

SENSATIONAL IOWAN LICKS BILL BRENNAN IN 15-ROUND BATTLE

Veteran Chicago Heavyweight Outfought and Outclassed All Way Through.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Floyd Johnson, sensational Iowa heavyweight, decisively defeated Bill Brennan, Chicago veteran, tonight in a 15-round contest at Madison Square Garden.

Round One: Brennan rushed Johnson at the start, but the Iowan countered with left, landing several stiff jabs to the jaw. Both mixed willingly after outfighting and outboxing his rival all the way.

Round Two: Johnson took the aggressive, and both landed hard body blows at close quarters. Johnson over a hard right to the ribs and Brennan countered with a left hook to the chin. They were mixing furiously as the bell rang.

Round Three: Brennan punished Johnson about the body during a session at night-fighting, but was shaken with two successive left hooks to the jaw. Both missed wild swings and Brennan connected with a right swing to the head. A right uppercut momentarily staggered Johnson.

Round Four: Johnson shot over two jolting rights to Brennan's body without drawing a reply. Brennan jabbed with his left to the jaw but was forced to clinch by a smashing right to the head. Johnson forced the Chicagoan about the ring with battering rights and left to the head.

Round Five: Brennan accidentally slipped to the floor as they were mixing but quickly regained his footing. Brennan absorbed a hard right to the jaw, but drove in his left in retaliation. Brennan blocked Johnson's frequent lunges and forced the Iowan to swing wildly.

Round Seven: Johnson sent Brennan to his knees with a crashing right swing. The Iowan set a terrific pace but Brennan seemed content to stay on on the defensive. Blood flowed from cuts over both of Brennan's eyes after a swift exchange. Johnson hurt Brennan with hard rights to the body.

Round Eight: Johnson shot in right and left to the head and sent Brennan back with several rights to the ribs. Brennan connected with a right hook to the jaw. Brennan absorbed several body punches as they exchanged punches at close quarters.

Round Nine: Brennan appeared weakened by Johnson's steady attack to his body and clinched repeatedly. He caught Johnson twice on the jaw with jolting lefts, but the Iowan came right back with both fists.

Round Ten: Johnson staggered Brennan with a two-fisted attack to the head and body. Brennan shot in a right to the jaw and followed with his left, but the punches lacked steam. Both swung furiously with both fists. Johnson landed effectively with his left to the head and body as the bell rang.

Round Eleven: Johnson drove Brennan back with a terrific right hook and bombarded the Chicagoan about the head. Brennan landed lightly to the jaw, while Johnson swung wildly. Johnson was forcing the fighting as the round ended.

Round Twelve: Continuing his furious pace, Johnson showered Brennan with rights and lefts to the head and body. Johnson shot in a right to the jaw and followed with his left, but the punches lacked steam. Both swung furiously with both fists. Johnson landed effectively with his left to the head and body as the bell rang.

Round Thirteen: Johnson drove Brennan back with a terrific right hook and bombarded the Chicagoan about the head. Brennan landed lightly to the jaw, while Johnson swung wildly. Johnson was forcing the fighting as the round ended.

Round Fourteen: Brennan took the aggressive for a few moments and jabbed Johnson about the head with his left. Johnson swung wildly and both took another right to the head. Johnson swung wildly several times before connecting with a right to the body.

GRAVEN MAN KILLED BY BURSTING BOILER

Body Hurlled 75 Feet and Then Wrapped About a Pine Sapling in Its Path.

(Special to the Star) NEW BERN, Jan. 12.—Hugh Morris, young Vanceboro man, was instantly killed and his body badly mangled, when the boiler exploded at his father's saw mill two miles from Vanceboro, on the Washington road, at 9 o'clock this morning.

A brother of the man, who was standing six or eight feet away, was slightly injured when struck by a piece of iron. Mr. Morris, who was 34 years old, was freeman at the mill and was getting up steam for the day's run.

Witnesses said that he put too much pressure on the boiler and both ends blew out at once. The victim, who was standing directly in front of one end, was hurled through a pile of slabs 75 feet away and his body wrapped around a pine sapling.

So terrific was the force of the explosion that every thread of clothing was torn from the body, and pieces of it were found as far as 200 feet away. The man's head was practically severed.

J. L. Hartsfield, coroner, stated on his return that he believed every bone had been broken. A pile of logs that had been heaved up to the carriage a few feet from the boiler was blown a distance of 40 feet, demolishing a small house in their path. An inquest was unnecessary and the funeral was held this afternoon.

"DIANA OF FOLLIES" PROVES DELIGHTFUL

Splendid Performance is To Be Produced Again at Victoria Theater Tonight.

"Diana of the Follies," a musical comedy, pleased a large audience at the Victoria theatre, at the initial presentation last night by an amateur cast, and it will be produced again tonight under the auspices of Stamp Defiance chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The comedy was written and produced by Miss Bessie Burkelmer and Miss Florence Burkelmer, of this city.

The first act revealed "behind the scenes; dressing room in the Follies theatre," and there was a riot of fun and entertainment throughout this and the following act.

Just how stage folks act, behind the curtain when the audience is waiting to see them behind the footlights, was cleverly portrayed by the players, who, though amateurs, actually essayed professionally.

There was a maze of colors in the first act, and the singing and the dancing and the music and the scenery, all was everything that could be desired from an entertaining standpoint.

Miss Helen Menzies, essaying Diana of the Follies, and her supporting company, performed in a manner of elegance and charm that was highly commended, drawing much applause.

The dancing of little Beryl Majorie Cooper and Ruth Huhn, together with the other special dancers, also proved a feature, and their interpretation of the terpsichorean art delighted the entire audience.

The Misses Burkelmer, who directed the performance, and every member of the cast, received congratulations worthily earned from those witnessing the performance.

The production will be presented again tonight, and it is certain that a large and appreciative audience will be present.

LEGLESS MAN TO DIE ON GALLOWS

Lionel Edward Symonds in the Arm of the Officer Who May Carry Him to the Gallows.

By MILTON BRONNER (NAE Service Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A legless man, 22 years old, will soon be carried to the gallows to pay the penalty for a "constructive murder."

It took the jury only 13 minutes to find him guilty. Yet he never could have been convicted for such a crime in the United States.

If two persons enter a death pact, and one survives, can he be charged with murder? The British law says yes. Popular opinion, backed by some leading barrister, says no.

In the balance hangs the life of the cripple. Unless sufficient sentiment is aroused to win a commutation of sentence, he will soon be carried to the scaffold in the arms of a policeman for his part in an unfortunate love affair.

Although Lionel Edward Symonds, a baker at Hershaw, was married and had two children, he fell in love with Gladys Martha Wall, the 15-year-old daughter of his employer. Fearing the inevitable consequences, they decided to end it all by throwing themselves in front of a train.

Change of Mind But the girl became frightened. Shortly before the time set for the execution of their death pact, she wrote: "I shall not go to the train lines because I don't wish to die like that. I would rather you killed me."

The man replied: "Dear, it must be the train. I could not do it myself. Then we go together."

The day after the girl's mutilated body was found on the railway track and nearby was Symonds with both legs so badly crushed his feet had to be amputated.

On the stand, the cripple admitted his love for the girl and their talk and notes about jumping in front of the train. But he said he changed his mind and wanted to live.

He met her, told her, urged her not to be silly. But she was distracted and ran towards the track down which the train was thundering. Half-mad with fright, he ran after her— That was all that he remembered.

McLean To Be Urged As Grimes' Successor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Senators Simmons and Overman and North Carolina members of the house delegation from North Carolina, today expressed great grief at the news of the death of J. Bryan Grimes, secretary of state.

Senator Simmons stated that probably North Carolina had never had a better or more capable secretary of state.

There is much speculation among the members of the house and in the senatorial offices over the name of the probable appointee to succeed Mr. Grimes.

Under the state constitution, the governor will appoint the successor until the next general election. When the people will pass upon the man. It was reported today that Alfred M. McLean, private secretary of Senator Overman, will be a candidate to fill the vacancy and it is thought that Mr. McLean's candidacy will meet with very favorable consideration at the hands of Governor Morrison.

Mr. McLean was one of the first men in North Carolina to declare for Morrison for governor, leaving before the governor ever became an active candidate. Mr. McLean's friends, it is said, will immediately press claims for appointment vigorously and earnestly.

End of Power Suit May Come Very Soon

MURPHY, Jan. 12.—With the bill advocating the repeal of the charter of the Carolina Tennesse Power company, now pending in the general assembly, scheduled to be placed before the committee, next Friday, according to advices received here, and all other cases pending in Cherokee county superior court to be "sidetracked" to complete, the power, condemnation suits, it is believed that all evidence will be completed during the week.

Testimony for the Carolina-Tennessee Power company will be completed this week, it is stated, and early next week the Hiawasee Power company will begin offering their testimony.

The opinion has been expressed by attorneys here that the bill before the general assembly will not be strongly advocated until the suits are completed next week and the committee may postpone early the proponents of the repeal measure.

NEGROES ATTACK HARVARD POLICY

Protest Exclusion of Blacks From Freshmen Dormitories at Cambridge.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Publication of a letter by President Lowell, of Harvard, defending the university's policy of refusing to permit negro students to room in freshman dormitories, was followed today by a protest by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asserting that Harvard "is putting into effect the program proclaimed by the infamous Ku Klux Klan and its apologists."

The association's protest came from the pen of its secretary, James Weldon Johnson, in which he referred to the letter written by President Lowell to Roscoe Conklin Bruce, negro graduate, whose son has been excluded from the freshmen dormitories. The protest, taking the form of a letter to President Lowell, said in part:

"One of the most liberalizing influences on the southern racial situation has been that the traditional stand of Harvard has afforded to southern white students the opportunity of coming to know as human being their fellow colored students, with whom they were associated. Deprive those southern students of their last opportunity to learn the tolerance that comes of living with and understanding men of all races, men with whom they will have perforce to live and mingle in the United States. Harvard helps mightily to darken the future of the United States."

THE REV. MR. GILL MAKES STRONG TALK

Evangelist Addressed a Large Crowd at Immanuel Church Last Night.

Crowds continue to show increasing interest in the evangelistic services conducted by the Rev. Leonard Gill, at Immanuel Presbyterian church, the meeting last night being largely attended.

The Rev. Mr. Gill preached upon the subject, "Recognition of God's Ownership," basing his sermon on the text, Matthew 22-26 verses. "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's."

He made a strong appeal to all present to surrender worldliness and to do God first. He furnished many graphic illustrations, driving his points home with convincing illustrations.

There will be no services at Immanuel church tonight, the Rev. D. T. Caldwell, the pastor, announced. However, the Rev. Mr. Gill will preach at the three services tomorrow, as follows:

Morning service, 11 o'clock; subject, "The Blood." Afternoon service, 3 o'clock, for women only; subject "Possibilities of Womanhood."

Evening service, 7:30 o'clock; theme, "Home."

Abernethy Declines Invitation to Speak

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Representative Abernethy, has declined an invitation by Postmaster W. B. Duncan of Raleigh to address the convention of postmasters at Winston-Salem. Mr. Abernethy found his work here demanded all of his attention. He was notified today by the postoffice department that route 2 from Jacksonville would be extended, effective February 1 to take care of several families.

State Seeks to Fix Responsibility For Fire

WINSTON-SALEM, Jan. 12.—Twenty-three witnesses were introduced today by the state in the case of C. M. Sawyer and Willie E. Chatmon, charged with setting fire to a building here last August. Chatmon pleaded guilty early this week, when the trial opened and gave a story of his connection with the burning in which he alleged that he was acting as an agent for Sawyer who, he asserted, promised to pay him $500 should the attempt to burn the building prove successful.

In testimony, presented today, the state sought to corroborate Chatmon's statements, many of the witnesses testifying that they had seen Sawyer with Chatmon a few days before the fire occurred.

Chatmon, in his direct evidence, said that at one time Sawyer showed him a can of kerosene oil in Sawyer's building and that it was bought by Calvin Beck. On the witness stand today, Beck stated that he bought five gallons of oil for Sawyer and placed it in the front part of the store. Two police officers testified that they saw Sawyer come out of his store at about 12:30 o'clock on the night of the fire.

Counsel for Sawyer endeavored in the cross examination to present conflicts in testimony given at the preliminary hearing and the trial today, and brought admissions from several youthful witnesses that they were friends of Chatmon.

Fire Destroys Negro School at Warsaw

WARSAW, Jan. 12.—Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed the negro school building late Wednesday night.

Reports state that all fire was extinguished and doors closed before teachers and pupils left the building in the afternoon, and when the fire was discovered all doors were found open.

While this building was burning a large two-story frame dwelling belonging to Lillie Tate, negro, was burned.

Speaking of optimists, a great many girls know it is less than a year until Leap Year.

made from wheat which is called kuko. Kuko is also served at table as dessert. Kuko is ground, then cooked in a great big cauldron (challa) and fed three or four hours in a lot of water and kept in a meseng for the next 24 hours before it is fit to drink. This is not strong, it tastes fine; is healthy and indeed is somewhat like the American milkshake. Muzca is made from corn and a similar process like miltuba, but it is stronger and more like milk wine. The Araucanians also drink the Chilean chicha, which is made out of pure grapes. The chicha is fresh wine and when it gets stronger it is called vino (wine).

"Among the Araucanians there are many up-to-date farmers using full equipment of tractors, English, French, Italian, German and North American types.

"The Araucanians not only have their prayer day for rain, but also one for dry weather which is used yearly. This is a great ceremony, lasting two or three days. Everybody is welcome with the advice that there will be no smoking nor drinking allowed and no guest (outsider) should participate in the sacred performance by wives of the groups of clans who called the ceremony.

"The national flower of Chile, the 'Copiwe', glorifies the Araucanians woods and also symbolizes the blood that the Araucanian Indian poured forth in defense of his own land."
