

REED BREAKS INTO PROPAGANDA PROBE

Has Tilts With Becker While Latter Is On Stand.

Seeks to Show that Revelations Regarding Wm. R. Hearst Were Made As Political Move to Defeat Governor Whitman.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Most of today's session of the senate committee investigating German propagandists was taken up with tilts between Alfred L. Becker, assistant attorney-general of New York, and Senator Reed of Missouri, who is not a member of the committee.

Senator Reed in cross-examining the New York official who had been on the stand two days, charged that Merion E. Lewis, attorney general of New York, and Becker, misused their official positions in making public information contained in affidavits secured by them under special war legislation.

Mr. Becker denied the charge, saying that the affidavits made public were not secured under the special legislation. He said that certain disclosures purporting to show association of Hearst with Bolo Pasha, executed in France as a traitor, and former Ambassador Von Bernstorff.

400,000 HAVE NOT REDEEMED PLEDGES

War Savings Stamps Sales in State Far Behind.

Only Ten More Days Remain to Meet Pledges and Thus Save North Carolina From Being Laughing Stock of the Nation.

(From State Headquarters, National War Savings Committee.) Winston-Salem, Dec. 20.—There are 400,000 people in North Carolina who pledged to buy a definite number of war savings stamps by December 31, who have not yet bought their stamps and redeemed their pledges. This number of pledgers represent near $15,000,000, the amount that is needed to complete the state's war savings quota and save it from being the laughing stock of the nation.

That 400,000 pledgers, representative citizens of North Carolina, should fail to take seriously, to the point that they ignore, a pledge made in good faith, but made for the freedom of the nation, is a serious matter for the state to face. While it is true that many persons who pledged in good faith to buy stamps have met financial difficulties making it impossible for them to meet their pledges, it is not true that 400,000 people in the state have been so handicapped as not to be able to buy the number of stamps for which they pledged. Thousands of people in the state are so well over that there is no motive compelling them to keep their word of honor and their obligation to the government. They do not realize that the honor of the state is at stake as well as their personal honor in serious jeopardy.

These people are reminded again that they have only a few more days in which to buy stamps and redeem their pledges. The last date on which stamps of the 1918 series may be bought and pledges redeemed is December 31. All stamps bought after this date will be of the 1919 issue and will count nothing on pledges made in 1918, or for the state's war savings record. The state's honor calls to every North Carolina citizen for defense between now and January 1, 1919.

SOCIETY OF NATIONS FRANCE'S FIRST AIM

Will Head French Program At the Peace Congress.

Plan For Bringing About This Unity, As Drawn Up and Presented to Premier Clemenceau, is Given The Associated Press.

Paris, Dec. 20.—Baron D'Estournelles de Constant today gave the Associated Press the French plan for bringing about a society of nations which the baron and Senator Leon Bourgeois, formerly French premier, presented to Premier Clemenceau. The French premier gave assurances that the principle of a society of nations would be inscribed at the head of the French program before the peace congress.

Baron D'Estournelles de Constant and M. Bourgeois said they had formulated their plan to Premier Clemenceau with some apprehension, as he had not yet declared himself in favor of a league of nations, having mean regarded as typifying the fighting spirit which has gained him the name of "tiger."

Explaining the detailed plans presented to Premier Clemenceau, Count D'Estournelles de Constant said to the Associated Press:

"The essentials of the plan are: First, compulsory arbitration without limitation or exception. This leaves out the old exception of questions involving national honor and dignity; second, limitation of armaments; third, the establishment of a council of administration of the nations for the formulation of new international administration and international law procedure; fourth, compulsory arbitration of questions of making effective the decision of the society of nations. Sanctions is a diplomatic expression meaning the various steps for enforcing compliance. They are four-fold:

First, diplomatic sanction. The society of nations shall break diplomatic relations with any recalcitrant nation and give his passport to the ambassador of minister representing that nation.

Second, judicial sanction, whereby the courts of all countries will be closed to a recalcitrant nation. It will thus practically be quarantined and placed outside the pale of civilized states.

Third, economic sanction, whereby the economic means of all nations shall be directed against a recalcitrant state. This economic weapon of the united nations will be a great power in isolating any offending nation, cutting off all its foodstuffs and raw materials, when it acts in defiance of the society of nations.

Fourth, military sanction. This is the last sanction by which the joint nations would undertake to enforce their agreement. This military sanction is the most difficult and delicate of all the questions involved in creating the society of nations.

"There will be different views concerning the military enforcement of peace. It is the purpose of our organization to reconcile these differences and secure some workable basis of agreement. One view is for a small international military force, or the nucleus of an international fleet. Others regard this as unnecessary and prefer to rely on the moral force of the United Nations. Some may wish to give up compulsory military service, but retain the nation.

"These divergent views must be reconciled. That is the main task which M. Clemenceau asked us to undertake. We regard our meeting with the premier as highly important in inscribing the principle of a society of nations at the head of the program for that we
