Becton May Head Engineers of State

Annual meeting of the North Carolina society of engineers will be held in Raleigh tomorrow, and Jehn L. Bec-ton, of this city, is being mentioned as a candidate for the office of president.

Mr. Becton, who is a prominent engineer here, accompanied by J. C. Hobbs, will leave today for Raleigh, to attend the meeting. There are 12 or 15 other local members, but so far as learned Mr. Becton and Mr. Hobbs will be the only ones in attendance at the convention from Wilmington.

The possibility of Mr. Becton being elected head of the organization has occasioned much interest among his many friends in Wilmington.

Amateur Magician Entertains Students

The children of the Tileston school were delightfully entertained at their chapel exercises Friday morning by Louis Murphy who performed several clever and amusing magical stunts for their benefit.

Mr. Murphy, although only an amateur at the business, performed tricks enced professional. The children re-sponded delightedly to all of his suggestions and the half hour that he was with them was packed full of laughter and interested speculation.

Mr. Murphy has given his performance several times previously in the city and always with great success. He was assisted yesterday by Miss Margaret Heyer and Morton Plum.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 26.—Legislators and state officials, including the governor, were victims of an outburst of personal abuse tonight heaped on them by Blanche McCade, Raleigh woman with a long police record. The woman, according to the police, stationed herself in front of a local hotel and roundly cursed all comers until she was arrested and carried to jail. It took four men to get the woman, who RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 26 .- Legisla- chances. weighs 300 pounds or more, into her cell, which she immediately flooded by turning on the water. PENDER INTERESTED IN NEAR EAST WORK

Campaign Will Be Inaugurated Tomorrow With Union Church Services.

(Special to the Star.) BURGAW, Jan. 26.—Pender county's campaign for Near East relief will be inaugurated tomorrow with a union service of the churches and a native Armenian speaker sent up from the Wilmington campaign by Col. George H. Bellam, state chairman.

The Rev. P. L. Clark, chairman for Pender county, has arranged with the Raleigh office for a speaker to present actual first-hand facts to the people of this county. It is believed that no difficulty will be experienced in raising Pender's quota of $480.

This amount is needed, Mr. Clark, explained to feed, clothe, shelter and educate the four little orphans, now in North Cartlina orphanages at Trebizond, and assigned to this county for support. North Carolina is raising $200,000 this year to save the 3,334 children assigned to the Tar Heel state. Death, according to Dr. J. W. Hooper, who performed the operation on Southwell, was due to a hemorrage, caused by gunshot wounds.

Dallas was carried to the county jail within 10 minutes of the killing, and at 3:45 the following morning, E. L. The taking of evidence began Monday. The state introduced the widow of Southwell and two other witnesses to tell the dying statement of the slain engineer.

The defense raised a strenuous objection. They demanded proof that Southwell was aware of his approach-ing death. The state produced it. Southwell's statement went into the records and the state scored first blood. 'Then Holleman, the famous lost witness substantiated the claims of the dead man. Tuesday the defense shot its big gun. It put Dallas on the stand. Dallas de clared he shot Southwell by accident, whereas the death bed assertion of Southwell charged the killing was deliberate. The defense scored again by substantiating the defendant.

The arguments were some of the most elecquent ever heard in the state. J. Bayrd Clark opened the fight for the statement, followed by E. T. Cansler and J. O. Carr for the defense. L. Clayton Grant delivered the next blow for the prosecution, followed by John D. Bellamy for the defense.

Herbert McClammy and Solicitor Woodus Kellum made the closing appeals. Judge Devin's charge was devlivered Thursday afternoon, the case going to the jury at 3:40 the same day.

The jury is composed as follows: No. 1.—I. B. Andrews, insura
