Murphy-Henderson
On the evening of December 28, the Presbyterian church was the scene of a beautiful and impressive wedding and one of interest throughout the state, when Miss Florence Murphy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murphy, of Atkinson, became the bride of Mr. Walter S. Henderson, of Davidson.

The church was beautifully decorated with long leaf pine, southern smilax and ferns, with many white cathedral candles lending their soft glow.
Promptly at the appointed hour Miss Mozelle Weston, of Atkinson, wearing cream georgette over satin, with corsage of Russell roses, took her place at the piano and rendered a musical program. Miss Cora Clark, of Clarkton, gowned in orchid satin wearing corsage of sunburst roses, then sweetly sang, "Thank God for a Garden" and "To You."

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bridal party entered the church. Proceeding slowly down each aisle came the ribbon bearers, little Louise Carr, in white tulle over satin, and Master Finia Murphy, wearing a Fauntleroy suit of black velvet, carrying the ribbons forming an aisle to the altar.

Next down opposite aisles came the ushers, Mr. Julian Keith, of Currie, and Mr. J. A. Murphy, Jr., of Atkinson, brother of the bride, both in full dress, followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Estelle Moore, of Atkinson, and Miss Lena Campbell, of Wilmington, both cousins of the bride, wearing pink taffeta with silver trimmings, silver slippers and silver wreaths and carrying lovely ostrich fans of blending shades.

Then came Mr. Harry Caldwell, of Davidson, and Mr. J. W. Baldwin, of Clarkton, also in full dress, followed by the dame of honor, Mrs. Nellie Bynum Rives, of Raleigh, gowned in orchid satin, wearing in her hair a silver ornament with jeweled setting and carrying an orchid ostrich fan.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Murphy, only sister of the bride, then entered, wearing a blue brocaded satin with silver slippers and silver wreath, carrying an ostrich fan of blending shades.

Then came pretty little Dancy Hawes, of Atkinson, as flower girl, wearing pink tulle over satin, carrying a basket of roses, followed by the ring bearer, Master James Highsmith, dressed in a Fauntleroy suit of black velvet, carrying the ring on a silver tray.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, never looked more lovely than in her wedding gown of white duchess satin, embroidered in pearls, with court train and veil of tulle, coronet style, caught with orange blossoms. Wearing as her only ornament a string of pearls, the gift of the groom, and carrying a bouquet of brides roses and orchids, showered with lilies of the valley. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. P. A. Henderson, of Davidson, brother of the groom.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. P. M. Currie, of Wallace, assisted by Rev. H. F. Beatty, former pastor of the bride. During the ceremony Miss Weston softly played "To a Wild Rose" by McDowell.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party was tendered a reception by Mrs. D. B. Johnson, at her home.
Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left on the 7:30 train for a tour of northern cities, after which they will be at home in Davidson. Mrs. Henderson's going away dress was of blue Polrot twill with blue coat and hat and accessories of bronze.

Mrs. Henderson is a charming and highly gifted young woman, a recent graduate of Queens college.
Mr. Henderson has lived in Davidson practically his entire life, graduating from Davidson college in 1912. During the world war he was employed as a chemist in the DuPont ammunition plant at Hopewell, Va., returning to Davidson in 1918, he engaged in the jewelry business with success.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. W. D. Campbell, of Wallace; Mr. T. T. Murphy, of Burkaw; Dr. M. Y. Keith, of Baltimore; Dr. Bryan Orr, of Baltimore; Mrs. C. L. Weatherly, of Leaksville; Dr. and Mrs. L. K. Walker, of Ahsokie; Mr. A. R. and Dr. L. Keith, of Wilmington; Mr. T. W. Keith, of Hendersonville, and Miss Ruth Henderson, of Davidson, sister of the groom.

Outstanding among other pre-nuptial events was the turkey dinner given for the bridal party, served with true southern hospitality, at the spacious country home of the bride's parents.
Woody Bryan of Winter Park and Miss Vera Barnhill were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna C. Barnhill, 622 South Fifth street, the Rev. N. M. Fleming, pastor of Winter Park Presbyterian church, officiating.

Miss Nellie McQuarie, who has had charge of the Young Women's Christian association cafeteria for the past two years, left last night to visit her sister, Mrs. D. C. Thompson, Philadelphia, Pa.

Wedding Anniversary.
Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Shephard entertained a number of their friends Thursday evening on the occasion of their wedding anniversary at their home, 1320 Grace street.

RED AND BLACK LEAD THE FASHION IN JEWELRY
Colored jewelry, notably red and black, is the newest note. Brooches of black and red enamel studded with diamonds, and long pendant earrings in red, black and white to match are extensively worn. Bracelet watches follow the same trend in color combination, and are featured with the watch incrustated into a bracelet formed of red and black enamel, frequently interspersed with diamonds.

Jeweled bangles, fifteen or more, continue to be worn with tailored as well as with full evening attire, are here the same color, combination of red, black and white prevails.
