GOVERNOR PROPOSES AMENDMENT LIMITING INDEBTEDNESS OF STATE

(Continued from Page Eight) bly, complete and sufficient not only for the protection and proper culture of the great commercial fish and seafood sounds and rivers of the east, but which will replenish the streams all through western North Carolina with game fish, and furnish protection for them.

"The game fish will add immensely to the already wonderful attractions of our state to the tourist and pleasure seeker, and thereby increase our wealth. This applies to the east as well as to the west.

"We ought to have three additional departments or agencies of state government: a Department of Commerce and Industry.

"A Department of Banking.

"A Department of Water Transportation, to be known as 'The North Carolina Ship and Port Commission.'

"With your kind indulgence we will consider them in the order named.

"We ought to make every important group of our people feel that they have a seat and a representative in the company of those who are directing the executive and administrative branch of the government. We have already set up the department of agriculture, the department of labor, and the fisheries commission. They have all justified their establishment. What these departments have done for agriculture, labor and the fish industry, a department of commerce and industry could do for our commerce, manufacturers, and industries—other than farming.

"We wisely give first consideration to our farmers—and our laboring people, but we should not longer appear to keep from our highest councils the great group of our people engaged in commerce, manufacturing and industries other than farming. This group now pays most of the tax from which we meet the growing expenses of the state government.

"The department would not cost much. It would be paid for largely by the commercial and manufacturing classes. And it is necessary for the best and broadest development of our state upon the basis of state-wide industrial commerce and industry.

"It would be of very direct benefit to the whole state by the practical declaration its establishments would make that North Carolina is friendly to commerce and industry.

"The farmer and laborer would not complain of the small cost of the department because they know of the tremendous revenue derived from the manufacturing and commercial classes. The surest way to reduce tax on the farmer in any county is to bring in some big industry to help him pay the tax.

"May I very earnestly urge, you, gentlemen of the general assembly, to establish the department of commerce and industry, and let us place an able secretary at the head of it to give our commerce and manufacturing people the service which every enlightened and progressive government is now accorded them, and as a declaration to all the world that North Carolina is hospitable to commerce, manufacturing and industry of every class, as well as to agriculture and labor.

"We ought to establish, in my judgment, without delay, a banking department, and place an able commissioner at the head of it. It is of the very highest importance that we should have to-day a competent, supervision and inspection of the banks doing business in the state. It is most important to the people who furnish the deposits.

"It is important to the banks.

"This duty is now with the Corporation commission. It does not cost the tax payers anything. The banks pay for it, and they ought to have such service as would give them the highest possible standing and credit. They are not getting it.

"The great mass of the people do not know we have bank supervision and control because it is under a commission not associated with this duty in the public mind. The corporation commission is composed of three splendid gentlemen, but without experience which would fit them for this work. Their other official duties are great enough for any three men.

The gentlemen composing the corporation commission are very superior men, but if they keep the railroads doing business in the state under their own control, and by exercising their own power and by fighting our battles before the interstate commerce commission, and then regulate all intelligently the price of all public utilities, we can get freight from railroads to the point of origin at a rate which will enable our banks to give our people the benefits of their greater capacity to re-discount the credits to our people.
