

REPUBLICAN IS AFRAID PRESIDENT WON'T VETO

Forney Tariff Measure Looks as if It Were Loaded to Mr. Treadway

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The Fordney tariff bill with its numerous amendments got back to the house only to get snagged in the Senate jam leaving its immediate future uncertain.

After Chairman Fordney of the Senate means committee had started St. Augustine, Fla., to consult President-elect Harding about putting through a second emergency tariff as a stop-gap. Acting Chairman Green of the House means committee is waiting to send the first bill to conference. Mr. Green enlists the support of Representative Mondell, Republican floor leader, who also attempted to untangle the situation but nothing came of it.

CIVILIZATION'S CRISIS

(Exchange) These are troubled times. Every thoughtful person faces the new year with deep concern. The world outlook is deemed gravest by those who best know international conditions.

Never comes the spring without an enlivened interest in suits. This year's exposition modes show an amazing variety developed in piquette, poiret twill, twill cord and other smart woollens.

What shall we do about it all? For something we must: the hour is too critical for drifting.

Therefore we call upon all who believe that the living God hears and answers prayer to offer daily petitions in behalf of our troubled world—with all the international strife and jealousies and self-seeking, with its industrial unrest and its political unrest—that the Lord Almighty will soothe the hearts of all people everywhere with a consuming desire to seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness.

Because of the extraordinary part He must take in the affairs of our nation and of the world at this most difficult time, we also ask that daily prayer be made for the President-elect of the United States, that he may be illumined and sustained for his trying tasks by the very power of the Highest.

As the Apostle: "I exhort, therefore, first of all, that supplications, prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings, be made for all men; for kings and all that are in high place; that we may lead a tranquil and quiet life in all godliness and gravity."

Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Where there is a fountain for me night and day, for what are men better than sheep, than horses, than dogs, than cattle, than swine, than birds? We know God, they lift not hands of prayer for themselves and those who call them friend?

So we entreat all spiritually-minded persons, in whatever way and at whatever times individual judgment may suggest, to engage, privately or publicly, in daily prayer that the very gravity of present world conditions may drive us all to the Eternal God Who is our refuge, and Who is the only Light in our darkness. In Him we shall find peace and good will, and power for the task of remaking the world.

"All things, whatever ye shall ask in prayer, achieving, ye shall receive."

INVESTIGATE MURDER AND LYNCHING OF THE ACCUSED

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 18.—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Walter E. Lee, shot and killed Wednesday, and the lynching of John Lee Eberhardt, a negro, last night, fastened the responsibility for the former crime on the dead negro and ordered that all other negro suspects under arrest be set free.

The coroner grand jury will investigate the lynching, it was officially stated here tonight.

IMMEDIATE BUILDING OF $40,000 HOME FOR CLUB IS DECIDED ON

Members of Cape Fear Country Club Decide on Larger Structure Than One Burned

Decision to immediately build a new and more modern club house than the one destroyed by fire on the night of February 6, was reached at a largely attended meeting of the members of Cape Fear Country club at the chamber of commerce last night. The report of the special committee authorized at the meeting held last week to devise ways and means for building the new club house and to determine upon a suitable location for it was unanimously adopted. The new building will cost $40,000, which will make it decidedly more commodious and attractive than the former structure which had a replacement value, based on present day costs, of approximately $25,000.

A very full discussion of the plan of the committee was entered into by the members and while several amendments were offered, the original plan, as offered by the special committee, was adopted without change. The committee recommended the building of a new club house on a site which lies between holes five, 15 and 16 on the golf course, or about 350 yards southeast of the site of the former club house. This is a particularly beautiful site, members contend, and is on the club's property, which eliminates the necessity of purchasing additional realty as was at first contemplated. It was stated that the plan adopted at the meeting last night will be mailed all members within a day or two and that a letter of explanation will accompany each copy of the detailed plan.

President George Kidder was authorized to continue the same committee to handle the financing of the club's new home. The committee, through Mr. Kidder, immediately informed the membership present last night that the work will be proceeded with at the earliest possible date. The committee, handling the financing and building of the new house, is composed of President Kidder, ex-officio member and chairman; J. V. Grainger, Mrs. A. S. Williams, Mrs. J. K. Wise, J. Lawrence Sprunt, W. D. McMillan, Holmes Davis and Jesse Roach.

Well, if the world hasn't been disarmed, it has been disillusioned.—Buffalo News.

FARLEY'S Spring 1921 Message "Back to the Good Old Prices"

THE PATIENCE OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE HAS BEEN WONDERFUL

WE have all endured high living conditions, and during the past few months re-adjustment conditions, with the hardships, due to temporary lack of employment and high living costs, coming together.

We have tried to show the same patience that you and millions like you have shown, but the time has come when our patience is exhausted over the question of clothing prices, and we have determined to go back to "GOOD OLD PRICES" AS A PERMANENT POLICY FOR 1921, AND WE are going back NOW.

We are going back, regardless of what others may do or what price manufacturers may charge us.

For 1921 the policy of every one of the big chain of Farley stores will be "BACK TO THE GOOD OLD PRICES."

We want your confidence more than we want profits; to keep it we must, we know, deserve it; to deserve it more than ever, we are going all the way back to GOOD OLD PRICES, regardless of profits.

Every garment has been plainly marked—every manager and salesperson instructed—and we are now informing the public in this personal way that Farley's stores have gone back to "GOOD OLD PRICES" for 1921.

We can be of service to you with Farley's "GOOD OLD PRICES" on a

SPRING SUITS WITH THE CHIC OF GOOD TAILORING IN THEIR LINES

Never comes the spring without an enlivened interest in suits. This year's exposition modes show an amazing variety developed in piquette, poiret twill, twill cord and other smart woollens. Particularly youthful and typical of the zest of spring are the various interpretations of the unbelted jacket. Some are box, others have the graceful ripple back, while others follow the lines of a coolie jacket. Almost without exception smart sashes of self fabric, satin or ribbon, fringed or bead tasseled, accompany these suits. More conservative are the semi-tailored models certain to appeal to women of maturer tastes.

FAITH TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

The men who drafted the Declaration of Independence had FAITH in it and they signed.

Being leaders, it was necessary for them to prove their FAITH to the people and they affixed their signature that all might know they approved and assumed responsibility for it.

Success was the reward of this FAITH. The signature on a check is nothing more than a guarantee of responsibility for the amount shown thereon and the one who receives the check has FAITH in the pledge thus rendered. So it is with merchandise bearing a TRADE-MARK—this TRADE-MARK is the pledge of FAITH on the part of the manufacturer. It is his signature showing a guarantee of responsibility for the product bearing his name.

It is in this way he can create in the minds of the buying public FAITH in his product. It is a pledge to them of his responsibility and a guarantee that their FAITH is not misplaced.

Standard articles of merchandise bearing a TRADE-MARK and NATIONALLY ADVERTISED are the only ones upon which constant turnovers are made. They are never stagnant and live merchants are to realize this more than ever during 1921.

The old saying, "It takes a live fish to swim up stream—any dead one can float down," will prove true this year. The past three years has seen many floaters, and success for 1921 means eliminating the weak floaters by establishing a definite plan of selling only Standard, NATIONALLY ADVERTISED articles, bearing a TRADE-MARK.
