

The Weather
Partly cloudy today and Friday; probably showers and thunderstorms Saturday and Sunday. High 75, low 55. Forecast for Saturday: Partly cloudy with showers and thunderstorms. High 75, low 55. Forecast for Sunday: Partly cloudy with showers and thunderstorms. High 75, low 55.

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

WARFARE BEING CONDUCTED IN THE LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA., FRONT
IN ASK TROOPS
Authorities Send An Urgent Telegram to Washington

Food Is Exhausted In The Tartar Republic
RIGA, Aug. 31.—(By Associated Press)—In one of Russia's starving regions, the Tartar republic, even the children will receive no food after tomorrow, according to announcements published by the "Izvestia" today.
Twenty-five thousand children maintained by the state institutions will be dismissed, while 200,000 fed under the card-rationing system, also have received their last supplies, the announcement said. The monthly requirement of the government to the amount of 70 cars of bread, 17 cars of cereal and two cars of sugar have been exhausted and no further supplies are in sight.

STARVING PEOPLE REVOLT
LONDON, Aug. 31.—The famished people in the Russian governments of Novgorod, Voronezh and Orel are rebelling, says a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen quoting Helsinki dispatches. The dispatch adds that troops sent to quell the disturbance have refused to fire upon the people.

COTTON CONTINUES TO PROMISE VERY LITTLE
Prospects Poor in Almost All the Belt, Says Weather and Crop Bulletin
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The condition of the crop continues poor in most of the cotton states, according to the national weather and crop bulletin issued today.
"Shedding was reported in Oklahoma, Alabama and central-northern North Carolina," the bulletin says, "and weevil activity was retarded by dry weather in Florida and Texas, but much damage continued, except in the northern portions of the belt. Army worms are reported in Arkansas."
"Cotton deteriorated in most of Oklahoma and much of Texas," the bulletin continued. "The progress during the week was rather slow in other portions, except in Tennessee, northern Arkansas and southern North Carolina."

FIFTEEN DEAD, HUNDRED WOUNDED, BELFAST NEWS
Truce Observed Everywhere But in Belfast
BELFAST, Aug. 31.—(By Associated Press)—Although the truce between the discordant factions is being completely observed throughout the remainder of Ireland, Belfast again today experienced another period of rioting from gunmen and snipers. As a result, the death list was augmented by six, while 30 persons were injured, many of them seriously.
The casualties bring the total death toll for the three days of rioting to 15. There probably have been 100 persons, more or less, seriously injured, of whom numbers were shot by snipers who luckily had ventured into the streets which were being swept by rifle fire and revolver fire.
With some quiet intervals, resulting from the police putting snipers to flight, shooting at various sections of the city from early morning until late this evening. Some times it became so dangerous as to necessitate the suspension of the tramway service. Many workers were unable to reach their places of employment and returned to their homes, while shop keepers did not dare to open their stores in the disturbed districts. Manufacturers were compelled to close for the day, while owing to the failure to open the shops, the streets presented a deserted appearance.

COSMOSI MASTERPIECE FOUND BY AN AMERICAN AT ROME
ROME, Aug. 31.—An American young man, Harry Sternfeld of Pittsburgh, winner of the "Prix de Paris," student of the American academy here, has discovered a masterpiece of Cosmosemosis embelishing a great facade of a medieval cathedral, several miles from Rome, at Civita Castellana, a place for centuries forgotten, where the genius of Cosmosemosis and his sons is but commonplace because of familiarity.
The design was executed in the year 1210 and shows the influence of the Byzantine school. The whole of the facade is rich in color and glittering with golden fragments of stone which have stood the test of 700 years. The immense detail in the design staggers one as they proceed to examine them closely. The top of the loggia is one mass of mosaic done with varied colors. Sternfeld says the work is "a dream; the best example of outside decorative mosaics I know of."
Sternfeld has just completed a drawing of the facade done in the actual colors, which he is about to present to the Beaux Arts Architects of New York, the donors of the "Prix de Paris." He has finished his course in the American academy here and is leaving for the United States shortly, to take charge of the school of architecture in the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh. During the war, Sternfeld was an officer in the artillery.

CONCORD AGAIN CALLS ON MORRISON TO SEND TROOPS TO THE MILLS
He Will Go From Asheville to Charlotte Today to Confer With Metts
OFFICERS ASK HELP
Allege That Strikers Once More Are Offering Violence to Employes

ASHEVILLE, Aug. 31.—Request that state troops again be sent to Concord because of conditions arising out of the textile strike were received by Governor Cameron Morrison, from C. L. Spears, sheriff of Cabarrus county; J. W. Womble, mayor of Concord, and C. A. Robinson, chief of police at Concord. Governor Morrison also received telephone communications and telegrams from several citizens of Cabarrus county requesting that the troops be returned.
Governor Morrison will leave Asheville for Charlotte at five o'clock tomorrow morning to discuss with Attorney-General Van B. Metts what action should be taken on the request of Concord and Cabarrus authorities that troops again be dispatched to the textile strike zone.
The telegram signed by Sheriff Spears, and mayor and chief of police of Concord said:
"Conditions in Concord and vicinity are again beyond the control of the city and county authorities. Three hundred strikers congregated at Brown Mill, forcible restraining men and women from going to work. Respectful requests for aid have been made by the city and county authorities. Immediate action should be taken to maintain order and preserve life."
According to information received by the governor, disorders have occurred during this week at the Brown and Norcott mills. Operatives in one room of the Norcott mill had to be removed today, the management reported, because bricks had been hurled into the room.
A telegram signed by 14 professional and business men of Concord said:
"The strikers are not content with their present position. Local conditions are such that we cannot control the situation. We think presence of troops necessary."
President F. M. Sloop, of the local union, textile workers, and L. M. Barnhardt, member of the executive council of the United Textile Workers of America, today issued a statement that they had done all in their power to maintain law and order in the strike zone and that employees of the Brown and Norcott mill want to return to work under the agreement reached with C. W. Johnson, owner, on Tuesday. The union officials denied that bricks have been hurled into the Norcott mill.
Governor Morrison stated tonight he had advised James F. Barrett, president of the State Federation of Labor, that he would order the return of state troops to Concord tomorrow if further disorders occurred there in connection with the textile strike situation. He expressed the hope that the disturbances this morning would not be renewed.

COMMISSION SENDS ITS POWER CASE TO COURTS
Overrules Both Power Company and Mills
(By JULE B. WARREN)
RALEIGH, Aug. 31.—The corporation commission tonight overruled exceptions made to its order fixing rates for the Southern Power company, denying the justice of the exceptions filed by both the cotton mills and the power company. Overruling exception was expected and this now leaves the matter in such shape that it can be fought out in the courts.
The five Raleigh printing concerns tonight sent in their acceptances of the amended contract for a quarter million dollars worth of state printing. The amended contracts give the unions shops 55 per cent and the open shops the remainder, if they can handle it, at a price that will save $20,000 during the two year period as compared with the present contract. The strike clause is also more favorable to the state.

WHEAT PROSPECTS NOT SUCH AS TO CAUSE GREAT ALARM
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—No cause for serious alarm is apparent at present over the prospect of the world's wheat supply, although the situation is not so satisfactory as was expected during the first part of the current season, according to the department of agriculture.
Twenty countries, including the United States, which produce approximately 85 per cent of the known wheat crop of the world, will harvest 2,461,430,000 bushels this year. That is 762,870,000 bushels more than harvested in those countries last year.
Drought in the greater part of the northern hemisphere was a serious menace in many countries, but fall-sown wheat was not so adversely affected as at first supposed. Nearly all northern and central European countries will have larger wheat crops than last year.
A very unsatisfactory feature in the present international situation is the hopeless condition of Russian crops, the department experts say. Unofficial reports state only a very small area was sown in Russia in the various crops, resulting in a failure to produce sufficient food for the country's need.

ALIEN PROPERTY OFFICIAL IS DESIROUS OF OBTAINING FACTS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Recommendation that "provision be made in the forthcoming negotiations to enable the alien property custodian to obtain information in those countries for use in litigation pending in this country over property seized by the government during the war, was made to President Harding today by Col. Thomas W. Miller, the custodian.
It is necessary in the best interests of the government the Miller said, that American agents be afforded facilities in both Germany and Austria for property seized by the government during the war, was made to President Harding today by Col. Thomas W. Miller, the custodian.
It is necessary in the best interests of the government the Miller said, that American agents be afforded facilities in both Germany and Austria for property seized by the government during the war, was made to President Harding today by Col. Thomas W. Miller, the custodian.
It is necessary in the best interests of the government the Miller said, that American agents be afforded facilities in both Germany and Austria for property seized by the government during the war, was made to President Harding today by Col. Thomas W. Miller, the custodian.

IMPERATIVE NEED FOR SYSTEM OF CREDIT TO RELIEVE THE FARMERS
Chairman Congressional Commission Makes Recommendation
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Permanent agencies should be established to provide credit, running from six months to three years, for farmers' production and marketing purposes to fill the gap between short and long time credits furnished by existing banking systems. Chairman Anderson of the congressional commission, investigating agricultural conditions declared today in a statement. There is "immediate, imperative and conclusive necessity of setting up permanent machinery," he said.
The proposed credit, the statement continued, must be of such character as to conform to the farmers' turnover, and of sufficient flexibility to meet the varied requirements of different localities and different commodities. Mr. Anderson contended the credit should be extended "for time sufficient to enable payment to be made out of the earnings of the farm, without contact of the system with the farmer's localities and different commodities."
Declaring that machinery of sufficient scope can be established only through federal legislation, the chairman held that, if established, it should be self-sustaining, and should require no governmental support except possibly for the initial capital requirement. He said that a system established by such machinery, he continued, must be comprehensive enough to meet the requirements not only of the large farmer, however, but the small farmer, however, with limited resources.
"The first essential is an agency to deal directly with the farmers. These agencies should be sufficiently numerous to meet the requirements of every locality, of every commodity and of every farmer. Two agencies now exist which might be used as the point of contact of the system with the farmer borrower. These agencies are the commercial banks (state and national), and the farm loan associations as now established under the farm loan act. A new agency might be created in the form of a co-operative credit association, built upon lines similar to the farm loan associations."
"The second essential is an agency which can convert a large number of small obligations into a few into short-time debentures, or other credit obligations, which can be sold to the investing public. In other words, it is necessary to have an agency through which the investing public can be reached."
"The character of both agencies is largely dependent upon whether it is proposed to have the debentures or securities absorbed by the credit pool, or whether the deposits of the national and state banks, and the liquid assets of the country, or by the investment pool, representing the credit ordinarily invested in long time securities."
"There is, in my judgment no reason why both pools cannot be drawn upon the proper credit requirements of the farmer."
"In setting up the agency to deal directly with the farmer borrower, it is desirable to use the primary credit agencies already existing, and there would seem to be no reason why it should not be checked, in the case of commercial banks (state and national) and the farm loan associations."
"In like manner, in order to set up the agency to distribute farm credit to the farmer, it is desirable to use the form of the original obligations, in the form of debentures or other securities, it may be possible to use both the farm loan banks and the federal reserve banks."
On completion of its inquiry, the commission, Mr. Anderson predicted, would be able to recommend to congress "a definite concrete plan" which would "enable the farmer to obtain the facilities now offered through the farm loan and the federal reserve systems" and would "give to the American farmer the most comprehensive and flexible credit system in the world."

DAUGHERTY PICTURES FORCES UNDERMINING AMERICAN LAW
Attorney-General Says Three Greatest Influences Menacing Reign of Law are Theories of Political Philosophy in Industrial Disputes, Agitation to Upset Republic, and Opposition to Prohibition Statutes
CINCINNATI, Aug. 31.—Theories of political philosophy now advanced by those who either violate law or sympathize with the law violator in industrial conflicts, agitation to upset American form of government, and against enforcement of prohibition statutes, are the greatest forces at work in the United States to undermine respect for law, Attorney-General Daugherty declared today in an address before the American Bar association.
Arguing equally against sentiment that regards a convicted I. W. W. as a "hero of conscience" and "political prisoners," that holds a bootlegger as an exponent of "personal liberty" and sets up the slogan of "human rights against property rights" in employment disputes, Mr. Daugherty asserted that the theories advanced in the other two fields, suggested a method of informing public opinion by semi-governmental means to obviate industrial conflicts. At the present time among the forces which have been challenged in the other two fields, he declared the demand for "personal liberty" in prohibition enforcement had been advanced in the past by every champion of lawlessness who has sought excuse for unlawful conduct.
"Supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder, robbery, larceny," Mr. Daugherty said. "To the contrary, every occurrence of crimes of this sort tends to impress upon society the profound importance of law and its vigorous enforcement. The supremacy of the law is not undermined by the ordinary criminal who commits murder