Union Men and Farmers, Look Out!

Max Gardner is desperate as this day of defeat dawns. He has been desperate for several days. Do not be misled by any of his advertising. You read yesterday, in paid advertisements, where the Robeson County Farmers' Union had indorsed O. Max Gardner for Governor.

There is no farmers' union in Robeson county. Read the following letter from the state officers of the Farmers' union and you will understand the kind of campaign that is being waged by Mr. Gardner:

"No Farmers' Union In Robeson County"

"Referring to resolutions purporting to have been passed by the officers and executive committee of the Robeson County Farmers' Union, which are being published as news articles and advertisements in the press of the state, it would be well for the public to be acquainted with the following facts:

- "1. There is no Robeson County Farmers' Union affiliated with the state organization.
 - There is not a member of the Farmers' union in Robeson county.
- "3. Of the names printed below the resolutions there is but one man whose principal business is farming. Grover Britt, who signed as secretary and treasurer, is a newspaper reporter, and the principal business of the four men whose names are signed as members of the executive committee is not farming.

"4. In order to constitute a county union there must be five locals in good standing. There was but one local last year in Robeson county, and there is none this year. "R. W. H. STONE, President of State Union,

"E. C. FAIRES, Secretary.

"This the 3rd day of June, 1920."

Mr. Gardner has been endeavoring to create the impression that the railroad men are for him, too. He used the names of three members of the brotherhoods, and other members of the same committee state that Mr. Gardner broke his promise to these men in the legislature of 1916. Mr. Hargis had left Raleigh and Mr. Gardner did not keep the promise of support he had made to Mr. Hargis and his friends.

There are five members of the executive board of the State Federation of Labor. Three of these members are railroad men. That committee pleads with you to

VOTE AGAINST MAX GARDNER

Do Some Work Saturday for

"The Peoples' Candidate"

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF NORTH CAROLINA:

There is no doubt about it that more North Carolina democrats want Robert N. Page for Governor than they want any other candidate. Only one thing remains to be done-to get out the vote.

In order to get this done Mr. Page must appeal to his friends and supporters. He has no political machine to round up voters for him. He has no corruption fund to influence any floating vote. He cannot even provide automobiles to transport voters and no other candidate can who observes the law as to campaign expenditures.

In this last announcement before the primary, therefore, Mr. Page appeals to his friends, not only to vote, but help get others to vote.

You can offset the activity of politicians by giving a little of your own time and your own conveyances, in Mr. Page's behalf.

Every taxpayer who wants to see a thorough survey, study and overhauling of our systems of state and county government for greater efficiency and economy should do some work for Page.

Every farmer who wants a progressive, economical administration, with special attention to rural progress should work for Page. Every laborer who wants a square deal for labor-nothing more, nothing less, should work for Page.

Every business man who wants state and county government operated on business principles should work for Page.

Do not be stampeded by wild reports on election day.

Four years ago amazing reports of "landslide," "astonishing gains," "sweeping the country," etc., etc., were telegraphed all over the state by one candidate for state office whom the final returns showed hopelessly beaten.

Mr. Page has conducted a clean campaign, without tricks, without misrepresentation, without demagoguery, without corruption, without entangling alliances. He will work this way to the end.

Since he has no machine to work for him, he does appeal to his friends to work, and he knows these friends will not disappoint him. Page will be nominated.

Yours for work till the victory,

CHARLES ROSS, State Manager.
