. With regard to air raids on unfortified cities, the fierce submarine warfare, the bombardment of other countries, and the deportation of women from the occupied districts to work in Germany, Frederick said he had always entirely disagreed with these policies.

In connection with Germany's action in Belgium at the beginning of the war, the ex-crown prince said that the German general staff had informed him that Field Marshal Haig was in Belgium in July, 1914, making a complete military survey for future operations. When it was suggested that the German staff had done the same thing, Frederick said he knew nothing about it.

German diplomats, he declared, had made "awful" mistakes, being unable to see the viewpoint of the countries where they were stationed and misreading opinions of other countries. Referring to the notorious Kaiser telegram during the Boer war, he said: "My father was made to send this telegram by his political advisers." The former crown prince is living a very simple life now. He strolls about the island, chats with peasants and is learning the Dutch language from a small boy. He says he is interested, although in reality not interested, as all the other German officers have been permitted to leave Holland. He does not expect his wife to come to Holland. She will remain in Berlin to superintend the education of their children.

Frederick William discussed various subjects quite frankly with the correspondent for two hours, but requested that his name or the manuscript discussion should not be published.

JEOPARDIZES HIS OWN FUTURE TO SAVE GIRL

Sing Sing Convict Takes Stand in Effort to Clear Miss Bakas of Murder Charge.

New York, Dec. 3.—F. J. Regan, Sing Sing prison inmate and confessed author of a long series of crimes, took the witness stand in criminal court here today and placed his own future in jeopardy in an effort to save Miss Elizabeth Bakas, 19-year-old Freemansburgh, Pa., girl, from conviction on a charge of murdering Mrs. Helen Hamel, a New York lodging house keeper, last February.

The convict played the chief role in what attorneys for Miss Bakas termed "an unprecedented and almost miraculous occurrence." He asserted Miss Bakas' innocence and declared Mrs. Hamel came to her death while he and a "pal" were robbing her house.

He denied that he had actually killed Mrs. Hamel, though he admitted he "killed" a "mole" around her neck and was after Mrs. Hamel "sagged" in a struggle with the "pal," whose name he steadfastly refused to give.

Once during the recital of his story of the murder, the witness yawned and throughout both direct and cross-examination he maintained an imperturbable calm.

"Do you know this girl?" Regan was asked by Miss Bakas' attorney, indicating the defendant.

"No, I want to see justice done," the convict answered.

HAD TO FIGHT BECAUSE WE FAILED TO PREPARE

Mayo Declares We Were Led Into War Because of Small Navy and Military Unpreparedness.

New York, Dec. 3.—"If our navy had been what it is today and we had universal military training, these last four years would have been years of peace," was the assertion made tonight by Vice Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander of the Atlantic fleet, just before he went on board his flagship, the superdreadnought Pennsylvania, which will lead the squadron that will escort President Wilson to France.

"The conflict just ended would never have been begun by Germany if she had not been contemptuous of us as a military nation," continued the admiral.

"No other conflict will be begun by anybody if the United States keeps alive the spirit of its land and sea forces," he said. "Congress, in dealing with military and naval matters, should realize now that it is better to spend a few hundred millions for adequate preparation—which is protection against war—than to participate in the industrial convention at Atlantic City on December 3, 4, 5 and 6. A great and efficient navy and universal military training should be maintained by the United States from now on as the best possible means of preventing future wars."

Admiral Mayo returned Monday after a three months' tour of inspection of naval forces of the United States in foreign waters.

W. J. BRYAN ADDRESSES NATIONAL FARMERS CONGRESS

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 3.—American soil and soil tillers have proven themselves the best in the world, William Jennings Bryan declared in an address here today at the opening session of the 40th annual convention of the national farmers congress. Now that they are on the return to civil life, he said, "they are entitled to the best treatment that a grateful nation can give."

Bryan advocated an early demobilization consistent with conditions and the country's obligations, and said provisions should be made for the employment of the returning soldiers on public works until they are absorbed by the civilian life of the country.

B. L. Hamner, agricultural agent of the Seaboard Air Line railway, urged the farmer to encourage the return of discharged soldiers to the farm.

Delegates from nearly every state are attending the convention.

Joe Welling Won Decision.

Boston, Dec. 3.—Joe Welling, of Chicago, won a referendum decision over Johnny Dundee of New York, in a 12-round bout here tonight.

PRESIDENT'S TRIP ABROAD DEBATED

bridge at El Paso, but did not go into Mexico. Regarding his speech, Senator Sherman deplored the influence of the old world with which the president would come in contact and declared when he reaches it, "the whole man will be reached. He is sought to surround the president is lost." The effects of such influences, he said often have been felt by nations.

"A kiss of a sensuous woman," said Senator Sherman, "has been known to change the history of nations." "We ought not to put him in temptation," he added after a pause, while senators and spectators in the galleries applauded.

Senator Sherman contended that the ordinary function of the president's office cannot be performed while he is abroad, that he cannot make civil appointments, pardon or relieve offenders, order troops to preserve order, or perform any of the routine acts.

"Sovereignty is not of a migratory character," he said. "The president of the United States is not the president in a foreign land, he is an alien, shorn of all his sovereign powers. He has no power of his own volition to transfer the seat of government to an alien country."

WOULD HAVE ALLIES PROTECT ARMENIANS

Viscount Bryce Says It Is Desirable That Armed Force Be Sent To Restore Order.

London, Nov. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—In the opinion of Viscount James Bryce, former ambassador to the United States, "it is extremely desirable that every effort should be made to send in a sufficient allied force to occupy what was Turkish Armenia and re-establish some sort of order there."

This view is expressed in a communication to the Manchester Guardian, coupled with a regret that the conditions of the Turkish armistice failed to provide for the immediate occupation by the allies of the six Armenian vilayets and also of Cilicia (modern province of Adana on the Mediterranean). Lord Bryce says, however:

"I can not think that this omission was due to any doubt as to the necessity, and indeed the solemn duty, of delivering all the Armenian districts utterly and forever from any vestige of Turkish rule. The British government, he continues, has pledged itself 'to frequently and clearly to this deliverance, and, as we understand, both President Wilson and the French government have expressed themselves as strongly in favor of such a policy, that we can not doubt the honest purpose of the government.'"

"It need hardly be said," the statement goes on, "that to leave the Eastern Christians of Armenia and Syria under Turkish rule would excite the warmest indignation all over the country, and if possible still warmer indignation in the United States, where the interest in Armenia has been extremely great and has been evinced by the enormous contributions which have been made to the relief of the Armenian refugees."

"I am glad to see in this country," he found who thinks that after the three hideous massacres which the Turks have perpetrated in Armenia since 1895, culminating in the worst massacre of all in 1915, when 800,000 Christians perished, that there is possible for any Christian power, or indeed any power of human feeling, to leave the Turk free to begin oppressions afresh, or to fall to show by turning the Turk out of the country the anger and horror which his cruelties have excited? I need hardly add that the presence of Turkish rule in these regions, with their great strategic importance, would be material to Germany, if ever she saw her chance in realizing her scheme for pushing her influence towards Persia and Central Asia."

"One fails to see any reason why the Turks, being absolutely at the mercy of the allies, and having contracted with the latter approval of Germany, the hugest single crime that has been committed in the whole course of the war, should not have been compelled to an absolutely unconditional surrender, which would have granted to them what have shown that, whether under Abdul Hamid or under ruffians like Enver and Talaat, they are capable of the most revolting crimes?"

SEABOARD MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING TODAY AT KINSTON

Association of Doctors of the Coast Country in Session.

(Special Star Correspondence.) Kinston, Dec. 3.—A public session will be held at the annual convention of the Seaboard Medical Association here tomorrow evening. George E. Hanrahan, pastor of Atkinson Memorial Presbyterian church.

The meeting will be followed by a spread given the visiting physicians by the chamber of commerce at club corner of the Hunter building, at Monument corner. Thursday's session of the association will be given over largely to addresses by medicals and discussion of professional topics. It is expected that the army will be represented at the convention.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE HAS BEEN DESTROYED BY HUNS

Paris (Havas Agency), Dec. 3.—The German foreign office has destroyed by fire all damaging documents in the archives of the German general government at Brussels and destroyed all documents in Berlin which might be useful in placing responsibility for the war on the German government, a former socialist member of the reichstag declared in a speech in Berlin, according to advices received here.

The revelations of the socialist, the Paris newspapers declare, throws a singular light on the proposals of Dr. Solf, the German foreign secretary, to have a neutral commission inquire into the origin of the war.

LOT'S WIFE TURNED TO SALT BECAUSE SHE LOOKED BACK

This Wedgefield Lady Could Not Turn Her Head On Account of the Pains in Her Neck and Back—She Now Praises Drecto For Complete Relief.

"I have suffered for years with pains in my back and there was a spot in the back of my neck that gave me awful pains so that I could not turn around," are words given in a signed statement for publication in this paper by Mrs. A. J. Geddings, a well known and highly respected lady of Wedgefield, S. C. "I also suffered from gas in my stomach and that bloated up feeling, which caused me such uneasiness. Often had headaches and my kidneys were often out of condition and the pains in my back seemed almost unbearable at times. My liver was sluggish and I frequently had dizzy spells and spots floated before my eyes. My nerves were on edge and my sleep was very broken and did not refresh me.

"Some of my neighbors were taking Drecto and it was doing them so much good I started on it also, and I am feeling like a different person. All my troubles have been overcome and I am telling everyone of the great good Drecto has done me, and you have my permission to publish this statement in the papers."

Hardly a day passes but that some person tells of the wonderful good that Drecto has done them. Persons suffering from stomach disorders, indigestion, gastritis, kidneys all to pleasure, liver that won't act, blood troubles, rheumatism, catarrh of the nose and the stomach, nerves gone wrong, poor appetite and that general run down condition of the system are coming forward claiming that Drecto has put new life and energy into their lives. Drecto is a purely vegetable remedy made from roots, herbs, barks and berries, the very things that Nature has provided for Man's use to keep him well and strong.

TOBACCO FARMERS ANGERED. Hold Indignation Meeting Over Low Tobacco Prices.

Owensboro, Ky., Dec. 3.—Angered by what they considered inadequate prices offered at the first sales of the season here yesterday on the Owensboro loose leaf tobacco market, several hundred farmers adjourned to the court house and held an indignation meeting at which resolutions were adopted urging other farmers to withhold their crops from the market until better prices are offered.

The sales today totaled about 600,000 pounds at an average price of $14.10 a hundred, as compared with $16.68 a hundred pounds at the opening sales last year.

The decrease in the average prices paid was largely due to the slump in prices paid for "trash" which this year sold for only about seven dollars a hundred pounds as compared with about 10 dollars a hundred pounds last year.

Presbyterians Hold Meeting.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 3.—Several states and the District of Columbia were represented at a conference here tonight of the Presbyterian Synod. The main topic discussed was the raising of $3,000,000 in three years for the extension of the Presbyterian church during the period of reconstruction. The conference will continue through Friday.

WILL ANNOUNCE SUCCESSOR TO SECRETARY MADDOO TODAY

Washington, Dec. 3.—Just before President Wilson left Washington tonight enroute to Europe announcement was made that the appointment of secretary of the treasury to succeed William G. McAdoo will be made public tomorrow in New York. There was no reference to a director general of railroads and the inference was that this official has not been determined upon.

Beaufont the Best Drink at All Founts

Stepped up to the fountain the other day and when the man behind asked me what I would have I couldn't think of anything that would satisfy me—was sick of all the other insipid, zestless drinks that I had been getting, so I told the man to serve me the drink he thought was best. And Oh—Boy! talk about your drink that hit the spot I got it. It looked like Champagne and had the sparkle—I asked the clerk what it was. He told me it was B-E-A-U-F-O-N-T Ginger Ale, one of the most popular drinks he served and you can bet I believed him.

Take my advice and don't let yourself go by a fountain without going in to give this real Ginger Ale a trial—you'll be "delighted" just as I was. "Beaufont Ginger Ale is real Ginger Ale." Yours truly, Jack Wise
