

At The Theaters

Academy : Bijou : Victoria : Royal : Grand

ROYAL
A man and a woman handcuffed together stand at bay before a howling mob that seek their life. The woman is given the key that will release her and give her a chance for life and freedom, and she throws the key away!

This is a situation shown in the new Selznick, Ralph Ince special production "Red Foam," which is now showing at the Royal theater and seldom has the screen reflected a more poignantly dramatic moment.

Zena Keefe is the woman and Huntley Gordon the man who is placed in this precarious position through sheer chivalry. A quality one would not look for in the small Missouri town in which W. H. Hamby's stirring story is laid.

GRAND
Treats galore are in store for Grand patrons today. The bill is one that was personally selected and hand-picked for the occasion, to see just how strong a bill could be presented and how much business could be done in a single day. Patrons get the advantage of this and will see one of the greatest quality bills of the entire season, for the usual Grand admission prices.

The second of the special Big V comedy creations to be presented at the Grand today is entitled, "A Parcel Post Husband," and stars Earl Montgomery in the funniest, cleverest and most original comedy ever screened, according to many critics who have seen it.

Another rare treat is one of the biggest of all the two-reel dramatic gems that "Hoot" Gibson has appeared in at the Grand, entitled "The Man With the Punch," and Hoot is right there with the punch a hundred per cent strong. It's alone worth the admission price.

Paramount Magazine and Bray Pictograph are two other exceptional features, making a solid six-reel all-feature bill.

BIJOU
The Bijou announces beginning today the greatest variety of attractions for their Saturday programs that have ever been offered to the Wilmington amusement lovers, in the successful culmination of negotiations for the great series of big two-reel features now being made by Pathe featuring the hardest riding, fastest shooting, kindest hearted westerner on the screen, Tom Santschi in the leading roles.

The first release today is "Beyond the Trail," a two-reel feature with the breath-catching, arm-clutching king of thrills that everyone craves, a rousing western story full of deep human interest set in the splendors of nature's great outdoors. The Bijou by this contract, shows these brand new super-features first in the entire state right on release date.

Hank Mann, the North Carolina boy who started in last week at entertaining Bijou patrons, today presents "The Plumber" said to be the funniest comedy that he has ever starred in.

International News, always first with the big news of the world, will also be on the bill.

ROYAL—MONDAY
Pauline Frederick, whose new play "Madame X," a Goldwyn production, comes to the Royal theater for three days, commencing Monday is one screen actress who believes in keeping herself in the character she is portraying from the start to the finish of the production. Consequently playing the role of the sad, lonesome, hopeless woman around whose stormy life the action of the play moves, is no easy task for her. The character calls for the best in the emotional acting and Miss Frederick, long before the first scenes of the play were taken, was determined to present a new "Madame X" to the screen audiences and spent hours studying out each scene.

COBURN'S MINSTRELS—ACADEMY
Joe Coburn takes pleasure in announcing and presenting one of the strongest vaudeville headline features in the history of his minstrels for those who admire and enjoy instrumental musical originalities. "The Carl Cameron Saxo-Land Instrumentalists." Introducing also exceptional eccentric and wooden shoe dancing into the musical numbers and billed as modern manipulators of mirth melody and manly the comedy numbers do not detract from its musical excellence.

Coburn's minstrels are said to be the best organization in its history of over 30 years and will appear at the Academy of Music on next Monday evening. Tickets are now selling at the Wilmington Talking Machine company.

"LISTEN LESTER"—AT ACADEMY TODAY
No musical attraction has been more persistently whistled and hummed into favor than has "Listen Lester." John Cort's musical comedy at the Academy of Music matinee and night today and "Waiting for You," "I'd Love To," "Feather a Nest," and "Sweet Stuff" are only a few of the melodies that the general public as well as Lester listened to nightly without tiring for an entire year during which this play ran at the Knickerbocker theater in New York. Tickets are now selling at the Wilmington Talking Machine company.

INVESTIGATE FREIGHT RATES
(Special to The Star)
GREENVILLE, S. C., Feb. 4.—Having decided that one of the best ways to further a city's progress is by bringing freight rates to schedules which will compare favorably in all respects to other cities of the section, the chamber of commerce traffic bureau here has adopted a program of work for the year with this as the most important goal. It is planned to work for such freight rates as will be attractive to any industry looking for a place to locate.

CHILD DIES OF BURNS
(Special to The Star)
GREENVILLE, S. C., Feb. 4.—As a result of burns received three weeks ago when her dress caught flames from an open grate fire, three-year-old Ester May Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bailey, died yesterday. The little girl suffered untold agonies, although physicians did all in their power for her.
