"FRECKLES"
The following criticism of "Freckles" which will be the attraction at the Academy of Music on next Saturday matinee and night was taken from the Winston-Salem Journal of January 26.

"Could Gene Stratton Porter have occupied a seat in the auditorium last night and have witnessed the splendid performance of "Freckles," she would have been forced to confess that the characters of her novel had been reproduced to perfection. It seemed as if the characters had stepped bodily from the pages of the book to the stage, an all of the atmosphere of the Lumberlost country was retained throughout the entire production.

"The title role 'Freckles' was well presented by William C. Thompson, and that of the 'Swamp Angel' by Miss Mae Kirby. Miss Kirby is a splendid actress, and enacted her role to perfection. Harry Dickson and Kathryn Cameron furnished good Scotch wit and humor as the Duncan couple.

"The songs, music, and scenery were all that could be desired. Those who attended the play expressed themselves as being delighted in every respect."

GRAND

Having been absent from the screens of this city for some time Lew Cody, one of the best known men on the silver sheet, will be seen at the Grand theater today and tomorrow supported by Rosemary Theby, in a tremendous picture, "Are You Legally Married?"

"This picture is an episode of the divorce trials that are conducted at Reno, and is as clean and wholesome a picture as has ever been filmed, nothing pertaining to sex, nudity, vampires, nor vulgarity appears in the picture whatsoever. It depicts an episode in the life of two people similar to that of the recent Pickford-Fairbanks-Moore proceedings which happened a short while ago and which is remembered by all people of this city.

"Are You Legally Married?" was booked for showing at the Grand only after communicating with other theaters where it has layed to ascertain if it was good enough material for showing to the best of audiences and all reported that it was absolutely clean. It recently played at the Knickerbocker theater in Nashville where it had some of the strongest opposition of the year and it was considered the most appealing pictures of the week, and some very good pictures were played there that week.

"Are You Legally Married?" will open a two-day engagement at regular prices at the Grand today. To avoid the crowd try to attend the matinee showings if possible.

ROYAL

A beautiful California seaside castle is the background for much of the action in Lois Weber's latest photoplay production, "To Please One Woman," which will be the chief attraction at the Royal theater for three days, opening today. The mansion stands on the famous beach at Santa Monica and is the property of a wealthy retired Californian. In "shooting" many of the interior scenes, Miss Weber embellished the already sumptuous furnishings with many of her own personal treasures worth thousands of dollars.

These rich surroundings serve as the background for the central figure in "To Please One Woman"—a beautiful, supremely selfish woman who is in the habit of using all men as her slaves. Claire Windsor, Mona Lisa, and Edward Burns play the chief roles in "To Please One Woman," which was written and directed by Lois Weber. It is a Paramount picture.

BIJOU

Douglas Fairbanks, in all of his spectacular career on the screen, never made a greater production than his Paramount-Artcraft super-special, "He Comes Up Smiling," which is the Bijou's big treat today, for its patrons, one of the greatest bargains in entertainment that has ever been seen on any screen.

"He Comes Up Smiling" is not a re-issue, but one of Fairbanks' latest pictures made for Paramount-Artcraft distributing, and is now playing the biggest theaters of the United States. The Bijou is extremely fortunate, and it is only through a series of circumstances which would take much space to explain, that they are enabled to put on these big super-specials at regular Bijou prices. The patrons of the Bijou get the advantage, and they should pack the theater today from opening until closing time.

VICTORIA

Those owners of motor cars who have enjoyed the oft-repeated jibe of the "constable"—that of the country "constable" shooting at the tire of the speeding machine as it flashes by—will keenly appreciate a certain bit of action in the first episode of "The Veiled Mystery," the new Vitaphone serial, featuring Antonio Moreno supported by Pauline Curley.

In this episode one of the characters, who appears as a mysterious and unidentified veiled woman, throughout the story desires to keep Moreno from keeping an appointment. She waits beside the road, concealed behind a bush, until the motor bearing Moreno has flashed past, and then opens fire upon its gasoline tank with a rifle, several of the bullets taking effect, allowing the gasoline to flow out.

The opening chapter will be shown at the Victoria again today, and ladies will be admitted free upon payment of war tax.

OIL TRUCK DRIVER EXCHANGES SHOTS WITH SOME BANDITS

(Special to The Star)
DUNN, Jan. 26.—In a running fight with highwaymen last night James Phillips, driver of a Standard Oil tank truck, was the victor, escaping without injury after, it is believed, he had shot one of the highwaymen through the arm.

Phillips was attacked near Mingo Dam on the Clinton-Dunn road while on his way to Dunn from a trip to country stores in western Sampson county about 7 o'clock. When he neared the dam some one fired a shot through the windshield of his car. Another man jumped to his running board. Phillips fired two shots at him and he fell to the ground. Several other shots were fired at Phillips as he sped forward, but none struck him.

Awful Pains!

Fredericksburg, Va.—"I suffered with kidney ailment for about four months. I would have pains across my kidneys and lumbago pains in the lower part of my back, and when I would stoop over I could scarcely straighten up. Then at times it was impossible for me to stoop at all, and I became so bad that I was almost down and out when I saw Dr. Pierce's An-uric advertised and decided to give it a trial. It was only necessary for me to take one bottle to completely cure me and I have not felt a trace of kidney trouble since."

In cooking and baking use RED Karo instead of Sugar you can see what a help it will be to you. There are two other kinds of Karo you probably know about:

MILLIONS of housewives depend upon RED Karo as the sweetener instead of sugar.

BLUE Karo

The standard of all table syrups. Also for cooking, baking and candy making. Light brown color, delicious flavor—a heavy bodied syrup.

GREEN Karo

For those who appreciate the tempting tang of real maple sugar syrup. Very moderate in price—absolutely pure.

You, too, after you have once tried Red Label Karo will never use anything else for sweetening in cooking and baking.

It is sweet and gives foods their fullest natural taste. The next time you prepare your favorite dish, see for yourself how well RED Karo serves instead of sugar.

With all its ideal cooking and baking qualities, its economy, its many uses at different meal times,

A Story As Big As The Souls of Men and Women!

A LOIS WEBER PRODUCTION

"TO PLEASE ONE WOMAN"

A PARAMOUNT SPECIAL

A Melodrama of a Dozen Thundering Climaxes

All the catastrophes of history were brought about because a man tried to please one woman. Adam ate the apple, the Trojan war was fought, and Antony lost an empire—for a woman.

And so in this tremendous modern story, Lois Weber has crystallized the destructive force of the ages—has presented with mighty dramatic intensity the havoc wrought by a selfish woman.
