

TIME AND PLACE FOR STOCKHOLDERS OF BIG ROTARY PLAY CHANGED LOCAL CONCERN MEET

Womanless Wedding to be Presented at Academy Saturday Night at 8:30

On account of impossibility of completing the necessary physical arrangements, the management of the Rotary club's womanless wedding has announced that the date and place had been changed, and that the "ceremony" and the subsequent "Virginia reel," etc., would be held at the Academy of Music Saturday night, 8:30 o'clock.

No further developments have been reported as to the condition of the bride, Col. Walker Taylor, since the telegram from an alleged "friend" of the groom, Dick Walker. It is hoped that Dick will be able to sufficiently disprove the allegation to at least clear his own skirts in the matter, if not those of the colonel—but he that says it may, Dick says he is going to get married Saturday night if he has to marry "Ole Mammy Ames."

The object of the performance, from a serious point of view, is to enable the Rotary club to continue its activities among the "under-privileged" boys of the community, which is a work involving the expenditure of more than $3,000 per year. By this means, the members of the Rotary club hope to extend to every boy who is without funds or other means to provide himself, the same opportunity for healthful recreation, physical development and moral growth as is afforded those of a more fortunate financial status, and most promising results have already been attained by them through their work in the past year. It is hoped by the management that every boy-lover in the city will attend the show and give to the movement their hearty and unqualified support, financially and morally.

PLANS WELL ADVANCED FOR CHAUTAUQUA WEEK

Tickets for Season Sell Well—Event Opens Monday

Arrangements for the chautauqua are now well advanced and the coming of Swarthmore chautauqua to this city promises to usher in new interest in amusement when the big tent is thrown open to the public Monday afternoon. An ideal location has been selected, on the Jones playground opposite the new high school building on Market street, where entertainment of the highest class will be given every afternoon and evening during the whole of next week. Miss McGill, from the headquarters of the organization, is in the city and is working indefatigably in the interests of the local guarantors who are headed by C. W. Polvogt.

Local business firms that have kindly allowed their buildings to be used for this means of publicity are Hughes Service station; Bellamy Wholesale Drug company; S. and E. Solomon, C. F. Finkenstein, L. Shrier and Sons, Solomon and Shrier, Edrd Department store, Crescent Candy company, Jackson and Bell, and McClammy and Burgyn.

Odis Hinnant and his Boy Scouts have also been helpful in putting out banners for use on automobiles and in other ways assisting the chautauqua publicity, while the newspapers have given generous space in addition to the display advertisements.

The chautauqua opens Monday, bringing a great array of talent to the city including the famous light opera "The Bohemian Girl," the White Hussars band, a famous musical organization in the world; famous lecturers of international reputation, such as Dr. Zilboorg, a former member of the Kerensky government of Russia and many other notable headliners.

Reports Indicate Fisheries Products Company Had Successful Year

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Fisheries Products company was held Wednesday at the company's St. Phillips plant, about 12 miles down the Cape Fear river. The party, in which were represented all sections of the south, was taken on an inspection trip to the company's fertilizer plant at Hilton and then the steamer Wilmington took the large crowd to St. Phillips. A very elaborate dinner was served there after which President Thomas H. Hayes called the meeting to order. The president's report and address showed that the company had a prosperous year during 1920. The report of the treasurer, which was read, showed the company's financial condition to be good with surplus for the year of $663,246.75. The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: Thomas H. Hayes, New York; Thomas W. Davis, Wilmington; W. R. Capehart, Avoca; Elmo Brown, New York; R. J. Anderson, New York; L. H. Wilson, Cross Anobor, S. C.; and F. R. McKinley, Louisiana, N. C.

Officers were re-elected, as follows: President and general manager, Thomas H. Hayes; vice-president and treasurer, R. J. Anderson; secretary, H. E. Goodwin. Stockholders of the company number about 8,000, located principally in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. The company is the largest of its kind in the United States fishing exclusively for Menhaden fish, from which are extracted fish oil and fish scrap. The oils are used in the manufacture of high grade soaps, paints and medicines and for softening leather and tempering steel, besides having a number of other uses. The by-product, fish scrap, is used as the source of nitrogen in the manufacture of commercial fertilizers. The company has a fleet of 18 ocean-going fishing steamers, with plants so situated along the Atlantic seaboard from Long Island to the Cape Fear river that they can easily take care of the fish that are caught in the different localities as they migrate up and down the coast. Fertilizer factories are located at Wilmington and Norfolk, Va., where are manufactured thousands of tons of high grade fertilizers annually. Menhaden fish come from southern waters in the early spring and first show up on the Florida and Georgia coasts, working north as far as Massachusetts, and Maine. The company commences fishing about April 1 off the Georgia coast, working north as far as Hatteras, and the fish caught along this route are taken to the St. Phillips plant near here, where the oil is extracted. After May 1 the steamers leave southern waters and begin fishing in the north, where catches are taken to the plants at Lewis, Delaware and other northern points. After arriving in northern waters the fish remain there until about November 1, when they return south. They are followed up here until about Christmas, at which time all fishing stops and the steamers are given repairs to prepare them for the next season. The company employs several thousand men and causes many thousands of dollars to circulate through payrolls.
