"Your Flag and My Flag"
 "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," and apropos of the day:
 Your flag and my flag,
 And how it flies today
 In your land and my land
 And half a world away!
 Rose-red and blood-red,
 The stripes forever gleam;
 Snow-white and soul-white—
 The good forefathers' dream;
 Sky-blue and true blue, with stars to gleam
 The glorious guidon of the day;
 A shelter through the night.
 Your flag and my flag,
 And oh, how much it holds—
 Your land and my land—
 Secure within its folds!
 Your heart and my heart
 Beat quicker at the sight
 Sun-kissed and wind-tossed—
 Red and blue and white.
 The one flag—the great flag—the flag for me and you.
 Glorified all also beside—the red and white and blue!
 —By Wilbur D. Nesbit.

Unique Party
 One of the most attractive affairs given lately was the surprise party for Dr. Charles Bolles Friday evening in honor of his birthday. Dr. Bolles, blissfully ignorant of any mysterious planning, unsuspecting even of the dainty pink shades, which had been added to the lights in his room, was perhaps counting the time until he would be up and out again after weeks of illness. About 8 o'clock relatives began to drop in, next a near neighbor or so, but it took a tea wagon attractively decorated in pink and white, adorned with a large pound cake with the proper number of candles thereon to make the delighted doctor believe that he was having a party. Pink sweet peas and mints and candies of various colors in pink rose cups and baskets completed the color scheme. Delicious home-made ice cream and old-fashioned Sally White cake were served by Misses Louise Bolles and Christine Butler. It was a particularly happy occasion for Dr. Bolles' mother, as so many of her children and grandchildren were present.

The guests were Mrs. M. L. Bolles, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smallbones, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grainger, Mr. and Mrs. John Bolles, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Harris, Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Graham, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Symmes, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Harris, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Grainger, Mr. and Mrs. Adair McKoy, Mrs. J. E. Matthews, Mrs. M. S. Roddick, Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone Butler, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sheperd, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Evans, Misses Kate and Julia Paison, Misses Louise and Winifred Sheperd.

Gives Oyster Roast
 A very enjoyable oyster roast was given by C. J. Joseph and D. W. Gross at the former's place on Middle Sound Saturday afternoon. In addition to the oyster roast, the guests indulged in an old-fashioned clam bake. The visitors, who motored down to the sound in the afternoon, were Mrs. E. C. Murphree, Shannon, who with her small son, Philip Jr., is visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. James Menzies; Mrs. Louise Moore, Mrs. Sidney Oran, Mrs. Helen Menzies and Herbert O'Neill.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morris who has been seriously ill, is very much improved.

Jones-Rhodes
 At the home of the bride's parents at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the former's place on Middle Sound the wife of George W. Rhodes. The ceremony was performed in the presence of quite a number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties by Elder J. W. Shepard, pastor of Middle Sound church. The parlor in which the ceremony was performed, was elaborately decorated for the occasion. Mr. Rhodes is in the grocery business in this city, while Mrs. Rhodes is the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jones, well known residents of the Acorn Branch section. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes have returned to Wilmington to make their home.

Survey of Schools Shows Need of Bond Issue for More Structures

Accordingly Bill Is Forwarded County's Representatives in General Assembly—Major Graham, Superintendent Public Instruction, Gives Summary Peabody College Survey of School Conditions in Wilmington and New Hanover

A bill providing for the submission of a proposal to issue not more than $1,000,000 in bonds to cover a school building program over a period of ten years or more has been drawn and forwarded to the New Hanover representatives in the state legislature by the county board of education. This action has been pending for some little time, and took place Monday when copies of the survey of the school system of New Hanover county, recently made by representatives of the George Peabody college for teachers, became available.

The bill leaves it to the local authorities to call the election whenever it is considered the time is opportune and the money derived should favorably vote be had, will be used generally throughout the county in enlarging and building new schools for pupils of both races. Nor is the exact sum in the people are to vote on submitted in the bill, it being deemed best to wait until nearer the time of the election, if the bill passes, to stipulate the amount the school needs then will govern this.

Major W. A. Graham, county superintendent of public instruction, yesterday submitted a summary of the survey made by the Peabody representatives in which the points of outstanding interest were discussed and explained. Major Graham did not go into lengthy detail, but he covered the building program recommended, which will probably necessitate the bond issue, the needs of the schools, and the consolidations that would raise the standard of certain units of the county system.

The statement of Major Graham follows: "A building program that will involve the expenditure of large sums of public money should possess certain qualities which will guarantee the safety of the investment. The program should cover a period of years and should provide an adequate physical plant for the ever increasing school population. The buildings should be of permanent and substantial character and conform to the approved standards of school architecture. The program should be in harmony with the plan of organization and administration of the system. It should also be within the limits of reasonable economic restrictions.

"The proposed plan of organization is what is commonly known as the six-three plan. That is six years of elementary education, three years of junior high school, and three years of senior high school. This plan is now recognized by school authorities as best adapted to meet the special needs of boys and girls in the period of adolescence. The intermediate school had fully demonstrated its usefulness.

"The actual construction should be completed in three to five years; but the program provides for normal growth over a period of ten years. The new structures will provide for additions which may be required for a later program.

Needs of City Schools
 "William Hooper: The most urgent need in the city white schools is for the addition of eight rooms at William Hooper school. Here, four basement rooms and the auditorium are now in use for class rooms. The other rooms will be needed to add a sixth grade at this school and for growth. The heating plant, water supply, toilet facilities, and fire protection need a complete overhauling. The site should be enlarged for playground space. "Bear Memorial: The 'Isaac' Memorial school is in a growing section of the city. The auditorium is now used as a classroom. The school should be immediately increased to six grades. Four additional rooms are needed with enlarged heating, water and toilet systems, and provision for a future addition. The addition will make necessary an enlargement of this site.

"Cornelius Harnett: Two basement rooms are now used as class rooms and other rooms are crowded. Four rooms should be added to this building and at the same time the heat, water, toilet systems and fire protection should be improved. The playground space at the new high school needs to be enlarged to provide for an athletic field.

"Delgado: At Delgado two rooms in a building are being used for class rooms. They are by no means suitable. This school should have two additional class rooms and an auditorium. The basement should be enlarged and drinking fountains provided. The heating plant will need to be enlarged.

"Junior high school: Within three years normal growth, stimulated by the new building and broader courses, will fill the new high school and by that time the Junior high school should be ready to take over the first year of the high school and the seventh and eighth grades from the elementary schools. This will then provide for a second period of growth for all schools.

"Peabody: The urgent need for a modern school building for negro children on the north side of the city is recognized by the new Peabody school should be a structure of the larger type embracing 17 class rooms and including facilities for beginning vocational training in the upper elementary grades.

"Williston Industrial: The Williston Industrial school needs an additional building so that the present building may be used entirely for class room work and the new building provide adequate facilities for the industrial training which is recognized as desirable and most helpful to colored students. The report of the survey commission shows the type of instruction desired but such is of necessity greatly limited by present meager equipment and lack of space. The needs require a building of 11 rooms, including shops for boys and household arts for girls.

"Winter Park: The building at Winter Park has recently been enlarged by two rooms but already the school is again filled to capacity. There is now need for two rooms, an auditorium, and the installation of a heating plant.

"East Wilmington: 'Three centers of consolidation are proposed: One at East Wilmington to eliminate the three one-teacher schools at Middle Sound, Scott's Hill and Acorn Branch. This school would also receive all children above the third grade from Castle Hayne and Wrightsboro. There is a new two-room school already on the East Wilmington site and the consolidation would require six new rooms with auditorium. It would provide space for domestic science, manual training and agriculture. The site should be increased in size twenty acres.

"Beach Road Fork: Oak Hill, Masonboro, Myrtle Grove and South Wilmington schools are proposed for consolidation at a point near where the Carolina Beach road leaves the belt road. The Myrtle Grove site is not far from this point, but is low and the building is not suitable for the larger school. For this school a modern building with six class rooms, auditorium, and space for domestic science, manual training and agriculture. Heat, water, and toilet facilities are necessary for such a school. The site for this school should embrace twenty acres.

"Sea Gate: A similar school of six rooms is required for consolidation of Sea Gate and Wrightsville.

"New two-room schools are required at Castle Hayne and Carolina Beach. One room additions are necessary at Wrightsboro, Masonboro and East Wilmington.

"A considerable amount of new equipment for these buildings will be required. A part of this equipment will be five school trucks for the transportation of pupils.

"The building program embraces also the improvements suggested in the school survey for the service systems of all the schools. There is great need of increased facilities in water supply, toilets, heating plants and fire protection."
