

AMERICANS TAKE MORE HONORS THAN ENGLISH

Rhodes Scholars From This Country Win More Firsts and Seconds

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 5.—A comparison of records which shows that American Rhodes scholars take more firsts and seconds in the honor schools of Oxford University than the English honor men is contained in a statistical study published in the January number of the American Oxonian, issued today.

About four-fifths of the men take the Oxford B. A. degree in one of the research degrees. Although the Americans lead the English honor men in firsts and seconds, their standing is not so high as that of the English scholars who are trained from their public school days in the type of work represented by Oxford examinations.

Five hundred odd Rhodes scholars have been appointed from the United States, representing 172 American colleges and universities. At Oxford one-half of them studied law, one-sixth modern history or economics, one-eighth humanities, including classics and English literature, and the remainder studied a wide range of professional and cultural subjects.

Of those who had a year or more at Oxford before the war, 95 per cent represented their colleges on one of the various athletic teams. Fourteen per cent represented Oxford against Cambridge in athletics.

More than one-third of the scholars who went into university or college teaching, about one-fourth are practicing law, more than 10 per cent are in business and the others have engaged in government service, social and religious work, medicine, scientific, literary and editorial occupations.

Professor Burgess points out that the expectation of Cecil Rhodes, founder of the scholarships, "or at least of some of the early writers on the subject" was that the Rhodes scholars would enter politics "in the English sense" or go into the diplomatic service.

"But neither of these lines," says Professor Burgess, "affords a career in the United States for a man with his own way to make; the organization of the diplomatic service rather than the scholars of the scholarship plan is to blame for the imperfect fulfillment of early expectations."

ANCIENT SKULLS DISCOVERED IN A CAVE IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, Dec. 10.—(Correspondence Associated Press).—Nearly fifty skulls, believed to have belonged to people who inhabited the island of Masbate, one of the Philippine group just south of the island of Luzon, at a much earlier period than the present Filipino race, were found in a cave recently on that island by Dr. W. D. Smith, chief of the mines division of the Bureau of Science of the Philippine government.

strange amulet. Deer teeth and shells were also found in the cave, leading Dr. Smith to the conclusion that the primitive cave dwellers lived by hunting and fishing.

Prof. H. O. Beyer of the anthropological department of the University of the Philippines who has the skulls and other relics brought from the cave expressed the belief that they belonged to the so-called Indonesian peoples who emigrated to the Philippines in prehistoric times. Some of the skulls also were found to be artificially deformed, a custom of deforming the head artificially having prevailed in some parts of Europe in very early times.

NEW BERN SOCIAL NEWS DURING THE PAST WEEK

NEW BERN, Feb. 5.—Mrs. J. G. Anderson, of Asheville, who has been the guest of Mrs. White Gaskins at her home here for several days, left Thursday evening for Benson, to visit Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mullineux, after a few weeks' bridal tour, have returned here to make their home. Mr. Mullineux holds a position with S. Coplon and Son.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Squires left for Greensboro last night, where they will be the guests of friends and relatives for a few days.

Harry E. Barlow, secretary of the chamber of commerce, is in Washington, D. C., after one day in this city following a trip to Potomac Park, to the bedside of his mother, who is now improving from her sickness.

Miss Bessie Alderman who is teaching at Winter Park, spent Sunday with her mother.

MRS. STEDMAN HOSTESS TO FAYETTEVILLE CLUB

Several Pleasant Social Affairs During Week

FAYETTEVILLE, Feb. 5.—The Haymount Book club was entertained by Mrs. Frank H. Stedman Thursday afternoon. On account of the inclement weather only a few members were able to be present, and no papers were read. However, current events were discussed by Mrs. J. S. Schenck. After an enjoyable social hour, Mrs. Stedman served tempting refreshments.

The members of the Tea and Topics club were entertained by Mrs. William Robertson, Thursday afternoon at her home on Arsenal avenue. After the roll call, current events were given. The topic under discussion by the club for the afternoon was "The American Mother and Her Child."

The Cross Creek club met with Mrs. Francis K. Tomlinson at her home on Haymount Thursday afternoon. The club's subject for the afternoon was the ancient literature of Egypt.

The members of the Good Luck club were entertained by Miss Harriett Hardison at her home on Haymount Thursday afternoon. Miss Lucy London Anderson, after the roll call, read an interesting paper on the suffering refugees of Europe.

Miss Sallie Haigh Underwood was hostess to the Original Thirteen club at her home on Rowan street Thursday evening. After the roll call and current events, papers were read by Miss Sarah Tillinghast and Miss Sarah Williams, which were highly interesting.

Between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. A. S. Huske entertained at tea at her Haymount home in honor of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Long, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Ralph B. Fuller, of Durham, who are her house guests.

B. Y. P. U. CONVENTION IN CHARLOTTE, JUNE 14-16

Already the Program Is Being Prepared for It

SANFORD, Feb. 5.—On to Charlotte! is now the slogan among the Baptist young people of the state, who meet in their eleventh annual convention in the Queen City June 14-16.

Already Secretary Perry Morgan, of Dunn, announces that the program of the convention is well on the way to completion. Among the notable speakers whose services have been secured for the program, are Dr. Charles E. Maddy, of Raleigh, the new secretary of the board of missions, who is a live wire and a great friend of the young people's work; Rev. Clarence Leavelle, of Anderson, S. C., who is a noted expert in B. Y. P. U. work; Dr. J. T. Henderson, of Knoxville, Tenn., who is the secretary of the laymen's movement in the southern Baptist convention.

The "Stewardship" will be the general theme running throughout the program. It will be discussed from every possible viewpoint. The 75-million campaign launched more than a year ago among southern Baptists has brought the subject of Christian stewardship to the fore with a fresh emphasis.

ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP THE CRAVEN COUNTY SHERIFF

NEW BERN, Feb. 5.—An attempt to hold up Sheriff J. D. Williams occurred last night, when he was returning home in his car across Trent river. Two unknown parties shouted to him to "halt," evidently having been "laying" for him near James City.

Many a Pretty Face Spoiled by Pimples

Don't close your eyes to the warning which nature gives, when unsightly pimples appear on your face and other parts of the body.

Not only are these pimples and blotches disfiguring, but they lead to serious skin diseases that spread and cause the most discomforting irritation and pain. Sometimes they foretell Eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other annoyances that burn like flames of fire, and make you feel that your skin is ablaze.
